No Crime to Buy.
Desperate China.
Mr. Grundy's Expenses.
Florida's Growth.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE SUPREME COURT says it is a crime to sell liquor, but no crime to buy it. The highest court having spoken, that settles it. But you must not conspire with a bootlegger to break the law.

How you can buy whisky from a bootlegger WITHOUT conspiring with him to break the law your conscience must tell you.

The Supreme Court believes that Congress intended to punish the seller and let the buyer go scot free in order that he might inform on the seller.

CHINA is in a desperate situation, according to "the established government." Unless that government can soon win a decisive victory in the civil war now raging, China will collapse, economically and otherwise. Banditry on a gigantic scale makes the situation unbearable.

IMAGINE this country in our Civil War, the North fighting the South, with tens of thousands of bandits on both sides of the line, preying on Northerners and Southerners.

MR. GRUNDY spent $332,076 trying to win the Republican nomination for senator from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Davis, secretary of labor, spent only $10,541, and he, Davis, won.

Money can do much, but not everything.

There is no suggestion of corruption in connection with Mr. Grundy's expenditure, not much bigger than that of Mrs. Ruth McCormick in Illinois. And nearly all of the money was Mr. Grundy's own.

E. D. LAMBRIGHT, editor of the Tampa Morning Tribune, wants you to know that in the census Florida will shine like a star of the morning.

"A number of Florida towns have gained more than 300 per cent, a larger number more than 200 per cent. Many have more than doubled in population."

Mr. Lambright believes that the total Florida census will show a gain of more than 55 per cent, bigger than California's gain.

MR. LAMBRIGHT objected to newspaper references to a "26 per cent gain for Florida." In that particular Florida was a misprint or a telegraphic error for New York, which will gain about 26 per cent.

Everybody in California should be delighted to hear of Florida's growth and everybody in Florida should be delighted with California's growth.

The important thing is that this country should go ahead. As every brother rejoices in the success of his brother, so every state should rejoice in the success of its sister state.

MR. MULROONEY, New York's new chief of police, finds in a well known hotel four men and one lady with $300,000 of stolen jewelry. Much of it came from Palm Beach.

You cannot make the South African believe that she would be as happy without her big nose ring or make former Palm Beach owners of the jewelry believe that they can be as happy without it.

Some perhaps, are happier, the jewelry being insured, and its full value was paid in cash at a time when the Wall street whirlwind made cash welcome.

Since they must have kings and queens, preferring them to our presidential elections, the British are fortunate in the kind they have. And the British live in a real democracy, with statesmen that make ours look like white mice.

MUCH DIFFERENCE between peace and war. If you read that an American soldier dashed into German military headquarters, knocked the man in charge unconscious, ripped the telephone from the wall to prevent an alarm and escaped with precious documents, you would say, "noble hero."

All those things were done yesterday by a colored man, nearly. He entered the Ramona Motion Picture Theater, knocked unconscious Louis Diamond in charge, tore the telephone from the wall, took $30 in precious bills and escaped. He is only a criminal.

IN THE person of Peter Kuerten, truck driver, 47 years old, German police believe they have captured a "ripper" more dangerous and brutal than the original.

Identified by one woman, who escaped his attack, he said:

"I wanted to revenge myself on humanity. The sooner I lose my head now, the happier I will be."

Being in Germany, he will lose it soon.

For a year and a half he had kept the city of Duesseldorf in a state of terror, attacking and butchering, with incredible ferocity and brutality, nine women and young girls, one after the other.

Ban on Meat Remains Here For Memorial Day

There will be no change in the regulations of the Pittsburgh diocese regarding the abstinence from meat because Memorial Day falls on Friday this year, it was said today at the office of the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh.

At the headquarters of the papal delegate in Washington it was said that Cardinal Mundelein's ruling will not be adopted throughout the country. It was explained that exemption of abstinence on national holidays must be decided by the bishops of the various dioceses.

EXCLUSIVE

By LADY DRUMMOND HAY,
Special Cable Dispatch.

RECIFE, Pernambuco, Brazil, May 27.—Again the Graf Zeppelin rode victorious. When it sank to earth here its sleek silver body bore no mark from the encounter with the storms it conquered rolling down to Rio and back again.

Today it is being made ready and provisioned for new uncharted airship ways to the northward, the route it must blaze to New York and Lakehurst, via Havana. The start is scheduled for tomorrow.

"And they say that airships cannot venture into the tropics," said Dr. Hugo Eckener to me at breakfast as the Zeppelin bore down on Recife.

FIGHTS SQUALLS

Then in a few words he told me of the extraordinary heavy tropical squalls through which the Graf fought its way between midnight and 4 o'clock Monday morning.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 27.—One of the ranking Americans, George Voigt, of New York, forged into the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship today. Five more—George Von Elm, Francis Ouimet and Roland MacKenzie, of the Walker Cup forces, and J. B. Gwaltney, Morris County, N. J., and Rowland Saunders, Miami, Fla., were safely ensconsed in the third round to keep company with Bobby Jones and Harrison Johnston. But two others, Don Moe and Dr. O. F. Willing, of Portland, Ore., suffered disaster and were eliminated.

Moe, undergoing his first experience with a boisterous British gale, was blown out of the tournament by Rex Hartley, winner of the St. George's Vase, 3 and 2. Dr. Willing, unable to putt any better than a dub, succumbed to W. Spark, of England, 2 and 1, the doctor also having trouble with his irons in the wind.

JONES' DRY APPOINTEES INDICTED

High Enforcement Favorites Of Saloon League Accused Of Bribes and Conspiracy

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS.)—Senator Wesley L. Jones (Rep.), of Washington, author of the famous "Five and Ten" enforcement law, this afternoon startled the Senate by issuing a statement saying he will vote for modification or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment if the people of his state ask for it.

Known heretofore as one of the "dryest of the drys," Jones proposed a prohibition referendum in his state to determine the sentiment of the people. He pledged himself to abide by their decision.

Universal Service.

SEATTLE, May 27.—Abruptly ending its investigation, the United States Grand Jury, in special session here since May 16, yesterday returned indictments naming the highest officials in northwest federal prohibition enforcement as dishonest and corrupt.

The jury indicted Roy Lyle and William M. Whitney, darlings of the Anti-Saloon League, for conspiracy to accept bribes, conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act, the Tariff Act of 1922 and the Internal Revenue laws.

Indicted with them were Earl Corwin, formerly chief of the prohibition office field force; Richard L. Fryant, former prohibition agent, now deputy sheriff, and C. T. McKinney, former assistant United States district attorney here.

Jones Favorites

Lyle has been prohibition commissioner in the northwest district, and Whitney his aide and legal advisor since 1921. Lyle was appointed by United States Senator Wesley L. Jones, author of the so-called Jones five-and-ten law, who last week at the Washington State Republican convention, at Bellingham, was the target of attacks from other Republican leaders for his stand on prohibition and the League Court.

Whitney was appointed by Lyle and both have been de-

COUNTY VOTING ON BLUE LAWS

Voters of Allegheny County outside of Pittsburgh have their first opportunity today to cast ballots in the Blue Law poll conducted by the Sun-Telegraph. The initial consignment of postcard ballots in the extension of the canvass beyond the city limits was placed in the mail yesterday.

The number of ballots cast by registered voters of Pittsburgh mounted to 26,142 with the latest tabulation, divided as follows:

For the Blue Laws	3,559
For modification	1,857
For repeal	20,726

These figures maintain the percentages of 79 per cent for repeal, 14 per cent for the Blue Laws and 7 per cent for modification, and give a ratio of 5.8-to-1 for votes for repeal compared with votes for the law.

The division of the totals between men and women is: For the Blue laws, 1,902 men and 1,657

DICE GOT IT ALL, SAYS PRISONER

Clerk and Tailor Arrested; Youth Was Merely Dupe In Fraud, Latter Asserts

A 23-year-old clerk in a downtown bank confessed in Central Police Court today that in the last two years he had helped to cheat the bank out of $29,000, according to police.

He is George A. Coleman, of West Willock road, Brentwood, and the bank at which he was employed is the Western Savings and Deposit Company at 538 Smithfield street.

Arrested with Coleman was the man who admits receiving the $29,000—Max Green, 35, a tailor, of 1036 Flemington avenue. Green said:

"Coleman is just a fool for going along with me. I lost all that money shooting crap. All I gave him was $150 and a $50 suit of clothes."

Coleman said:

"Green told me he would make good the money. He said he had a big estate coming to him."

Their scheme, it was testified, was for Coleman to cash checks presented by Green and signed with fake names. Coleman said he would then charge off the worthless checks to the valid account of other patrons.

When these patrons had their accounts balanced and noted the discrepancies, they complained to bank officials. An investigation by city detectives revealed the scheme.

Coleman and Green were remanded to jail by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg pending complete investigation.

George A. Dutton, assistant cashier of the bank, announced that the loss is covered by insurance.

Pools Open Memorial Day Here

All city swimming pools except the West Penn pool will be opened Memorial Day, W. C. Batchelor, of the Bureau of Recreation, announced today.

An earlier opening was possible, but cool weather delayed the order. The schedule, together with the personnel of those in charge, will be announced tomorrow. Two of the pools are new—West Penn and Magee.

Father of 5 Killed In Mush Ball Game

BUTLER, Pa., May 27.—Earl E. Painter, 36, father of five children, was killed last night in a mush ball game when he collided with Paul Bayer, who was playing third base. His neck was broken and he died within a few minutes. Painter had hit a three-bagger and was turning back after rounding third base.

ACTION DELAYED ON CONTROLLER

The new city controller will be named by Council on Thursday. In all probability, it is said, Dr. J. P. Kerr will succeed his political protege, Daniel Winters, who died in a Cleveland sanitarium on May 8.

At a conference between Mayor Charles H. Kline and members of Council this afternoon, the time for holding the election was fixed, but the conference adjourned without naming the choice. In political circles it is said Dr. Kerr has the inside track.

Dr. F. H. Frederick, of the North Side, has been frequently mentioned for the position.

Pending the election, the $800,000 payroll of 4,000 school employes is held up.

PARTY FACES FIGHT OVER LEADER

Senator Wants Martin's Job For Self or Lewis, Belief; Pinchot, Davis to Rule

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—Members of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation discussed at length a persistent rumor that Senator Grundy has begun a campaign to have himself elected chairman of the Republican State Committee, or, failing that, advocate the election of Samuel S. Lewis, of York.

The delegation has been advised that Gen. Edward Martin, of Washington, Pa., plans to resign as state chairman.

WOOD IN CAPITAL

Col. Eric Fisher Wood, of Pittsburgh, who has been chairman of the executive committee of the Republican State Committee, called on several members of the delegation, and remained here over night. He denied that his mission related to politics, but neither he nor the representatives whom he met would divulge the purpose of his call.

Gen. Martin succeeded W. L. Mellon as state chairman, and was prominently mentioned as a gubernatorial running mate with Senator Grundy, prior to the announcement of Lewis, who, on the eve of the campaign, withdrew from the race. Throughout the campaign, Martin supported Grundy for the Senate, and Francis Shunk Brown, who lost the gubernatorial nomination, on the face of complete unofficial returns, to Gifford Pinchot.

OPPOSED BY DAVIS

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who won the senatorial nomination, was informed of the reputed activity of Senator Grundy. He sought information from his lieutenants throughout the state, and indicated that he would oppose the election of Grundy or Lewis.

Although the Representatives ordinarily participate only nominally in the organization of the state committee, all expressed the hope that, if Martin resigns, a successor would be chosen who would harmonize the factions which fought in the campaign just concluded.

The delegation awaits with interest the outcome of the committee meeting, and indicated they would be guided largely by the desires of Pinchot and Davis.

MARTIN UNDECIDED

HARRISBURG, May 27.—(AP.)—State Treasurer Edward Martin, after a conference with Gov. Fisher, was still undecided about being a candidate to succeed himself as chairman of the Republican State Committee.

At the close of the meeting Martin said the greater part of the discussion was devoted to making arrangements for calling the meeting, which is to be held in Philadelphia the early part of June.

It was understood that the Governor pledged his backing and assistance to the chairman should he be a candidate again.

BERLIN REJECTS POLE PROTEST

BERLIN, May 27.—(INS.)—Official diplomatic exchanges between Germany and Poland took place today regarding the recent clash between Russian and Polish border patrols, resulting in the death of a Polish guard and the wounding of a Prussian.

The Polish minister to Germany lodged an official protest demanding suitable compensation. This protest was rejected by the German foreign office and it is understood a similar protect will be made by Germany to Poland when investigation of the incident is completed.

Bomb at Doukhobor Chief's Grave Fails

BRILLIANT, B. C., May 27.—(AP.)—An attempt to blow up the tomb of Peter Verigin, late leader of the Russian colony of Doukhobors, has failed.

There is no watchman guarding the great tomb at night and a day watchman found six sticks of dynamite attached to a seven-foot fuse. Miscalculation of ventilation in the timer had resulted in extinction of the fuse. Verigin was killed in 1924 by an explosion in a railway coach.

PHILADELPHIA COUNT FOUGHT

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(INS.)—A recount and check of the ballots cast in 100 divisions here will be demanded in court today by S. Davis Wilson, head of Gifford Pinchot's campaign committee for Philadelphia.

If these ballot boxes reveal what Wilson expects, other boxes will be reopened, he said. Wilson and P. S. Stahlnecker, state manager of Pinchot's campaign, both believe a recheck of the boxes in several divisions will increase Pinchot's plurality.

Wilson's application will be made to Judge Harry S. McDevitt.

Word was received at the Pinchot headquarters here during the night that a recount of votes in 11 Lackawanna County ballot boxes added 200 more votes to Pinchot's lead over Francis Shunk Brown, the defeated gubernatorial candidate.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—The threatened seizure of Luzerne County ballot boxes was postponed temporarily today by counsel for Francis Shunk Brown in their contest over the 26,000 plurality given Gifford Pinchot, opposing gubernatorial candidate, at the recent primary here.

A squad of 10 state policemen expects to be given court orders for the seizure of 26 ballot boxes which the Brown forces want opened and re-counted. The court orders were signed late yesterday.

Willian Penn Road Detour Announced

The Pittsburgh Motor Club was advised today by the State Highway Department that William Penn highway, U. S. route 22, has been closed between Hollidaysburg and Cresson due to construction work. Eastbound the detour begins at Loretta. This road is 42 miles long, all paved and reported in good condition. Another detour may be chosen for part of the way on route 220.

British Girl Flier Lands, Hops Again

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 27.—(AP.)—Miss Amy Johnson, British girl aviator who has flown from England to Australia, surprised attendants at Cloncurry airdrome at noon today when she made a brief halt there on her flight from Port Darwin to Long Beach. In an hour and a quarter she resumed her journey.

HINT PERJURY IN VOTE CASE

Election conditions in Wilmerding were called to the attention of District Attorney Andrew Park and the Quarter Sessions Court today when a witness in the vote fraud case being tried in Common Pleas Court was unable to answer any question put to her.

Declaring that the testimony ought to be sent to the District Attorney and to Quarter Sessions Court, Attorney O. K. Eaton, representing the Volpe faction, protested when Mrs. Eliza Schenfelt, 42 Sprague street, Wilmerding, said she didn't know for whom she voted, where she voted, or whether she had a tax receipt.

Eaton told Examiner Thomas J. Prather:

"Concerted efforts are being made, it seems to me, to perjure witnesses. This witness has violated her oath."

In spite of Attorney John D. Meyer's objection, Examiner Prather ordered that copies of the testimony be sent to Park and to the Quarter Sessions Court. He said that some witnesses may have forgotten, but that "that's not so in this case."

Mrs. Schenfelt had been called to testify in the action brought by the Citizens party of Wilmerding charging that fradulent registration and election methods had been used in the last borough election.

LINDYS IN FETE, WED A YEAR

NEW YORK, May 27.—(Universal.)—The flying Lindberghs today are celebrating the first anniversary of their marriage in the bride's home at Englewood, N. J.

That year probably has been the most eventful in the life of the former Anne Morrow. She has flown twice back and forth across the continent, once across the Maya jungles, has soared above the lesser Antilles and has taken numerous short trips, including several solo flights. Under her famous husband's instruction, she qualified as pilot of an automobile, plane and glider.

South Dakota Will Raise Polo Ponies

PIERRE, S. D.—(AP.)—A movement is on foot among South Dakota farmers to raise polo ponies.

By making use of United States army stallions which are available cheaply, excellent colts may be raised for a nominal sum. President T. I. Lawrence, of the state horse breeders' association, says the colts would have an excellent chance to top the market for polo ponies.

Anti-Drys Open Fight to Beat Pinchot

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP.)—Efforts to organize the entire anti-dry vote of the state, regardless of party lines, and to present a solid front behind an anti-dry gubernatorial candidate on a pre-empted ticket in the November election against Gifford Pinchot were formulated at a meeting held in the office of Robert Kelsoe Cassatt, Pennsylvania chairman of the National Association Against Prohibition.

Mr. Cassatt said it has been decided to concentrate on the ticket.

"This does not mean we will not support other anti-dry candidates," he declared, "but we will use most of our efforts to prevent the election of Pinchot and to elect a man who is in favor of repealing the Snyder Act and restoring the rights of the people."

GRUNDY SHOCKS SENATE WITH SLUSH FUND

Spending $332,000 in Vain Race for Senate Brings Demand of Nye for Curb

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The enormous expenditure of money by Senator Joseph R. Grundy in the Pennsylvania senatorial primaries today had raised again the question of Congress placing some curb on campaign costs.

The revelation that Grundy had poured out $291,000 of his money and had spent $332,076 altogether in a futile effort to be nominated caused something of a shock in the Senate.

The preponderance of opinion today held that Congress must do something to limit campaign expenditures or poor men would be driven out of national politics or forced to make "deals" with political machines.

Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate's investigating committee, proposed a constitutional amendment, putting a maximum limit on campaign expenditures in senatorial primaries and elections. He proposed to leave to the states the fixing of specific limits, if they would come within the proposed constitutional limit.

The Nye committee will resume its Pennsylvania inquiry within 10 days. Thus far, besides the Grundy funds, the committee has learned that Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who won the Republican senatorial nomination, spent but $4,541, while Davis' manager admitted but $10,514. Davis said he had benefitted from expenditures made in behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket.

Nye announced he had called on the Brown-Davis ticket chairmen in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and for the state-at-large to ascertain and report all expenditures from which Davis could have benefited.

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—Elihu Root has renewed his lease on the tenth floor of a Fifth avenue apartment building known as the House with Gold Doorknobs because of its luxurious appointments. The annual rental stipulated when he first leased in 1911 was $25,000.

GIRL DOES 980 PLANE LOOPS

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 27.—(INS.)—Miss Laura Ingalls, 25-year-old girl flier of New York, prepared to take off for St. Louis today after having shattered her former world's looping record by securing 980 consecutive inside loops here last night. Miss Ingalls is to receive $836 as prize money.

Miss Ingalls was aloft for three hours and 40 minutes while engaged in setting the new woman's record, and did not land until 7:50 o'clock last night. She had set the former mark at St. Louis with 344 loops.

Her flight was witnessed by official observers of the contest committee of the National Aeronautical Association headed by Maj. Gen. Frank Lahm, of the U. S. Air Corps.

NAVY LEADER BRANDS PACT 'WICKED'

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Another double-barreled assault on the London naval treaty was made today by high-ranking naval officers before two Senate committees.

A steady succession of naval experts condemned the cruiser and submarine provisions of the pact, and declared that either in war on the Pacific or the Atlantic the United States would be in a disadvantageous position.

BRANDED AS "WICKED"

One of the officers, Rear Admiral H. A. Wylie, who recently retired from the command of the battle fleet, characterized the concessions made at London by the American delegates as "wicked."

Rear Admiral W. H. Standley, assistant chief of operations, declared:

"If I had unlimited tonnage, and was left to my own devices, I would build nothing but eight-inch gun cruisers."

DENIES WAR VESSELS

Opposing the London naval treaty's cruiser provision, giving America but 18 craft of this type, Standley charged it failed to provide this country with war vessels most needed. He continued:

"The eight-inch gun cruiser will do everything the six-inch cruiser will do. The six-inch cruiser can not do everything that the eight-inch craft can do. If we send out a lot of six-inch cruisers, we must send cruisers armed with eight-inch guns to protect them."

Standley agreed with other foes of the naval arms limitation pact that the treaty would break down the 5-3 ratio of naval arms between America and Japan, and declared this would "endanger American commerce in the Pacific."

SEES PACIFIC PERIL

Rear Admiral M. M. Taylor, director of naval war plans, supported Standley's testimony. He said an 8 inch cruiser can be maneuvered as efficiently as the 6-inch in all cases, and better than the smaller gun craft in the majority of cases.

The treaty, in his opinion, would place America in an "extremely disadvantageous position in case of a war in the Pacific."

NOT AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

It was understood the rheumatism started to make itself felt after the visit at Twickenham Saturday of former King Manuel of Portugal.

King George was not present at the family luncheon held at Buckingham Palace yesterday in honor of Queen Mary's birthday.

When he fell from his horse in France during the war his right hip was injured and it was thought that for this reason the rheumatism had localised itself at this point.

No bulletins concerning the King's condition will be issued from the palace and possibly no further statement will be issued until tomorrow.

It is more than a year and a half since the serious illness of King George late in 1928 and during the early months of 1929, when he was confined to his bed for many months.

Expedition Traces Movements of Nile

CAIRO, Egypt, May 27.—(AP.)—The Prehistoric Survey Expedition of the University of Chicago has found well-defined river terraces or prehuman and lower palaeolithic age along the Nile River by which it will be possible to fix the age of the Nile's movements.

The expedition is chiefly concerned with mapping Southern Egypt for a special geological survey. The initial stage has been completed, from the second cataract as far as Luxor.

VAN SWERINGEN HEADS M. P.

CLEVELAND, May 27.—(AP.)—O. P. Van Sweringen, of Cleveland, of the team of railroad magnates who control a network of lines from the Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River and points westward, late yesterday became officially the head of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

The Missouri Pacific board, at its first meeting in Cleveland, not only named him chairman and head of the executive committee, but also appointed five Van Sweringen associates from Cleveland to the executive committee membership.

L. W. Baldwin, of St. Louis, was re-elected president. It is understood that because of his outstanding success in railroad operation the Van Sweringens wish to keep him in control. This diverges from the policy they have observed on some of the other lines they acquired. In those instances the Clevelanders have gone elsewhere to select their executives.

With the Van Sweringens in control, financiers here pointed out that Cleveland becomes the most important railroad financial center out of New York and Chicago, with boards of the Nickel Plate, Chesapeake and Ohio and the Pere Marquette also meeting here.

2 BOMB BLASTS ROCK CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP.)—Bomb explosions early today shook the Northwest and South Side severely, injured two persons and did several thousand dollars damage.

Fude Rasmussen, 69, and his wife, Minnie, 61, were treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises after a powerful dynamite bomb had wrecked the entrance to a two-story brick building.

The drug store of Chris Barone, on the edge of Chicago's Chinatown, was the target for a black powder bomb which threw two families, living on the second floor, from their beds. Barone told police he knew of no reason for the attack.

PROBE BARES METHODIST LOBBYING

Pickett Tells Senate Group Legislators Were Sounded On Prohibition, Gambling

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, failed to appear as a witness today before the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee. Instead, he sent Deets Pickett, his research secretary.

Senator Tydings (Dem.), of Maryland, and Representative Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusetts, who had charged the board with lobbying and violating the corrupt practices act, sat with the committee.

Pickett told the investigators:

"I have a statement I want to read."

Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas replied:

"You want to, but you will answer questions first. That is the rule here."

Caraway then asked:

"Do you approach members of Congress on pending legislation?"

"Yes, on prohibition and gambling."

"Do you approach them on stock market gambling?"

"I don't know much about that."

"Were you interested in the Eighteenth Amendment?"

"Yes, we did all we could to put it over."

"Did you see members of Congress about it?"

"Oh, yes, we did all we could."

OPPOSED SMITH CANDIDACY

The board opposed Alfred E. Smith's candidacy for President purely on the grounds of prohibition, Pickett said. He continued:

"We criticised him, but that is not political. When a candidate invades our sphere, we take action."

Senator Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, objected to Caraway going into the actions of the Methodist Church, and said it was unfair. They exchanged words and then Caraway left the room, turning the hearing over to Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana. Walsh asked the witness:

"What is your income?"

"Between $125,000 and $135,000 a year. We get one and two-third cents of every dollar of the church."

"When can Dr. Wilson be expected by the committee?"

"He has a great many engagements, and I don't know. He is debating with Clarence Darrow at Detroit tonight."

STATES THEIR SALARIES

Pickett said his salary was $6,000 a year and Wilson's $7,500.

Senator Blaine, (Rep.), of Wisconsin, and Pickett became involved in a wrangle over papers missing from the board's files for 1928. Pickett told Blaine:

"There are 200,000 Methodists in Wisconsin. That is your constituency."

Blaine reported:

"We are not investigating the Methodist Church. What we want to know is how much it cost you to publish and distribute the clip sheet during the 1928 campaign in your political attack on Gov. Smith."

"I will try to get that information."

Germans Protest Planes Over Border

BERLIN.—(INS.)—Germany, through her diplomatic representative in Warsaw has lodged a formal protest against "continuous overflowing of the German border by Polish military planes."

The Polish government has been warned that in future the German border authorities will be compelled to use all legal means in thier power to bring down the violators and have them arrested and tried.

While the Poles claim that such transgressions were caused by mistakes, the German border population holds that the Polish invasions were done purposely and were nothing but espionage form the air.

Prince of Violinists Turns 'Pauper' to Test Art

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP.)—A prince of violinists hid behind the tatters and smoked glasses of a blind pauper on a Chicago street corner.

From his $40,000 Stradivarius flowed the same golden notes with which he had cast his spell over rapt audiences in many a crowded concert house.

Little clusters gathered. A few, unhurried by important errands, lingered to hear Schubert's "Ave Maria," Drdla's "Souvenir" or "Kiss Me Again."

Dimes and pennies jingled in the beggar's cup. Then the listeners straggled on.

Jacques Gordon, nine years concert master of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, whose cultured bow draws $1,000 in the concert hall, wheedled $5.74 from a casual street corner audience yesterday.

He undertook the beggar's role to settle a dispute over whether the public appreciates music for itself or is attracted by the magnetism of a society audience and the fame of the artist.

Only twice was he recognized. And he decided people go to concerts because they love music.

Curtis and Davis Hoaxed; Extol 'You Go and Fry'

ITHACA, N. Y., May 27.—(AP.)—How Vice President Curtis, Secretary of Labor Davis and other Republican national officials were made innocent victims of a hoax of the editors of a humorous column in the Cornell Daily Sun, student newspaper, was revealed by the perpetrators at a dinner last night.

The editors, who use the name Hugo N. Frye (You-Go-and-Fry) in publishing their flippancies, desiring, as they stated, "to settle once and for all the dispute regarding the actual birthplace of the Republican party," sent letters to the Republican leaders. They wrote that "a dinner in honor of the sesqui-centennial of the birth" of Frye was to be held by students.

The "committee" averred that "this little known patriot of Central New York has been deprived of the fame that should have been his for his part in the organization of the Republican party in New York state." They requested a message "in memory of that pioneer Republican, Hugo N. Frye."

Telegrams which the jokesters said they received were read. Claudius H. Huston, Republican national chairman, they said, sent a telegram of commendation.

Vice President Curtis was said to have "congratulated the Republicans on paying this respect to the memory of Hugo N. Frye, pioneer Republican of Elmira."

Secretary Davis was quoted as saying:

"It is a pleasure to testify to the career of that sturdy patriot who first planted the ideals of our party in this region of the country. If he were living today he would be the first to rejoice in evidence everywhere present that our government is still safe in the hands of the people."

Telegrams purporting to come from Congresswoman Ruth Pratt and Senator Joseph Grundy, of Pennsylvania also were read.

RANGOON, India, May 27.—(AP.)—Sixty deaths were reported officially tonight in two days of disorders attending a dock strike in this Burman capital. Seven hundred and forty persons had been treated for wounds in hospitals.

Many more are believed to have been killed in the rioting between Burmese coolies and Hindus, with whom the police have been battling unremittingly since yesterday morning.

Streets tonight were deserted except for police and the contending factions.

POLICE FIRE INTO MOBS

Rioters were armed with iron bars, sticks and daggers.

The situation was so bad that police on several occasions were obliged to fire into the mass.

The populace was thrown into terror by the rioting and remained indoors, afraid to venture forth even for food. The problem of feeding the terror-stricken thousands this evening became acute.

CITY IN TERROR

The gloom of a beleaguered city descended this evening upon the capital. Heaps of building materials with which structures were being repaired after the recent earthquake, provided rioters with ammunition and barricades.

The outbreaks began early yesterday when striking Burman coolies and their Andhras replacements clashed on the docks.

Chicago May Lift Skyscraper Limit

11 Women, Tired of Home Work, Desert for Rest

DENVER, Col., May 27.—(AP.)—Husbands today sought the solace of their clubs, and their children and undivided attention of nurse maids, the result of a strike of nine Denver society matrons who yesterday began a week's voluntary vacation exile.

The latest development in woman's emancipation came with unexpected suddeness to the bereaved homes. After packing bags, the nine women, who were accompanied by two unmarried friends, notified the heads of their respective establishments that they were going to the country for a week.

It was no joke. They went. They betook themselves to the country estate of Mrs. Henry Swan at Littleton, near Denver. All callers were told they were not at home. Telephones at the Swan residence were disconnected. Henry—that's Mr. Swan—was invited to go downtown and join the other husbands at their clubs.

Complete silence, and lots of it, today came from the abode of the modern emancipators.

It was said that a definite program for the seven days had been decided upon, but after vague rumors, no more information was forthcoming.

A spokesman hinted that rope skipping was on the morning schedule. Bridge was planned "to their hearts' content" for afternoon, and possibly into the evening.

MORE MOTHERS VISIT GRAVES

PARIS, May 27.—(AP.)—Warm sunshine bathed the battlefront region when the second contingent of Gold Star mothers today set out in buses to visit the cemeteries in which their heroic sons lie in peace.

The trip was made in leisurely fashion, with frequent rest stops. Every care was taken that the pilgrims should reach their destination untired.

Mothers of the first American contingent today remained in Paris. This was their last full day in Paris. Thursday they will sail for home.

Condition of two Gold Star mothers who have been seriously ill was improved today. Mrs. Florence Williams, Portsmouth, O., who is suffering from pneumonia at Verdun, and Mrs. Mary Reynolds, of Damascus, O., who is at the American Hospital at Paris with peritonitis, both spent a comfortable night.

TURNER FLYING WITH LION TO SET RECORD

Flier Again Attempting to Lower Lindbergh's Mark For Coast-to-Coast Flight

International News Service.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., May 27.—Lieut. Col. Roscoe Turner, Nevada National Guard flier, took off here at 5:03 o'clock this morning on a one-stop flight to Los Angeles in an attempt to set a new transcontinental record.

Accompanying the flier was his pet lion cub, Gilmore, chained to the cabin of the plane with a parachute strapped to his back.

Turner, who flew east from the Pacific coast recently in an unsuccessful attempt to lower the continent crossing record, now held by Col. Lindbergh, hopes to make the flight in less than 15 hours.

Widow of Trooper Loses Death Claim

HARRISBURG, May 27.—(AP.)—Judge John E. Fox, in Dauphin County Court today, sustained the action of the Workmen's Compensation Board in refusing the claim of Mrs. Sophia Busch, widow of Victor J. Busch, state policeman.

The court affirmed the board's opinion that Busch was killed while on a social visit and not while on duty.

Busch's body was found October 4, 1928, in the apartment of Mrs Blanche Hafner in Punxsutawney.

200 Million Rabbit Skins Sold Yearly

LEIPZIG. — (INS.) — Statistics issued in connection with the coming International Fur Exposition show that the humble rabbit, with 200,000,000 skins sold yearly, leads all fur-bearing animals in the world market.

Sheep follow with 26,000,000, moles with 20,000,000, and muskrats with 16,500,000.

One is astonished to learn that as many cats as foxes are slain yearly for their furs, the number being 1,750,000 for each.

Talks Too Much From Afar, He Faces Divorce

OMAHA, Neb., May 27.—(AP.)—The principal trouble with Mrs. Frances Kutler's husband, she says, is that he talked too much from too far.

BAPTISTS FACE 2 DISPUTES

CLEVELAND, May 27.—(AP.)—Two possible controversies, one involving relations with the Federal Council of Churches and the other centering on the proposed union with the Disciples of Christ are in prospect at the annual Northern Baptist convention here.

Its sessions will open tomorrow and last six days, with 20,000 delegates and visitors expected for a record gathering the latter half of the week.

Convention officials said some of the conservatives object to the council, of which the Northern Baptist convention is a member, on the ground its theological views are too modern.

Majority and minority reports are due from the commission considering grounds for union with the Disciples of Christ. Opposition to the merger is expected from one group of Baptists who hold baptism by immersion is a "rite which has no saving function."

LYTELL MISSES JAIL FOR TAX

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(AP.)—Bert Lytell, actor, pleaded guilty in Federal Court here yesterday to charges of failing to pay adequate income tax for the year 1925. On the claim that he expected a $3,500-a-week stage and screen contract shortly, Judge William James delayed pronouncing of Lytell's sentence until next October.

Government agents testified that Lytell's income for 1925 was about $66,000, on which he paid $1,381 in taxes. They testified he should have paid an additional $3,582. The actor declared the discrepancy was unintentional as his tax return was prepared for him. He informed the court he would be able to pay the arrears from the income of his forthcoming contract.

DRY CHANGE BILL SIGNED BY HOOVER

Justice Department Takes Enforcement July 1; New Director Will Be Named

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—President Hoover today signed the Williamson bill providing for transfer of prohibition enforcement on July 1 from the Treasury to the Department of Justice.

The measure has the approval of the Law Enforcement Commission, as well as of Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Mitchell. It was passed by Congress after President Hoover had recommended the transfer.

Under it, the enforcement duty will be taken from the Treasury for the first time since the prohibition law became effective. Secretary Mellon will share with the attorney general the responsibility for controlling industrial alcohol and Dr. James M. Doran, now prohibition administrator, is expected to remain in the Treasury Department in charge of this work.

NAME NEW DRY HEAD

More than 2,500 employes will be transferred to the Department of Justice under G. Aaron Youngquist, assistant attorney general.

A director, who has not yet been appointed, is to have active charge of enforcement.

Attorney General Mitchell has given no indication of the course he expects to follow in his attempts to enforce prohibition.

'Jail Buyer' Demand Irks Drys in Senate

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS.)—While a determined drive is to be made by radical drys for passage of a bill making the purchaser of liquor equally guilty with the seller, a survey today disclosed there is extremely little likelihood of any such measures being passed, either in this or any other Congress.

Decision of the Supreme Court yesterday that the buyer of liquor is immune from prosecution under existing law was regarded today as a death blow to all efforts to "get" the buyer.

Nevertheless Senator Sheppard (Dem.), Texas, author of the Eighteenth Amendment, announced he would press for passage of his bill.

But such outstanding drys as Senator Jones (Rep.), of Washington, author of the five-and-ten law, and Senator Fess (Rep.), of Ohio, the Anti-Saloon League's spokesman in the Senate, declared they doubted seriously the advisability of attempting to pass such an act.

MAY PUT IDLE ON HALF PAY

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 27, —(INS.)—An income insurance plan for all shop workers of the General Electric Company, under which they would receive half their regular wages when out of work, has been suggested by company officials.

The idea, said to have been conceived by Gerald Swope, president of the company, is understood to have the approval of Owen D. Young, chairman of the board.

A questionnaire has been sent to all the shop workers in General Electric plants throughout the country, asking their opinion of the plan. The company would provide 50 per cent of the fund and the shop help contribute the other half by having 1 per cent taken from their weekly earnings.

WATERLOO, Ia., May 27.—(AP.)—Dick Wolseley has quit his job as elevator man after 12 years and tuned in his ear to the call of a British baronetcy.

Miss Marian Elizabeth Baker of Brixham, England, came here Saturday seeking Sir Reginald Beatty Wolseley, ninth baronet of Wolseley." The only Wolseley in town was the 53-year-old elevator operator in the Blackhawk Building.

Miss Baker talked with him. She said his mother had died last November and that she had asked Miss Baker to hunt out her son and bring him back to England. She said his elder brothers were dead and that he was heir to the title and estate.

Sunday, Wolseley and Miss Baker were married. They plan to return soon to England.

Huge Airship Provisioned At Pernambuco for Trip To N. Y. and Lakehurst change my shoes and stockings twice," he added.

There was a quiet note of satisfaction and even pride in his voice.

"Danger does not at any time more than intensely interest me. We have learned much on this flight, and last night added more to the knowledge of air navigation in these regions."

Dr. Eckener said that even the additional weight of between six and eight tons added to the Graf while it was flying through what must have been almost a waterfall did not force the airship lower but called for a nose elevation of six degrees. He said:

"Yes, so far as the torrential rainfall is concerned it was the severest test the ship has undergone on this flight."

PASSENGERS UNDISTURBED

Dr. Eckener was surprised, but no little pleased, that the passengers slept through the storms without being awakened.

The other ship's officers did not describe their experiences quite so mildly.

With Navigator Wittemann and Navigator Sam Pruss is considered the most expert airship elevator helmsman in the world.

Chief Engineer Karl Beuerle said that in storm or sunshine the engineers in the motor gondolas have the best views.

"In these terrific downpours of rain, which we do not know in the more northerly zones, it is just like a curving waterfall as we see it from the power car. It was a magnificent spectacle."

COUNTESS UNAFRAID

The Countess Carmeto who with her husband, the president of the Condor Seaplane Syndicate, took her first airship flight from Rio to Recife, got up during the storm but said she had not the slightest uneasiness. The countess marveled at how little movement from side to side their was in the ship.

The count himself was enthusiastic for a Europe-to-South America airline with a terminal at Seville and one at Recife.

William B. Leeds, the American millionaire who was our companion on the round-world flight, met me with a cheery greeting, deploring that he had not waited at Rio for us, Leeds said:

"I came by airplane from Rio and had an awful trip. I ruined all my clothes, but I've got a new outfit, and I'm happy to get back on this Zeppelin boat."

women, for modification, 1,109 men and 748 women; for repeal, 13,878 men and 6,848 women.

The first ballots mailed to the boroughs went to voters of Aspinwall, Avalon and Bellevue.

The latest compilation by wards of ballots cast by Pittsburgh voters shows a wide range of opposition to the Blue Laws, each of the 32 wards giving a majority in favor of repeal. The Third Ward—the Wylie avenue district—is most opposed to the Blue Laws, its ratio of votes for repeal to votes for the law being 26 to 1.

The Blue Laws are supported most strongly by Sheraden voters, the Twenty-eighth Ward showing the lowest ratio for repeal, 1½ to 1.

Bus Driver Blamed In Crash Killing 22

WASHINGTON, May 27. (INS.)—The accident in which a Santa Fe passenger train struck a Pickwick-Greyhound motor bus on a crossing near Isleta, N. Mex., April 11, killing 22 persons, was caused by the bus being driven on the track directly in front of the train and the driver was responsible, the Interstate Commerce Commission held today. Its ruling said:

"There would appear to be no excuse for Williams' action in failing to prevent an accident."

R. W. TIMOTHY

GRADUATES AT WEST POINT

When five Western Pennsylvania cadets graduate from West Point June 12 one Pittsburgher will have reached the honor after rising from the ranks of the regular army.

Howard R. Moore, 24, son of Capt. William H. Moore, of 4402 Center avenue and quartermaster here in the regular army with the Ninety-ninth Division, entered the Point from the Eighteenth Signal Service. He attended a preparatory school conducted for soldiers by regular officers and in a competitive examination for admittance to the military academy passed with high honors.

H. R. Moore

The other graduates are R. W. Timothy, son of David Timothy, 49 Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon; Harold L. Smith, son of Mrs. Sue A. Smith, 126 Cumberland avenue, Washington; Thomas R. Stoughton, Jr., son of T. R. Stoughton, Spanish Villa, Jeannette, and James F. Ammerman, son of Wayne L. Ammerman, Clearfield.

T. R. Stoughton

Timothy left Washington and Jefferson College for West Point. He has held the rank of cadet lieutenant. Smith was a Washington High School graduate. He has been a member of the cadet choir for four years and was on the Army football squad for a year.

Cadet Sergeant Stoughton also was a member of the choir. He was a member of the Army track team several seasons. Ammerman completed one year at the University of Michigan after graduating from Clearfield High School.

GRAF CONQUERS TROPICAL DELUGE

Mighty Airship Undergoes Severest Test of Trip and Emerges Without Scar

EXCLUSIVE

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND,
Special Cable Dispatch.

RECIFE, Pernambuco, May 27.—Again grappled to the red and white mooring mast at Jequia Air Field, the Graf Zeppelin, after careful inspection, showed no signs of the terrific storm battering it underwent on its trips to and from Rio de Janeiro.

Recife's reception yesterday was even more enthusiastic than that accorded the Graf last Thursday when it arrived over the city on its trans-South Atlantic flight from Seville.

The day had been declared a holiday in honor of Dr. Hugo Eckener, his crew and the Zeppelin's passengers. Thousands were at the field when the Graf appeared over Pernambuco at 8:24 a. m. (7:24 a. m. Pittsburgh time).

STARTS NORTH TOMORROW

When the Graf touched ground at 8:41 a. m. an official reception committee was grouped around the mooring mast, there to congratulate Dr. Eckener on his masterly navigation through the tropical squalls that beset the dirigible on almost 2,000 miles of its 2,500-mile round trip.

Already refueling and provisioning has begun for our northward flight to New York and Lakehurst, via Havana. Tomorrow has been set for the takeoff, but the hour is not yet decided.

If, as Lady Drummond Hay asserts, the Graf has a "soul," then it should indeed be proud today. The Zeppelin went through the most severe test of tropical rainstorms between midnight and dawn that it has yet been called upon to weather on this remarkable flight.

PASSES SEVERE TEST

"The fury of the onset transcended that of the squalls that struck us on our flight down to Rio. Twice, each time for more than an hour, the Graf bored its way through tropical squalls that were veritable deluges. Testing the stability of the craft and particularly its aerodynamic carrying capacity under the stress of such additional carrying weights as the downpour of rains imposed, the dirigible passed those tests truly with honor.

Perhaps what is most remarkable of all is that the passengers, this time including myself, slept through it all, oblivious to the storms and lightning that played around us.

Dr. Eckener, who is not given to exaggerations, told me that the water was such as to increase the weight of the Graf by six to eight tons, calling for an elevation angle of six degrees to the bow to carry the additional load dynamically.

DROP CLOSE TO WATER

The Graf was running on four motors at the time, but Dr. Eckener, who stood the bridge all through the storms, ordered the fifth on, and the ship, with an occasional sluggish roll, staggered through the deluge at betwen 900 to 1,200 feet above the Atlantic and around 40 miles an hour.

Earlier Sunday evening Commander Shoemaker was several times uneasy when he saw that we were droning along at scarcely 200 feet above the Atlantic, which he considered all too low. Finally with a shrug of his shoulders and a "guess they know their business up in front," he became unconcerned.

HOOVER CALLS FOR SAFETY ON ROADS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The appalling death toll taken every year in traffic accidents "is a national concern of grave importance," President Hoover declared today in opening the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, which is attended by traffic experts and state executives from all over the country.

Mr. Hoover pointed out that although the last conference, held in 1926, had worked out a careful program for improvement of traffic conditions, the increasing volume of traffic had outrun the remedial measures of that program.

SOME RELIEF NOTED

He said:

"It is encouraging to know that in some states and localities, where remedies have been actively applied, the accident increase has been curbed and traffic congestion has been somewhat relieved. The way has thus been pioneered. But universal improvement can come only gradually and through continuous and combined efforts in many different fields and on a nationwide scale."

The President stressed the fact that state and local authorities must be responsible for the practical application of remedial measures. The federal government, he said, can and will properly assist in spreading information and ideas and in co-ordination.

Discussions hinged about street and highway congestion which annually causes an enormous economic loss, accidents which last year caused the death of more than 31,000 persons and the injury of more than a million, the uniformity of state vehicle laws, municipal traffic ordinances and other details of traffic control.

LIKE NEWS FROM FRONT

Casualty reports from traffic accidents read like those of a war conducted on many fronts, Secretary of Commerce Lamont told the conference.

Fatalities increased from 12,500 in 1920 to more than 31,000 in 1930.

Lamont said that in states which have strong centralized motor vehicle administration, including drivers' license systems with mandatory examinations, there has been a much smaller rate of fatality.

SPANISH FLIERS HELD CAPTIVE

MADRID, May 27.—Commandante Burguete and Capt. Nunez, Spanish aviators, missing since Wednesday, are safe, but are held by tribesmen near Cape Bajador, Morocco. Their mechanic, Vincente Ferrer, also is safe.

This information was contained in a communique by the department of Moroccan affairs. It is not known if the fliers are held for ransom, but the government is negotiating for their rescue.

'5 and 10' Law Author's Appointees Indicted

fended and upheld repeatedly by Jones.

The grand jury returned two indictments in each of which Lyle, Whitney, Corwin and Fryant were jointly named. One indictment accuses the quartet of "conspiracy to accept bribes," the other specifically charges them with "conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act, the Tariff Act of 1922" and, it was understood, the internal revenue laws.

Two Surrender

In a separate indictment Whitney was accused of perjury.

McKinney, the only one of the five not apprehended tonight, is understood to have been indicted for offenses involving a breach of official conduct in connection with the prosecutions of liquor defendants.

He was formerly right hand man to former United States District Attorney Thomas P. Revelle, and with Revelle was prominently identified in the prosecution of the Roy Olmsted liquor conspiracy cases.

Release Arranged

Lyle and Whitney appeared in the federal building as soon as it was reported the jury was about to make its report. They immediately consulted United States District Attorney Anthony Savage. Shortly afterwards they appeared in United States Marshal Ed. Benn's office and announced they were surrendering themselves to his custody.

With the consent of Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer, Lyle was released on his personal recognizance in lieu of $10,000 bail. Whitney was given to understand the court would release him on one indictment on his personal recognizance pending trial but that he would have to furnish $5,000 cash bail on the other. This he posted several hours later, after being temporarily under arrest.

Fryant's and Corwin's bail was $10,000 on the two indictments. The court cut this down to $2,500 each. Fryant posted a surety bond, while Corwin announced Savage had given him 48 hours to arrange his bond or go to jail.

Deputy United States Marshal Joe Knizk and Frank Anderson hurried to the Olympic Hotel to put McKinney in custody—but found the former assistant district attorney had vanished, leaving no clue to his whereabouts.

The warrants were in Benn's hands only a moment before Whitney, looking haggard and beaten, and Lyle, appearing puzzled and surprised, surrendered. They came with Attorney Paul D. Coles, of Revelle, Simon & Coles, who explained he was on hand to arrange bail.

They hastened at once to Judge Neterer's court, where Coles pleaded for Lyle's release on personal recognizance and a reduction of bail for Whitney, Fryant and Corwin. Savage offered no objection.

BIG EXPANSION PLANNED BY DU PONT

Proceeds of $28,565,000 Stock Sale to Be Used In Enlarging Facilities

NEW YORK, May 27. — The offer of 357,071 shares of new common stock to E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company common stockholders at $80 a share, which will raise $28,565,680, is to finance a building program authorized by the company late in 1929.

This expansion program, planned to meet the growing needs of du Pont's various manufacturing activities, calls for the completion of rayon plants in the South, a plant for the Viscoloid Company at Leominster, Mass., construction of a new cellophane plant at Richmond, Va., the doubling of the capacity of the Old Hickory, Tenn., cellophane plant, and additions at Belle, W. Va., for du Pont Ammonia Corp.

About $2,000,000 will be expended in Wilmington on additions to the present du Pont office building. Other Wilmington projects include expansion of the so-called Wilmington shops, where most of the specialized machinery used in the company's activities is manufactured.

Work is well under way at the company's dye works at Deepwater, including the completion of enlargements to the ethyl lead plant and a number of lesser building projects to round out the facilities for a number of manufacturing units there. At the Krebs plant at Newport, several small projects are in course of construction, while about $500,000 will be spent for further improvements.

WORK AT GRASSELLI

Expansion of the Grasselli Chemical Company plants throughout the country calls for an expenditure of about $4,000,000, the most important single undertaking being the expenditure of about $1,500,000 at Grasselli, N. J.

Approximately $2,250,000 will be used for construction work by the Fabrics and Finishes department at its works at Newburgh, N. Y.; Fairfield, Conn., and Parlin, N. J.

Du Pont income so far this year has been adversely affected by the general uncertainty of business. First quarter's net available for dividends of $17,347,626 compared with $25,239,845 in the corresponding period of 1929, a decrease of $7,892,219, per share earnings declining to $1.52 from $2.42.

This decline was accounted for mainly by a sharp drop in du Pont income from its General Motors' investment.

Clarion Legion Opens Its Home

CLARION, Pa., May 27.—Duncan McCallum, of Leechburg, district commander of the American Legion, was the principal speaker at the first meeting in the new Craig E. Fleming post home in Clarion. Pro-Gambling Riot In San Sebastian Injures 17

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, May 27.—(AP)—Seventeen persons were injured, including two policemen, in rioting this noon caused by a demand for resumption of gambling in the San Sebastian Casino.

The casinos were suppressed under the Primo de Rivera dictatorship.

Twenty thousand persons joined in a parade to ask the King and Premier Berenguer to resume the old custom. They became disorderly when mounted police attempted to disperse them, and general fighting followed.

A dense crowd shouted: "We want gambling! Our business is being ruined! We want tourists!"

STEEL OUTLOOK IMPROVES

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 27.—Prospects for June business for the iron and steel trade are for a quickening in production, with improvement in shipments. Leading district producers expect new business in heavy-tonnage products to come forward in larger volume in the next two weeks. President Frank Purnell of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company states that such products are showing an improved tone, and he expects an increase in average production of at least 5 per cent during the next 10 days.

During the past week makers have been able to increase their backlogs in some of the important finished steel lines.

Leaders of the industry feel that demand for sheets and strips will continue irregular, owing to intermittent requirements of the automobile industry.

Last Saturday it was announced that the Thomas works at Niles of the Empire Steel Corporation, Mansfield, would operate in full, but this order today was superseded by another, cancelling operation of the plant altogether. With this suspension, only one Empire Steel property in the Valley, the Falcon works at Niles, is in action.

ARREST WOMAN OVER CHECKS

DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—(AP.)—Mary Benner, 25, and Charles Frakes, both formerly of Washington, Pa., were arrested in a rooming house here where police said they were living as Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren.

The woman faces fraudulent check charges preferred by department stores. A detective said they were undecided whether to hold her here or send her back to Pennsylvania officials.

The woman had a letter in her purse warning her to stay away from Washington, Pa., where police said she was wanted on a grand larceny charge.

Fighter of Forest Fires, Feared Dead, Found

LEWISTOWN, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Given up as dead when he failed to appear after a week's absence, following a fire-fighting expedition in the mountains near here on May 5, Frank Wagner, 48, of Siglerville, is alive and well at his nephew's home near here.

The only explanation Wagner gave for his absence of three weeks was that "Nobody cared for me, so why should I return?" He said that he had spent the last three weeks living in a hole in a cliff in the mountains, having trout which he caught with his hands as his sole food. Other than being weak from lack of sufficient food, he appeared to be none the worse for his experience.

JEWS SHUNNING ARAB HOUSES

JERUSALEM, May 27.—(AP.)—The first Muharam, falling this year on June 1, the annual moving day in Jerusalem, sees a strong movement away from the Arab quarters into the Jewish quarters as a result of last summer's riots.

Many Jews have left the Arab houses going into premises owned by Jews. Rents of Arab houses have been considerably reduced, while those of the adjoining Jewish premises have either risen or remained at their formal level.

A clause has been introduced into a number of contracts made by Jews staying on in Arab houses providing that in the event of a recurrence of riots in Jerusalem or its vicinity, the Jewish tenant may immediately vacate the premises without payment of rents.

New York Hoaxed By Flagpole 'Sitter'

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—If New Yorkers haven't any current flagpole sitters to watch they just imagine one, and watch that.

For three days now thousands have been budding on corners adjacent to the New York Central railroad 35-story building at Forty-fifth street and Park avenue gazing at a huddled blob at the very top of the building's flag pole.

Inquiry disclosed that the object of this rapt regard was nothing more startling than an eighteen-inch gold ball which has been right there in the sight of millions for more than a year without attracting attention. It all started when some one jokingly said the ball was a flagpole sitter—and was taken seriously.

A Holiday Sale of Handbags

To Provide an Exceptionally Smart Leather Bag for Every Costume

$4.95

The price of being fashionable is reduced to lowest terms at Horne's. More than fifty styles have been provided—all of them new, shown for the first time in Pittsburgh—bags selected from the higher-priced lines of our best makers. $4.95 will immediately be recognized as extraordinary for such qualities—such styles.

Prystal* — the newest ornamentation for handbags—trims the majority of the models. Snakeskin, applied in interesting ways, makes a large number of the bags perfect complements for snakeskin shoes. Secret pockets, extra small purses to hold bills, good-sized mirrors, attractive linings — these are little points that go to show these are not ordinary bags. The leathers, which are mostly box calf and morocco, are in these colors:

Navy Blue, Riviera Blue, Green, Blonde, Brown, Tan, Red, Gray, Eggshell, White and Black.

SURVIVOR HELD IN FEUD KILLING

LEPANTO, Ark., May 27.—(AP)—High Lutteral, about 40, was held without bond to the grand jury on charges of murder in connection with the slaying midnight Sunday of Clyde Keller, 35, and Walter Mobbs, 38, when he and five alleged liquor runners shot it out at a carnival near here.

Lutteral was the only one of four alleged Tennessee River lowland liquor gangsters who survived the midnight battle.

Officers at the preliminary hearing said that bullets extracted from the bodies of Mobbs and Keller were of the same caliber as Lutteral's gun.

Lutteral ran when Ira ("Blackie") Williams, alleged leader of one faction, opened fire on Keller. From the shelter of tents he fired on Keller and Mobbs. Officers said he is a crack shot.

George Lauchermilk, 35, carnival attendant, killed by a stray bullet, might have been shot by either Lutteral or one of the others, officers said.

Fund Bequeathed For Medical Work

Man Saves Family As Tug Boat Burns

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 27.—(AP)—The tug boat Acorn was burned to the water-line here following a fire which started in the kitchen. The craft was used for towing gasoline tank barges from near Pittsburgh to Moundsville and was owned by Elijah Martin, who fixed his loss at $2,000.

Jerry Parker, caretaker, aided his wife and 3-year-old child overboard and then jumped after them, assisting them to shore.

"ROLLING THEIR OWN" YO-YOS

JOSEPH BECKER, WESLEY REDMAN, ALFY MARKIEWICZ, WILLIAM BORDEN

Bradish and Sarah street boys with their own glorifications of the popular Yo-Yo. They made 'em with used phonograph records and they can "roll" 'em, too.

YO YOERS ROLL THEIR OWN

When the Sun-Telegraph, in cooperation with the Warner Brothers' theaters, introduced the Yo-Yo fad to Pittsburgh, it was never dreamed that it would come to this.

The city has been flooded with less costly Yo-Yoes than the make given away in this original campaign, but this has not stopped the youngsters from "rolling their own."

Joseph Becker, 1015 Bradish street; Wesley Redman, 1016 Bradish street; Alfy Markiewicz, 1100 Sarah street, and William Borden, 1014 Sarah street, hit upon the unique idea of using pairs of phonograph records for Yo-Yoing. They came into the downtown area yesterday spinning their "big" ones and attracted a lot of attention.

Husband Slain Drawing Gun On Wife

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—The arm of coincidence, reaching out through the person of Detective Sergeant John Barton, was credited with saving the life of Mrs. Margaret Seavers.

Just as her husband, Charles, from whom she was separated, started to pull the trigger of a pistol to fire at her, a police car swung around the corner of a crowded street and Barton fired twice. Both shots took effect. Seavers was killed.

Property Owners

You may as well put this sign on the door

WHEN the housewife is looking for an apartment or a house you can't conceal an old-fashioned, claw-legged tub, a dirt-pitted lavatory, an inefficient water closet, "brassy" handles and faucets, old-style laundry trays or a hard-to-keep-clean kitchen sink.

Today's housewife knows that the bathroom need not be commonplace. She wants a bathroom that not only sparkles with cleanliness, but also has the distinction made possible by the new "Standard" designs and colors for plumbing fixtures.

She knows that the new plumbing fixture designs and colors originated by "Standard" have been the inspiration for a new conception of bathroom furnishing and decoration. She knows that "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures, including the most inexpensive designs, are available in white and nine beautiful colors.

She knows that a visit to the "Standard" Showrooms will disclose how these colors make it possible to individualize one bathroom or a hundred.

Are old, outworn plumbing fixtures turning good tenants or buyers away from your houses or apartments? And would you replace them if it didn't require so much cash? Then you will be glad to know that it doesn't require so much cash—that you can have new "Standard" Plumbing Fixtures at once and pay for them out of income.

Just ask your plumbing contractor to tell you the details of the "Standard" Time Payment Plan. Or come here, to the "Standard" Showroom, for the information.

$24 PER MONTH for these three "Standard" PLUMBING FIXTURES INSTALLED!

Isn't that surprisingly little for a "Standard" built-in bath, genuine vitreous china lavatory, and a modern, efficient water closet? Other groups for $14, $16, $17 and $22 per month. Any individual "Standard" Plumbing Fixture, in white or color, may be purchased for a small down payment and a little each month.

Dainty Warm Weather Frock

Pattern 1913

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

This delicious little model with square neck is tucked to form a yoke and to create additional skirt fullness. Tiny sleeve caps are adorable on chubby arms. You need not have embroidered scallops if you do not wish, as the pattern is cut straight and allows for a deep hem.

Pattern 1913 is ravishing made of silk crepe, voile, batiste, organdy, georgette or lawn. If Embroidery Pattern 573 is used, I suggest a frock of pastel shade embroidered in a contrasting color as pink on blue, green on yellow, orchid on green, etc. All white, or red and white are smart, too.

May be obtained only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 2 requires 1⅞ yards of 36-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our PATTERN BOOK of NEW SPRING and SUMMER STYLES is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

RICHER and CREAMIER

Husbands of long ago and husbands of today—agree—IT IS DIFFERENT

Husbands of long ago had at least one point in common with husbands of 1930—critical appetites! No fussy wisp of a tea-room salad for these lords of creation! . . A crispy, green, substantial dish dressed with rich, creamy Ivanhoe mayonnaise is a quick, easy way to any husband's heart today, just as it was years ago. Ivanhoe is made from a real old time family recipe and the purest, freshest ingredients. Originally made for one husband, it has gone on pleasing husbands and brothers and sons and fathers, not to speak of the rest of the family . . . for years and years and years.

Always pure and delicious. Always the same . . . Ivanhoe is Richer and Creamier yet it costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise.

Order a quart, a pint, a half-pint or, if your family numbers two, a 3¼ oz. jar and see if your family doesn't say—"This is different—the best we ever ate!"

"SALAD LEAVES" is a unique booklet of salad recipes and balanced menus. Write for your free copy to Harriet Meaker Osborne, Ivanhoe Kitchen, Auburn, N. Y.

Railroad Order Protects Robin's Nest in Car

TACOMA, Wash., May 27.—(AP.)—Commerce may thunder around a railroad car now stationed at Dock No. 1 here of the Chicago Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, but it must not disturb that car. It houses a robin's nest with three blue eggs.

C. A. Norwood, clerk for the road, discovered the nest. Word was sent to Charles E. Devlin, superintendent, who issued the following order:

"Under no circumstances is that car to be moved. Air Dump No. X905055 must stay. If possible, don't even move the other cars on the same track. But first and last, keep that car stationary until the eggs are not only hatched but until the robins can fly."

The car has been on the siding since May 3.

FIRED MINERS SUE LEWIS

PITTSBURG, Kan., May 27.—(AP.)—Coal mine officials and district officers of the United Mine Workers of America, headed by John L. Lewis, were named defendants in damage suits totaling $69,000 which were filed in District Court here by 23 miners who charge they were discharged because of affiliations with Alexander Howat, leader of an insurgent mine union group.

Each petition asks damages of $3,000. The miners claim they are victims of a conspiracy of Lewis officers and coal operators in the discharge of Howat supporters. The petitions further charge that the coal operators have blacklisted Howat adherents, making it impossible for them to obtain work in the mines.

Two mines of the Western Coal and Mining Company and one of the Central Coal and Coke Company are involved in the suits.

The miners also charge that the defendants "undertook to extort from the plaintiffs $10 each" in order to have their names removed from the blacklist, and advised the plaintiffs to pay that amount to the provisional officers of the United Mine Workers of America.

Walworth Plant Idle for Week

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 27.—Officials of the Walworth Company, Greensburg's largest manufacturing concern, deny that a week's shutdown of the plant, effective today, will be prolonged for an indefinite period.

The officials say the shutdown is caused by a temporary letup in orders. The plant will resume June 3.

GOOD TEETH MUST HAVE VITAMINS AND MINERALS

Foods Should Be Eaten Regularly That Are Rich in Vitamins "C" and "D"

Vitamins, minerals and roughage, as supplied by the balanced diet, directly and indirectly contribute to promoting good teeth and gums.

Foods should be eaten regularly that abound in Vitamins "C" and "D." These include tomatoes, fresh peas, raw cabbage, spinach, lettuce; citrus fruits, raspberries, peaches, apples; eggs, butter and whole milk.

In preparing these foods for the table, sugar will make them much more appetizing. Add a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in cooked vegetables. Follow the same rule in making French dressing for the vegetables. Sweeten stewed fruits to taste. And there are many delicious pudding recipes that call for eggs, butter, milk and sugar.

The balanced diet is much more taste-appealing if sugar is given its place—as a flavor—in desserts—also jams and jellies. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

CAMEL
TURKISH & DOMESTIC BLEND CIGARETTES
Don't look for premiums or coupons, as the cost of the tobaccos blended in CAMEL Cigarettes prohibits the use of them.
MANUFACTURED BY R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.

READ AGAIN the familiar message on the back of the Camel package. . . . Camel, introduced in 1913, when other cigarette brands were offering all sorts of premiums and similar inducements, jumped into leadership solely on the basis of its built-in goodness.

That statement, spread throughout the world each day on millions upon millions of Camel packages, stands as your guarantee of the maximum in smoke pleasure. It reaffirms on every package of Camels the steadfast aim to give smokers a cigarette in which every possible bit of the cost is put into real smoke-quality.

The delightful natural fragrance of Camel's choicer tobaccos, combined in the smooth, mellow harmony of a blend beyond imitation—that's what made Camel the world's foremost cigarette—and keeps it just that.

BANK MONOPOLY SEEN BY DAWES

MADISON, Wis., May 27 (AP)—Henry M. Dawes, brother of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, foresees a monopolistic control of banking in the United States.

Addressing a conference of business men last night, the former comptroller of currency said:

"No plan has been devised by which chain banking can be stopped after it becomes a menace. Its ultimate result will be the substitution of centralized and, I fear, eventually monopolized control of banking as contrasted with the present system of local independence nationally co-ordinated."

He predicted the independent bank could not survive the competition of the chain. He said claims that centralized groups made for safety and efficiency "will not stand up under analysis."

RICH MAN GETS LIFE IN KILLING

BENTONVILLE, Ark., May 27 (AP)—Dr. Andrew J. Bass, retired wealthy dentist of Columbia, Mo., last night was on his way to the penitentiary at Little Rock to begin the life sentence imposed on him for the killing of William R. Pearman, Columbia garage mechanic, and his co-conspirator in a $200,000 insurance fraud plot.

Abruptly ending his case before the trial began at a special term of Circuit Court here, Dr. Bass, on advice of his counsel, entered a plea to guilty to the charge of killing Pearman, whose body with three bullet wounds in the head was found by the highway near Gravette, Ark., two months ago.

Tears came to the eyes of the 55-year-old dentist one-time candidate for Congress, as he heard Judge Earl Blamett pronounce the sentence.

His left arm was bandaged as he came into court, the result of an attempt to kill himself in his cell by cutting an artery with a razor blade.

WISHES SHE HAD USED IT EARLIER

Matron Finds Good Health in World's Tonic.

"When I was a young girl I had a beautiful complexion and people said my eyes fairly sparkled," said a well-known matron of Pittsburgh to the World's Tonic druggist. "Late in my twenties I began to lose my beauty, and you can now see that my complexion is almost gone. It was my own fault. Like many a young woman, I did not value my good looks until I had almost lost them. I was willing to give anything to get them back. I almost lost them through getting into bad personal habits. I did not know then that to neglect to answer Nature's call is one sure way to bring on constipation, and this enemy to good looks came on so insidiously that when I awoke to my danger it was almost too late to regain my complexion, and I think I was lucky to save myself from being an invalid.

"I noticed that my skin was getting sallow and its rosiness was disappearing, but it was not until other symptoms appeared that I was awakened to the seriousness of the matter. My face broke out in an ugly rash, my breath became bad, and my appetite failed so that I got as thin as a rail. My skin kept getting darker and darker, and I had frequent headaches. These I had never had before, and I thought they were due to my stomach, so I doctored it for almost a year, with little result.

"A friend told me World's Tonic was fine for stomach trouble, so I purchased a bottle. The first effect I noticed was that the constipation was overcome. When that was accomplished the rest of the bad symptoms disappeared promptly, and my skin began to take on a more natural color. I am now well and keeping well by the use of World's Tonic. I have regained the good complexion I lost as a result of my neglect of constipation. I am so thankful that I am rid of the bad effects that I cannot say too much in praise of World's Tonic. I only wish I had used it much earlier." World's Tonic can be purchased from Dow's, Mayo & Liggett's, Mayflower, or at any other first-class drug store. (A-15)

Maker of Matches Never Carries One

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—The world's foremost match manufacturer never carries a match, Ivar Kreuger, Swedish magnate who is here on a visit, always borrows when he needs a light.

HOUND FRAUDS LEAD TO PEN

BATESVILLE, Ark., May 27.—(AP)—The break-up of a hound dog fraud ring which came about when a Missouri farmer discovered he paid a mail order price of $50 for a dog he previously had sold for $2, resulted in an 18 months sentence for E. R. Moody of Hindman, Ky., reputed leader of the ring, on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Moody and six others involved in the operations of the ring which was alleged to have fraudulently disposed of worthless dogs to huntsmen and dog fanciers at high prices, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge John E. Martineau in Federal Court.

Mark Lyons, of Phoenix, Ariz., also was sentenced to 18 months in the Federal penitentiary. Paul Davis and Bob Finley, both of Charleston, Mo., were fined $500. Mrs. Lillian Scott, of Charleston, was fined $250. J. R. Pierce and Gene Russell, both of Bee Branch, near Heber Springs, Ark., were placed on probation.

$25,000,000 RUM PLOT SEEN

NEW YORK, May 28.—(INS)—A score of wealthy and socially prominent New Yorkers will be summoned as witnesses before a federal grand jury in connection with investigation of a reported $25,000,000 liquor syndicate, Assistant United States Attorney Robert Watts said today.

Watts intends to subpena witnesses from a list of names found in the effects of Edward Tatham, indicted here with the English firm of Justerini & Brooks, Ltd.

According to Watts, evidence has been uncovered indicating the English firm, of which Tatham was a director, planned to unload choice liquors near New York and have them brought by small boats here for a large clientele.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

CURB RAILROAD IN LABOR TILTS

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court sustained an injunction restraining the Texas & Pacific Railroad, a branch of the Southern Pacific System, from interfering with, intimidating or coercing its clerical employes in selecting their representatives in labor disputes.

The controversy was regarded as of great importance not only to labor but to the railroads because it presented to the highest court for the first time, the question whether injunction could be issued under the railway labor act of 1926.

Accepting the statement of facts found by the lower Federal courts that the railroad had attempted to disorganize the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks on the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana and set up an association among its employes not affiliated with any of the national labor organizations, the chief justice stated in applying these facts to the law "we entertain no doubt of the constitutional authority of Congress to enact the prohibition" contained in the railway labor act.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

NO NEED FOR THE RADIO policeman to prowl about the NBC studios tonight when Baby Rose Marie sings for the Purol Orchestra. Her daddy, Frank Curley, an old-time actor, has promised to hurry her home immediately the program is finished—about 8:30 o'clock. This should be in plenty of time to comply with the New York law which requires that child radio entertainers sing lullaby before 10:30.

KDKA will have the Purol star at 8 o'clock.

Away from the microphone Baby Rose Marie is quite like any other child. She amuses stage hands by playing with baby dolls while waiting for the curtain call. The 5-year-old prodigy also takes delight in trying to solve the puzzle of her own name, especially when she sees it in the electric lights in front of a theater.

Home from a winter visit in Florida, the sponsor of Sacred Songs cheered this department yesterday with a postcard greeting. "Good Morning!" while an arrow pointing to herself in a flower garden, carrying the words "We Now Present—" revealed the identity.

She has not decided about the future of Sacred Song programs on KDKA.

Don Bestor pens that his band is playing over KWK from the roof garden of the Hotel Chase in St. Louis.

* * *

Players in the Westinghouse Band are regular daytime employes at East Pittsburgh. They wind coils, construct turbines, etc.

"Everyone works," says T. J. Vastine, the veteran director.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

Were you on the air a few days ago when Charlie Tramont of NBC announced with significant pause and emphasis, "Ladies and gentlemen, you have just heard The Stars and Stripes—FOREVER" . . . . and you wondered what it was all about? Well, the page boy who had been sent for more music got interested in the baseball scores in another studio and left the orchestra with only one piece to play and 15 minutes to go. Thus, Stars and Stripes FOREVER was done in many variations to fill the period.

Joyous Foot Bath, Then Lift Out

CORNS

Root and All—Out to Stay!

Two tablespoonfuls of that amazingly refreshing and foot invigorating Radox to one gallon of water makes a foot bath, which, after 3 to 4 nights' soaking, lifts out aching, maddening corns, callouses, too—root and all.

Radox softens the hard outer layers of corn—and oxygen which Radox liberates, enters the pores, each night penetrating further and further, carrying the salts right to root of corn, which can be lifted out bodily.

Wonderful to take out pain and burning and refresh tired feet!

Get a package of Radox at Mayflower Drug Stores or any drug store and know the joyous comfort of corn and callous free feet—Radox is the modern, scientific method to remove corns, which completely eliminates old-fashioned plasters, dangerous cutting, skin-destroying acids and obsolete methods.

FIND OIL MAIL LIST OF 50,000

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 27.—(AP.)—Discovery of a second mail list containing names of more than 50,000 persons in every part of the United States among records of the Universal Oil and Gas Company was announced by E. R. Cochran, post-office inspector.

Cochran's previous investigations resulted in the filing of mail fraud charges against S. E. J. Cox, promoter, and eight officers of the Universal company, and the appointment of a temporary receiver May 7.

Cochran expressed belief that the latest list had been purchased from another oil company just before government action was taken.

The offices of District Attorney Roy St. Lewis and Cochran have been flooded with letters from persons who have invested from $10 to $30,000 each in Universal units and now are anxious to recover their money.

The government charges that in the last year between $1,250,000 and $3,000,000 was obtained from investors by the sale of pre-organization certificates of the Universal concern.

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WALTER E. HOLLAND
Chief Engineer of PHILCO

BECAUSE the vacuum tube is vital to the performance of a fine radio set, we recommend RCA Radiotrons for Philco Balanced Unit Radio. Inferior tubes can cause numerous difficulties which may nullify the result of most careful set engineering and construction. Inferior screen-grid tubes are decidedly false economy. The importance of quality and precision of manufacture as in RCA Radiotrons cannot be over-emphasized. With RCA Radiotrons in your Philco Screen-Grid Radio you will get the utmost benefit from Philco Balanced Unit construction."

RCA RADIOTRON CO., INC., HARRISON, N. J.

RADIO ENGINEERS ADVISE:
Replace all the vacuum tubes in your radio set with RCA Radiotrons at least once a year. This is the only sure way to maintain good performance and minimize disagreeable noises and other troubles caused by inferior tubes. RCA Radiotrons will give you the maximum in selectivity, sensitivity and tone quality.
Old tubes may impair the performance of the new

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

LYNCHING TRIAL OF 17 JULY 7

WALHALLA, S. C., May 27. —(AP.)—Trial of 17 Oconee County men, including the mayor and night policeman of Walhalla, on charges of lynching Allen Green, 50-year-old Negro, was set for July 7 in the Court of General Sessions here. The decision to defer the trial came immediately after grand jury had brought true bills charging the men not only with murder, but also with assault and battery, robbery, conspiracy to commit murder and rescue of a prisoner.

The special term of court was ordered after the Negro was dragged from the Oconee County Jail here on the night of April 23 and carried to a lonely spot in the county where his body was riddled with bullets. He was charged with assault on a young white woman.

Those named in the bills of indictment were R. L. Ballentine, attorney and mayor of Walhalla; John Sanders, Nelson Matheson, J. Harris, Dock Carver, John Stevens, Tilman Leard, Haroid Matheson, Grady Lee, William Smith, Will Elrod, Mitch Lee, Alvon Jones, the night policeman; Jake Wilbanks, Joe McCall, Jr., Ibra Patterson and Pete Epps.

Goes to Prison Alone, But Has To Wait

FORT MADISON, Ia., May 27.—(AP.)—Ed Bonner's idea was to get into the penitentiary unassisted, and it finally worked.

He told officials at Sioux City, where he was sentenced for manslaughter:

"I'll go to Fort Madison alone."

He did, but when he got here the warden refused to let him enter because he failed to bring his commitment papers, properly signed.

So Bonner went to a hotel and stayed there until the papers arrived by mail. Now he's on the inside, beginning an eight-year sentence.

GAS HOLDINGS CHANGE HANDS

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 27.—Greene County oil and gas properties valued at $300,000 were included in a $2,000,000 deal whereby 16,000 acres of West Virginia and Pennsylvania oil and gas holdings were acquired by the Midland Natural Gas Company, of New York. Sale of the Greene County tracts was a cash transaction and included the Home Gas Company, of Mount Morris; the Shannon Run Oil and Gas Company, Swastika Oil and Gas Company, and the John R. Conklin holdings.

CALLS REVENUE LAW INVALID

CHICAGO, May 27. — (INS.) — Constitutionality of the 1928 inter revenue law is questioned in a petition by John W. Keogh on file here today. Keogh claims that the revenue law is unconstitutional because the United States government has failed to demand reapportionment in the state of Illinois.

Keogh's petition asks for an injunction which will restrain the revenue department from collecting income taxes from him. The petition holds that Illinois has not had a reapportionment since 1901.

As a melting pot, Pittsburgh probably has no equal. At a friendly gathering at Mine No. 8, in Castle Shannon, the other night, persons from 11 nations were present. They represented Ireland, Bosnia, Croatia, Italy, Scotland, Sweden,

Syria, England, Austria, Hungary and Serbia. It was a strange conglomeration, but the spirit of good-fellowship was pronounced. The cosmopolitan tinge of the affair was accentuated by folk songs sung in native tongue by the various nationals. However, everybody joined in on the last song, which happened to be "Sweet Adeline."

You should read "Cimarron." Edna Ferber's excellent novel of early Oklahoma. It is obvious that Miss Ferber spent many hours gathering her material and the results vindicate her toil. Her hero, Yancey Cravat, is fascinating. The book is good writing and good reading.

Attorney William H. Stanton, prominent Negro member of the bar, was cross-examining a colored woman before Judge McVicar in Federal Court.

The colored lady admitted her testimony was based on hearsay.

"What," asked Counsellor Stanton, "do you mean by hearsay?"

"Well," the witness explained, "he say and she say."

G. V. C. sends us a poem about mothers and wants our opinion of it. We have read it and it's all right, but we're not a capable critic of poetry. The only rhyme we seem able to understand is that of Dorothy Parker, who writes this kind of stuff:

Men seldom make passes
At girls who wear glasses.

Vin Barnett, who is a chip of the old block, is in Hollywood insulting people, just as his father, Luke Barnett, insults people in Pittsburgh and gets away with it. Among his victims have been George Bancroft, Elsie Janis, Ina Claire and Richard Barthelmess. At a Hollywood party Vin told Miss Claire that her only claim to fame was her husband, John Gilbert, and Miss Claire might have quieted Vin by announcing that his only claim to fame was his father.

An unusual policeman is red-haired Mike Horan. Where many policemen resent answering the simplest questions by pedestrians, Mike invites them. They break up the monotony of the day; the more foolish they are the better, Mike holds. His recent beat included the territory in which the Gulf Building is being erected. The women, Mike reports, think it's going to be a golf course and the men are looking for a gasoline station.

BEVERLY HILLS, May 27.

Reading all the papers over the week-end, and it looks like Mr. Hoover is sorter going to get a few breaks. Even a glider aeroplane is not subject to as many conditions as a United States President. The cold winter was against him. The wet spring was against him, the wet Senate was against him, the dry House of Representatives was against him, high tariff was against him, low tariff was against him, big navy was against him, little navy was against him, and to add to his other hard luck the fish wasn't biting. So things just had to get better. There wasn't any way it could get worse. We shouldn't elect a President, we should elect a magician. Yours,

WILL.

CORAOPOLIS TAX CUTTERS WIN FIRST O. K.

Councilmen Rush Passage of Bill Before Opponents Can Flee and Wreck Quorum

The four members of Coraopolis Council who have been endeavoring for several months to bring about a reduction in the tax millage, won a preliminary victory last night, because only one of their opposing four members was fleet enough to leave the council chamber while the issue was being voted on.

After weeks of quarreling, Councilman John Leonard, head of the finance committee, last night presented his ordinance setting the millage at 11 mills, one less than last year. When the ordinance was presented Councilman George Salzer leaped to his feet and left the room. Councilmen Fred Rebeschung, H. W. Ewing and George Dickey, also opposed to the ordinance were still in the room, scrambling to leave, when the other four members voted to pass it.

With seven members still in the room and four voting to pass the ordinance, it was approved on its first reading, the other three refusing to vote. Those who favored the reduction were Councilmen Leonard, George Colvin, L. K. Fleming and Dr. Fred Patterson.

According t Leonard the proposed millage is ample to pay all the borough needs. Although Councilman Colvin, who is head of the Public Safety Department, said his department would need only $24,500, the faction opposing the ordinance insisted that he would need $29,000, it was stated.

President Patterson, who presided at the meeting, said that the ordinance had passed the first reading and would be brought up again for second reading at the meeting next Monday night.

FREEDOM FOR 5 BEING SOUGHT

Petitions were being circulated today by the Pittsburgh District of International Labor Defense in an effort to secure the release from prison of five men sentenced under the Pennsylvania sedition law.

Three of the men, Pete Muselin, Milan Resetar and Tom Zima, were arrested in 1927 at Woodlawn and sentenced under the sedition law as Communists. Ray Pelz and Thomas Holmes were arrested during an organization campaign of the National Textile Workers Union at Chester, W. Va.

Bellevue Retains Former School Tax

The Bellevue School Board has fixed the 1930 school tax levy at 13½ mills, the same as last year. This is said to be the second lowest school millage among the boroughs of Allegheny County. The board contemplates selection of an architect soon to prepare plans for an eight-room annex to the Grant grade school building, authorized, together with a new high school, in a $450,000 bond issue approved by the voters at the primaries.

Two Paroled in Officer's Attack

Donald McRea, 23, Freeport avenue, and Willis Mardis, 30, 223 Seventh street, both of Aspinwall, today began a three-year parole following their conviction in C[illegible]inal Court of aggravated assault and battery upon Policeman Guy McQuaid, of the Aspinwall force. Judge Joseph Swearingen, in imposing the parole, stipulated that the men are to pay the policeman's doctor bill, amounting to $25.

GIRL UNAFRAID

By GLADYS JOHNSON

Ardeth Invites Ken and Son Into the Shop

CHAPTER XLII.

It was cruelly unexpected, that plunge of eyes into eyes. Confusion in Ardeth's mind. Ken . . . really Ken . . . and he was holding a baby . . .

Ken's first instinctive movement had been to leave. But he remained there looking at her.

"I didn't expect to see you, Ardeth. I was just passing. Just walking by."

"Won't you—come in?" The words seemed to come of their own volition.

They were in the store, still in that strained silence. The girl was leaning back against the counter. One hand was pressed hard over her throat where a little pulse fluttered.

"I was too tired to go down to the country today with Tom." She spoke with an apparent effort. "Yesterday was awfully busy. And there was the window to dress—"

"I saw you," he answered, with the same unnatural calm. "And I thought of that first time I came in here. When you were in the window arranging the ivory elephants."

With a fluttering movement of her hands she said, "The baby. I've never seen him."

"I stole him to take him out," Ken explained. "I have an idea he doesn't like his nurse. You know, even when they're very young they have likes and dislikes. Sort of starched linen nurse she is; eye like a hawk. Rapacious eye, you know. I know the Colonel here doesn't like her."

Delicate Infant

Ken Watches Ardeth Fondle Child

The Colonel . . . Something pitifully appropriate in the nickname Ken had bestowed upon his son. Nothing round and rosy—nothing babylike about the infant, which looked owlishly back at Ardeth. It was as though a little old man peered from behind the small features.

Phyllis Hawkin's words flashed back to the girl: "The nurse said she pretty nearly killed the poor little brat from the first . . . the boy never had a fair start . . ."

A frail little thing; bones like a macaroni. A cold undertone to the tiny face. The eyes pale blue, with a strange set stare—an unearthy stare, Ardeth found herself thinking.

The resentment she had known was swept away in a gush of pity. A little cry broke from her. "Such a little bit of thing! Let me—"

She had it in her arms, the baby's stare regarding her brooding face.

"The darling—" she said softly. Her fingertips lightly caressed the milky little face. "The pretty little fellow—"

With a pang it struck Ken that no one had ever before used that inappropriate term to the child. Something choked in his throat, and he spoke with an assumption of lightness.

Cecile at Party

Ardeth Notes Great Change in Ken

"Well . . . the Colonel doesn't go in much for beauty. But he's bright as a dollar. I always manage to know how he feels."

That hurt the girl. Ken lonely—trying in some clumsy way to make up to the unwelcome mite for the love it should have had as a right.

"We slipped out for a walk before the starched nurse could stop us. I could see by his eyes that the Colonel was bored. He likes to be with me. And somehow we came down this way. But I didn't dream of seeing you—"

"Where's Cecile?" She did not raise her eyes to his own. Ken seemed as young and helpless in that moment as the baby and the pull on her sympathy was dangerous.

Ken shrugged. "Coralie Gaines' house party. I can't get on with that woman so—for the sake of peace I stayed away."

An awkward little moment of silence. Then Ardeth found herself saying in a choked voice: "Would you . . . like to come back here and sit down?"

They were in the back room. She found herself sitting on the couch holding the silent baby. Ken had taken the chair opposite. By the light which slanted on him through the one long window she saw his ease of manner was merely a mask. His face was white and his eyes were bleak. If she had changed in this last bitter year, so had he. Little left of the triumphant youth she had given her heart in that long ago summer. Here was a man, disillusioned—suffering.

Ardeth Cries

Unable to Hold Back Her Tears

Ken's eyes went around the room, noticing the simple, comfortable furnishings. They came back to rest on her face and such sudden yearning flashed there that she spoke hastily.

"Tell me about yourself . . . your . . . your business."

"Did you know I'd left Mr. Parker's office? I'm in for myself."

At her nod, he went on. "It wasn't that he wasn't considerate. He's been kind. But that was just it. I don't want kindness! I want to stand on my own! To own my own success! I've got to have something of my own!"

Something badgered in his voice. She looked swiftly up at him. His head was high—not the gay, confident lift of other days. Defiant. His eyes were angry, bewildered.

He suddenly swam in the mist of her own tears. Tears which she tried, in dismay, to check. She saw that he had risen. Was reaching for her.

"Oh . . . Ardeth . . . sweetheart . . ."

Beads Scattered

Colonel Breaks String Of Necklace

A little cry halted him. A little crow from the baby. Held in Ardeth's arms, he had been fascinated by the glitter of a tiny chain about her neck. His small wavering hand had at last captured it and a scatter of tiny pearls sprinkled the girl as it broke.

"Really, it doesn't matter," Ardeth protested softly.

When Ken rose he was master of himself again. He made a desperate grasp after his self-possession.

"Have to get the Colonel home or the starched nurse will hang us both. We both thank you—shouldn't have done this, I know." A bleakness in that which pierced her heart.

"Apologize to the lady, you rascal, for plundering her jewelry!"

They were gone. The little shop was suddenly empty, with only the sunlight slanting in to fall on the mandarin coats and the bright feather fans.

Through the yellow silence Ardeth walked to the back room. She picked up the broken chain and let it drop slowly into a small velvet case.

DISABLED VETS BOOST BILL

Nation-wide appeal has been made by the organization of the Uncompensated Disabled Veterans of the World War for support of the Rankin bill, which would provide for $6.0[illegible] disabled soldiers who were not included in the benefits of the veterans' act of 1924. All persons interested in the legislation have been asked to write their United States senators urging them to vote for the Rankin bill.

Edward F. McNulty, chairman of the Uncompensated Disabled Veterans of the World War, of Veterans' Hospital No. 98, Castle Point, N. Y., points out that the bill passed the House of Representatives by a large majority. The amount needed is said to be $44,000,000. The bill provides for the extension of time from 1925 to 1930 for tuberculosis, neuropsychiatric cases and other chronic invaliding diseases, and would compensate veterans of actual combat service or who were under orders during the war. McNulty says that pauperism awaits many of these men destined to permanent invalidism unless they are given relief.

Adjustor Injured, Asks $25,000 in Suit

Injured while he was on his way to adjust an insurance claim, M. Arkin, Jeannette, has brought suit against Samuel Neaman for $25,000 damages for bodily hurts when the machine was ditched. Arkin says he was a passenger in the car owned by Neaman, that it was a wet and slippery day and there were no chains on the wheels. The accident occurred November 22, 1928, near Harrison City. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Harry Ravick.

Riefer, East End, knocked down October 8, 1929, in Braddock avenue, Turtle Creek, by a car owned by the Niehl Transportation Company, sustaining a fracture of the right thigh bone, has sued the company for $50,000 damages. It is alleged in the bill of particulars filed in Common Pleas Court by Attorney Sidney Gottlieb that the transportation company's car was running at a dangerous speed.

Swimming Pool In Paulson Ave. Protested

This story is almost as unusual as that of the man biting the dog.

Members of Council, beseiged with demands for playgrounds and swimming pools, have received a communication from residents of the Twenty-first district, Twelfth Ward, protesting against the construction of a swimming pool in the Paulson avenue playground.

The pool would be a "public nuisance," the petition said, adding a suggestion that swings and slides for youngsters be provided instead.

The playground, according to the petitioners, never has been used as intended. Men from all over the city use it for ball games, they said.

TRAFFIC COURT HITS PARKING

Engineers of the Better Traffic Committee are continuing their studies of the traffic counts taken last Thursday in the downtown district, Frank L. Duggan, general chairman of the committee, said today. The studies will determine whether the streets are to be used as parking garages or for traffic movement, he said.

Exactly 1,416 motorists are allowed to use one-eighth of the street space in the downtown district for parking during peak hours while 13,000 other motorists are trying to leave the city, the count reveals.

Cadet Avenue Paving Proposed

Gibson, when he pleaded guilty of embezzling $630 of postal funds. Since the shortage in his accounts was discovered February 28 by postoffice inspectors, complete restitution was made to the government, the court was told.

A large number of character witnesses testified in behalf of the defendant. Judge Gibson said he would be lenient because of his long years of service and previous good reputation.

CHECK MADE ON RETURN BOARD

McGovern and Other Pinchot Leaders Continue Vigil; Judge Gives Instructions

All seemed quiet and harmonious on the election front today.

Pinchot supporters, zealously guarding their victory, were satisfying their desire to check the count of the return board. And the special recount board was sworn in and prepared to count the votes in the disputed districts of the Second and Sixth Wards.

Judge James R. Macfarlane, who has been hearing post-election disputes, visited the County Commissioners' and the Sheriff's office, presumably to give instructions on how the disputed ballot boxes shall be handled.

VIGIL CONTINUED

Pinchot followers and the County Commissioners yesterday reached an agreement whereby the Pinchot group was to be able to check the return board's work, but Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and other Pinchot leaders were continuing their 24-hour vigil over the returns in the courthouse.

The boxes thus far ordered in by Judge Macfarlane on charges of fraud are those of nine districts in the Second Ward and that of the First District in the Sixth Ward. Congressman P. J. Sullivan, apparently renominated over P. J. O'Malley, asked a recount of the Second Ward votes and Pinchot leaders charged fraud in the Sixth Ward voting.

IRREGULARITIES ABSENT

Some 40 other ballot boxes from various districts have been brought in by the returning board for minor discrepancies but these have not produced irregularities.

The official count probably will be completed this week and the belief is there will be little change from the unofficial results.

PATROL WAGON DRIVER DIES

Mr. Rice was born in Germany and was brought to Pittsburgh 50 years ago. As a young man he operated a cable car on the Butler street line, and when the line was electrified became a motorman, serving for a number of years. During the past 15 years he had been driver of the patrol wagon at Central Station.

He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, of Bloomfield; the Loyal Order of Moose, Fraternal Order of Police and Knights of St. George.

He leaves his widow; a son, Herbert Rice, a member of the police department; two daughters, Mrs. Leona Foss and Mrs. Levina Begly, of Pittsburgh; three brothers and a sister.

RAIN OF STYLE LETTERS STILL POURS IN

Thousands Contrast Old and New Fashions in Contest For Marion Davies Prizes

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—Still the torrent of letters continues to pour in from all parts of the country from participants in the Marion Davies' style contest.

Weary postmen making their special trips to the new Pantages Theater in Hollywood, where all letters should be addressed, each day are more amazed at the response to the question whether the styles of the gay 'nineties are to be preferred to those of today.

LOOK BACK WITH HORROR

I was born in 1890, just old enough to begin to take an interest in "stylish clothes." I look back on those days with horror!

A strong, healthy girl at the age of 14, I determined to have a small waist line and so squeezed myself into an 18-inch corset. What was the result? At the age of 16 I became an invalid—not helpless, but a burden to myself and others. I had to undergo a serious operation.

I used to stand in the snow and rain with my long lined skirts and underskirts wet to the knees. And were they uncomfortable? I should say so! Tight sleeves made the veins stand out on our hands. Long hair gave us headaches.

Give us sensible, comfortable, modern styles!

MRS. ANNA MORGAN EMERICK.
Asbury, N. J.

LEARNING INDIVIDUALISM

I do believe that women are learning the secret of being well dressed, and that is, wearing the style best suited to their particular figure, in other words, having individualism instead of following the style decreed by the fashion experts.

MRS. CLAIRE G. DYBLE.
15437 Appoline avenue, Detroit, Mich.

HITS STYLE DESIGNERS

If the young ladies of today would accept the dictatorship of the Parisian (men) style, designers (who seem to be old-fashioned themselves) and would agree to don long dresses, skirts, steel corsets, etc., then the young ladies of modern times might just as well agree to a certain old-style of living that would take us back to the primitive cave men!

M. D. SCHWARTZBERG.
1317 South Homan avenue, Chicago, Ill.

OLD-TIMER'S VIEW

I, a mere man and an old bald-headed dicdy at that, humbly submit my honest sentiments on the past and present day fashions.

Thirty-five years ago I courted my first wife and with the deepest respect for the styles of by-gone days, I can truthfully state that the wasp waist of the gay nineties period greatly appealed to me.

I needed but one arm to encircle it.

Mary's hat! When I vision those masterpieces, they all look lovely to me and beneath, Mary's face, devoid of decoration, was a dream.

That was in the long ago.

Lizzie's uncorseted waist measures 40 inches and I love it!

Lizzie's lid is generally parked in my coat pocket and it doesn't matter whether I love it or not.

The present day fashions are healthier, handier, lovelier and better in every sense of the word.

But, pshaw! What does an old chap's opinion amount to, anyway? J. HARRY RAPP.
Greenbank, Burlington County, N. J.

WANTS OLD STYLES BACK

I believe the old styles—even the hoop skirts—will come back. I am 24 years old and have wished lots of times that I could dress and do my hair like some of the people in the old pictures. Their bonnets were the cutest things!

Those clothes made women look so much more dignified—more like women than tomboys. I should sing for joy if they should come back!

JAPAN'S GREAT VICTORY FETED

TOKIO, May 27.—(AP.)—A truce was called today in naval controversy while the Japanese empire observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of the battle of Tsushima in which Admiral Heihachiro Togo, on May 27, 1905, annihilated the Russian fleet, achieved the greatest triumph of Japanese arms and scored the most decisive naval victory since the battle of Trafalgar.

Thousands flocked to the "Sea and Sky" exposition at Uyeno Park. Other throngs witnessed a parade of models of Admiral Togo's warships through the city. A constant stream of worshippers prayed the day long at Yadukuni shrine, dedicated to the souls of those who died in action.

The central figure of the day's observances was the veteran Togo, count, admiral of the fleet, wearer of the highest decorations his sovereign can bestow, ranking subject of the Empire and Japan's hero of heroes.

CHICAGO, May 27.—(INS.)—The projected elopement of Edna Essig, 17, was only a punctured bubble of disappointment today.

Her suitcase all packed, Edna waited on the corner last night for the flivver that was to bring George Keifer, 18, her fiance, and the best man, James Smith, 19.

Edna watched the approach of an automobile. It was a flivver, but painted a brilliant yellow. It stopped in the next block and policemen climbed out and ran up the fire escapes of a grocery store.

They returned to the car with Keifer and Smith, who said they hadn't money enough for a wedding breakfast so had set out to appropriate the cash for one.

Only Two Vets Left; Drop Services

Memorial services in tribute to veterans of the Civil War who are buried in Bayne Cemetery, Ross Township near the Bellevue line, an annual feature of the North Boroughs patriotic observance at this season for many years, were not held this year. Only two Civil War veterans remain in that district, it is said and neither was able to undertake arrangements. The death recently of A. M. Carline, of Bellevue, removed the last able bodied Civil War veteran and one who had been active in arranging these commemorations heretofore.

DRIVER INJURED AS CAR UPSETS

James Williams, 28, of 1225 Liverpool street, North Side, is in the Allegheny General Hospital suffering a fracture of the wrist and lacerations of the face and body suffered when an automobile he was driving, police said, overturned in the Perry highway, near North Park road, early today. Lloyd Beely, 25, of 1002 Western avenue, North Side, said by police to be the owner of the car, was uninjured.

Beely was arrested, but released under bond.

Vincent Artuso, 52, of Clairton, reported to police early today that four men attacked him at Webster avenue and Washington street and robbed him of $90.

GIRL MISSING, BEGIN HUNT

Police and the Missing Persons Bureau were today asked to search for Wanda Matus, 17, of Homestead, who has been missing from her home for some time.

Wanda Matus

Relatives told the police that when she was last heard of she was working for Herbert Thomas, self styled psychologist, who was arrested in January when policewomen found two girls in his home.

According to the policewoman, Thomas had advertised for girls to do housework. Helen Thomas, 23, and Bernice Smith, arrested with him, told police he had tried to hypnotize them, but was unsuccessful.

Miss Matus is five feet, two inches tall; weighs 120 pounds, and has brown hair and blue eyes. Her mother is critically ill and is anxious to hear from her.

OFFICERS SEIZE STILLS, CLOSE SPEAKEASY

Roxie Long, who led city detectives a trans-Atlantic chase several years ago, was being sought by federal prohibition agents today as a result of dry raids in the Hill district late yesterday.

Long is wanted in connection with a raid on a house at 1704 Cliff street, where Clara Yorio, 21, and John Yorio, 22, were arrested and later released for a hearing June 3 before Justice of the Peace W. S. Edwards, of Glenfield, on charges of violating the Snyder act. Roxie is alleged to be one of the owners of a 100-gallon still and 63 barrels of mash found in the place.

In another dwelling at 1010 Bedford avenue, a 75-gallon still and 18 barrels of mash were uncovered, raiders said. No arrests were made.

A dozen pints of moonshine and 56 bottles of home brew were confiscated in a raid on an alleged speakeasy at 1006 Bedford avenue, agents asserted. Peter (Patsy) Cardone, 23, was arrested. On the third floor of the same address, the dry officers said, they seized a 25-gallon still and arrested Sam Peters, 65.

County detectives reported raiding an old house in Jefferson road, Penn Township, and seizing a 75-gallon still, 40 gallons of moonshine and 56 barrels of mash.

MEXICAN ART TO SHOW HERE

The exhibition of Mexican art to tour the United States will be shown at the Carnegie Institute from November 25 through December 16. The collection will include painting, sculpture, textiles, glass, metals and examples of the decorative arts in other mediums.

Dwight W. Morrow, former ambassador to Mexico, secured the aid of the Carnegie Corporation to finance the exhibition which was assembled by Homer Saint-Gaudens in Mexico last autumn. Under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts, it will be shown at the official museums in the following cities directly it is closed at the Metropolitan Museum in New York: Boston, Cleveland, Washington, Milwaukee, Louisville and San Antonio.

Dr. Atl, a Mexican artist and chief of the museum's department in Mexico, and Count Rene d'Harnoncourt, a connoisseur of Mexican art, will accompany the exhibition to the United States and will also lecture on the collection.

MOTHER OF FOUR, RUM OFFENDER, PAROLED IN U. S. COURT

The Camera Question Box

Today's Question: So that a bride of a man with a modest income does not set for herself and husband a fictitious standard for a wardrobe a budget expert of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs has suggested that a bride of a man earning $50 a week limit her trousseau to $200; where the income is $75 to $350 and where the weekly income reaches $100 to $500. What do you think of the suggestion?

MISS HELEN STEINBURG, East End, bookkeeper: The budget expert appears to know the facts and the ratio between the amount expended for a trousseau and the salary is a fair one. There is no sense in a bride spending a lot for clothes if she cannot continue the expenditure.

Miss Steinburg

MRS. BIRD PURINTON, Wilkinsburg, secretary: I agree with the suggestion and would be tickled to death if I had that much to spend. Of course, a lot depends on the bride. She may be helping her husband if she has a large supply of clothes bought before the wedding.

Mrs. Purinton

MISS MARY LOUISE RANBEAU, South Side, bookkeeper: It's a good suggestion I think. The amounts seem fair in every way. A woman shouldn't spend too much for clothes and neglect other things equally important. I know I would spend money according to my husband's wages.

Miss Ranbeau

J. S. CALHOUN, East End, zone manager: The suggestion is very good. Every husband and his wife should base their expenditures on a budget and this item of a wardrobe should have a prominent place. I know my budget is based along these lines.

J. S. Calhoun

C. A. REHTMEYER, East End, distributor: I'm no authority on trousseau or wardrobes but to me the suggestion seems to be a good one. There is absolutely no necessity for a girl to sink all her money in a trousseau and expect to continue the expense after her marriage.

C. A. Rehtmeyer

P. M. MINNICH, East End, salesman: The suggestion may be all right for some people, but I think a bride should be permitted to spend everything she has for a trousseau. She may never get the chance again. Then, too, her husband won't have to buy clothes for a while.

P. M. Minnich

In the case of the wife, Mrs. Dunlap asks through her counsel, H. Fred Mercer, $25,000 damages and her husband $10,000 and in that of his daughter, the latter asks $10,000 and the father $' 000.

Denial was made today that criticism of the Hill district Negroes in the recent legislative election was made from the pulpit of the Trinity A. M. E. Church Sunday night by the Rev. A. V. B. Hightower. The Rev. C. H. Harden, pastor, declared:

"Mr. Hightower did not speak at the Trinity Church as reported. He came to me Saturday and sought permission to deliver a special sermon from my pulpit Sunday night. The officials refused the request. I do not know where he spoke, if anywhere. We desire the public to know our church is used strictly for religious worship and no other interests are permitted."

DIVORCE TARDY, HUSBAND HELD

Clarence E. Carothers, 32, Brookside Farms, was held for court for violating the Mann act when arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner today on charges preferred by Department of Justice agents.

Mary Aline Dailey, daughter of Guy M. Dailey, city detective, testified Carothers took her to Cleveland April 2, 1929, where they were married. Later she learned that he was married and had not been divorced from his wife when he married her.

Prothonatory's office records show Carothers filed suit for divorce October 31, 1928, but the decree was not granted until February 18, 1930.

HELPS HUSBAND BUILD HOME

She does her family's washing, keeps the house clean, does the cooking and is helping her husband build a house—such are the accomplishments of Mrs. David A. Lewis, 3524 Balboa street.

The part Mrs. Lewis plays in the construction of the new house is an important one—she is the carpenter, and, according to the appearance of the half-finished home, a good one. She admits the hatchet often slips and gives her another black and blue mark, but that's all in the game.

The home which Mrs. Lewis is helping to build is in the rear of her Balboa street residence. When finished it will be a bungalow with four rooms and bath. The home, if all goes right, will be ready for occupancy some time in June.

When asked if she thinks the bungalow will be a good job, Mrs. Lewis points to her six-room residence. She helped her husband build it.

ESCAPES JAIL FOR THIRD OFFENSE

42 Liquor Law Violators Fined $7,525; Four Given Time; Probation for Five

Forty-two defendants were sentenced in federal court for violating the prohibition law. Fines ranging from $25 to $500, and aggregating $7,525, were imposed. Four defendants received jail sentences and five were placed on probation. In some instances the probationers and those receiving jail sentences were also fined.

Among the defendants was Mrs. Julia Cindrich, 46, of 1100 Fourth avenue, McKeesport, a previous offender who had been fined in February, 1926, and February, 1927, for violating the dry law. Because of her previous record, Judge R. M. Gibson sentenced her one year in jail, but later suspended the sentence and placed her on probation for two years, with the understanding that if she again violated the law she would be made serve the jail term. Mrs. Cindrich, the court was told, is the mother of four children.

BOY FINED

The liquor fines were increased $150 when Alex Rande, 16, of Sharpsburg, pleaded guilty of interfering with prohibition agents, while they were raiding a moonshine whisky plant in Sharpsburg, April 12. Adel Hafig, convicted last week of selling liquor and maintaining a common nuisance at 35 Washington place, was sentenced three months in jail.

Pius Capo, of Parnassus, was sentenced two months to jail and fined $200. Anton Cipcic, who pleaded guilty of manufacturing moonshine in Brightwood, Bethel Township, was sentenced to serve two months in jail. Robert J. Miller, Pittsburgh, received a three-months jail sentence.

FIRST OFFENDERS

Thomas Janton, of Braddock was placed on probation for two years and fined $500. Charles W. Ferris, of Homestead, pleaded to two informations, and two fines totaled $700. A large number of those fined were first offenders and pleaded to informations charging only possession of contraband liquor.

WIFE FINED $5 IN FAMILY ROW

A husband's wrath aroused when he saw his estranged wife with another man today resulted in the woman, Mrs. Eva Walls, 40, of 1314 Forbes street, being fined $5 or five days in jail in Morals Court. The husband, Joseph F. Walls, 38, 1731 Forbes street, was discharged, and the $30 bond of Norman Tress, 40, 626 Lillian street, was forfeited when he failed to appear.

The trio was arrested at midnight at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. Wall charges Tress was in company with his wife and a brawl resulted when he reprimanded the couple.

The Congress of Clubs continues to grow, as every report made yesterday at the annual meeting shows. Business to the amount of $72,919.93 was done throughout the clubhouse, this amount being $9,944.93 above the budget. The gross dining room receipts were $49,816.64, which represented service to 55,470 persons. The mortgage was reduced to $41,000 by the payment of $1,000.

Another interesting item was reported by the membership committee which had contributed $300 (the largest single committee gift) raised at the Christmas bazar. The drama committee gave the second largest gift, $100, which it had raised. After Miss Helen Bennett, chairman of recreation, made her report and modestly neglected to take credit for much that was due her, Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston, Congress president, informed the audience that Miss Bennett had carried on the dancing classes during the illness of Karl Heinrich, dancing instructor, and had arranged the dance recital, which was so successfully conducted for two evenings last week. Incidentally, Miss Bennett has increased the size of the classes, has designed most of the costumes and trained the classes.

Mrs. John H. Bricker accepted an eleventh-hour request to be chairman of the tellers, taking the place of Mrs. T. S. Loring, who was ill. The ticket was elected unanimously. The amendment to the by-laws relative to the election of the nominating committee was adopted. A musical program was furnished by John Schimpf, violinist, with Frank Kennedy at the piano.

It is also of interest to note that all business was transacted and the meeting finished at the expected hour, 4 o'clock.

Nationally and internationally famous men and women, including several Wellesley alumnae, will address the meetings of the conference, which will take place in Alumnae Hall, the building presented to the college by the alumnae and opened in the autumn of 1923. Among the speakers will be Miss Sarah Wambaugh, expert adviser to the Peruvian government for the Tacna-Arica plebescite during 1925-26, who will talk on "Adventures in Diplomacy." Mary B. Gilson, '99, member of the research staff of Industrial Relations Counselors, Inc., and Dr. Olga Knopf, psychologist and psychiatrist, of Vienna.

Ride for Blind

Mrs. Moses Ruslander, general chairman for the boat ride for the blind on June 6, has called a meeting of her committee for tomorrow at the Workshop for the Blind. As all Pittsburgh knows, the "week for the blind" has become a thing of the past since the Association for the Blind joined the Welfare Fund, and now the boat ride is the annual event through which the association seeks to interest the public in the sightless and their activities.

The prevention of blindness, conservation of vision, instruction and employment for blind people in professions and industries among the sightless, and in business enterprises of their own, to supervise, standardize and market blind-made products and to procure relief for the aged and infirm blind are all included in the work of the association.

Mrs. Ruslander has on her committee Mrs. D. T. Jonas, Mrs. Mary E. Mulhatten, Mrs. John R. Hermes, Mrs. Eugene Friedlander, Mrs. J. Rosenthal, Miss Mary Burbank and Mrs. Agnes Bongarts. Other committees are assisting.

The closing meeting of the Linden Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the school this evening. Election of officers will take place at the business session and the students will furnish a musical program as the entertainment feature.

The second annual reunion dinner of the class of '28, Margaret Morrison Carnegie College, will be an event of tomorrow evening in Webster Hall. Miss Hannah Eastman is general chairman.

That the Red Cross is essentially an emergency organization and is therefore always prepared to function was emphasized by Miss Catherine S. Leverich, chairman of volunteer service, New York County Chapter, at the May Day breakfast of the Pittsburgh Chapter in the William Penn Hotel yesterday. Miss Leverich detailed the vast work of her chapter's volunteers after she had been given a witty introduction by Augustus K. Oliver, chairman of the Pittsburgh Chapter, who presided at the breakfast.

Gray Ladies

The chief feature was the graduation of the second Gray Ladies' class, including Frances Tinker Brown, Suzanna Leota Edmonds, Margarett Eaton Jamison, Yolande Marchande, Marion Elder Montgomery, Frances Speer Reed and Bess Jamison Weir. To them Mr. Oliver presented their certificates upon roll call by Mrs. George E. Alter, and Mrs. George Phelps Rose, chairman of volunteer service, presented their pins. Dr. Henry Rolfe Brown, of the United States Veterans' Hospital, where the Gray Ladies trained, addressed the class.

Mrs. Henry Robinson Rea, whose name is synonymous with that of the Gray Ladies, recalled their beginning at Walter Reed Hospital during the war and read a message from Miss Margaret H. Lower, Red Cross field director at Walter Reed.

The breakfast was a cheerful affair, made so largely by the uniforms and veils of the different services, the red and white of administration, the dark blue and white of production, the yellow of the staff assistants and the blue of the canteen workers, who, under Mrs. Charles B. Ellis, formed a hostess committee. Large red crosses on the front of the honor table and across the window behind it added a striking note, and down the length of the table stood dolls dressed to represent all the departments of work. Vases of spring flowers were at either end and on the piano.

Dance to Be Given Bud June 18

Not only will there be entertainments for the buds of the coming winter during the "little season," but there'll be at least one more party for a bud of the past season in June.

Because of illness or mourning in the families the formal debut of several girls was postponed last winter. And entertainments probably will be given for some of these debs during the next few weeks.

Harold H. Robertson will entertain with a ball on June 18 in the Allegheny Country Club for his daughter, Sylvia, a deb of the past winter. Her debut was postponed because of the death of her grandmother, Mrs. James C. Robertson.

Sylvia has just returned home from a visit in Cape Cod.

Sometime ago I remarked that Madelaine Alexander, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander, would be a debutante of this winter, and that her father and mother would give a ball for her in the Pittsburgh Club in the holiday season.

Debut In June

Madelaine will make her debut, I've just learned, in the little season at a tea her mother will give at "Franklin Farms," Sewickley Heights, on Wednesday, June 25.

This year few folks, if any, from here will attend the Cleveland spring horse show, since it will come June 4 to June 7, and our show in the show ring on Sewickley Heights will be an event of June 5, 6 and 7.

The T. M. Girdlers, of Cleveland, formerly of Sewickley, will attend the Cleveland horse show this year. They have a number of entries already, and have taken a box for the event.

Mrs. James Dickinson Rhodes and her daughter, Melus, are in Switzerland just now, and will not return to the States until mid-July, when they will go directly to the Rhodes' summer home in Alder Creek, N. Y.

THE SPORT SUIT LOSES NO GROUND IN FASHION GAME

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, MAY 27.—The sports suit proves itself a real good sport this season. For not only is it as useful and comfortable as ever, but it has taken to itself the additional merit of being unusually smart and becoming. With the advent of the picturesque and extremely feminine fashions of last autumn, it was thought by many that the strictly sports suit would be eclipsed for some time for any but strictly sports use. The rather severe fashions obtaining the past few seasons gave impetus to clothes of the sports type. One saw them everywhere and couturiers were forced to recognize their importance and give them adequate representation. This year the sport suit is perhaps not quite as important as its place was taken by the semi-tailored little tweed suit or frock. But there are so many women who do not care for the suit of the strictly tailored variety, but whose inclinations are to the suit or ensemble that looks as well on the links as on the street. And therefore such clothes find a warm welcome, however frilly and frivolous the prevailing fashions may be. And so we find the sports ensemble tampered with little touches and conceits that add immeasureably to the charm of that type of costume.

THE EXPENSIVELY simple frock is always a triumph and every smart designer offers such frock with an assurance of success. The sketch today is Chantal's version of such a frock, which she offers in the form of a delightful and complexly simple afternoon frock in beige georgette. Madame Chantal is consistently original and in this instance we find that she has applied originality in the unusual draping on the bodice and skirt to give distinction and appeal to an otherwise simple frock. The narrow belt, tied in a bow-knot in front is only moderately high. A group of loosely falling pleats soften the line of skirt at front.

THE other drawing is of a sports ensemble as defined by the genius of Patou, and is a striking example of the present trend of this type of costume. It is of white crepella and the jumper is of black and white striped wool, belted in black leather. The short, straight jacket follows the simple cardigan lines, and the skirt is smartly pleated.

Reymers' FOUNTAINS

There is a thrill of quality in anything you order at a Reymers' Fountain. The ice cream, for example, is made of fresh, rich cream without artificial thickening; only eggs that we know to be fresh are used in making egg nogs and other egg drinks; sandwich meats are the best obtainable, and so it is with everything served.

You will enjoy your visit to a Reymers' Fountain.

George Sharp's Players Are Ritzy in "Ritzy" For Farewell

By GEORGE SEIBEL

SIXTY-TWO WEEKS of George Sharp's stock company at the Pitt Theater are being brought to an end this week with a comedy that shows these players at their best.

George Seibel

"Ritzy" it is called, and the authors are Viva Tattersall and Sidney Toler. It is a modern fairy tale—light as a feather, yet it has its lesson. But its chief virtue is that it gives the popular members of George Sharp's company an opportunity to show off what they can do.

And though it's a light comedy of lightest texture, here we have the celebrated "unities" of time and place strictly observed. If Aristotle were a dramatic critic again this week, he could find no fault with the structure of "Ritzy." It opens with Mr. and Mrs. Smith in bed asleep in their one-room-and-bath in New York City; it closes with them in the same place going to sleep. The action takes place within one room, and within about 15 hours.

When Mr. and Mrs. Smith, typical young people of the day, wake up they learn she has fallen heir to $200,000, and when they go to sleep they have found out it was all a mistake.

THE CURSE OF MONEY

While they are still poor on ten thousand a year, Edgar (otherwise known as Hugh Banks) declares that money is a curse. As soon as Nancy (otherwise known as Edith King) discovers that she is an heiress they proceed to demonstrate that money is a curse.

The become "ritzy."

They quarrel about where they are going to buy a summer home, whether on Long Island or in Westchester.

He buys a new automobile lightly throws up his job, and she gives away her old clothes to go shopping for new ones.

Even the maid Tilly—otherwise known as Mabel Kroman—goes "ritzy" with a pink bow in her hair. And when she answers the telephone, she will "ascertain" whether the Smiths are in, and plain booze becomes "beverage."

These three people—Miss King, Miss Kroman, and Hugh Banks—have most of the work to do in the comedy, and they play as if they were on Broadway and had to live up to names emblazoned in bright lights.

BUT THERE ARE OTHERS

There are five other people in the cast, and all at their best. Walter F. Jones plays the attorney, Mr. Peabody, with so much humorous flavor that George Sharp ought to put on "Mr. Pim" for him when the company reopens in August.

Robert Fiske and Billy Link, the one as a gruff friend who speaks his mind, the other as a sentimental drunk, do their part perfectly.

Catherine Malson, as the hard-boiled wife of the mellow Billy Link, and Lucette Parker, as the clinging vine of the robustious Robert Fiske, infuse their few moments with just the proper spirit.

This is a fairy tale, as was said. Every fairy tale could have happened. And this one often has happened. Every fairy tale, also, ends happily. So does this one.

And with it the 62 weeks of George Sharp's season end happily. The players who have worked so conscientiously, to keep alive the tradition of good acting in three dimensions, and at the same time to keep the patrons of the theater coming to the box-office, will go to their summer vacations with the best wishes of their audience.

May the ocean waves and the mountain breezes be kind to them, to waft and wash them back this way in the fall.

For the theatrical season in Pittsburgh would no longer be complete without George Sharp's Players.

WAR DRAMA STAYS IN SHERIDAN SQUARE

"Journey's End," picturization of the powerful stage drama of war, opened a second week in the Sheridan Square yesterday. The film keeps well to the original version and is presented by a cast of capable players, headed by Colin Clive.

Brief Illness Fatal To Wheeling Dentist

WHEELING, W. Va., May 27.—Dr. Fred L. Gregory, 41, a dentist, graduate of the University of Pittsburgh is dead here, following a brief illness. The body was taken to East Palestine, O., his former home, for burial today.

Big Loser?

Polly Moran plays the stock market in "Caught Short," comedy film coming Friday to the Penn, and she loses a lot of money, but wins a lot of laughs.

Fayette Shows Gain of 10,000 in Census

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 27.—Final census figures for Fayette County as reported yesterday by Census Supervisor Wallace R. Miller show that the county has a population of 198,008 as compared with 188,104 in 1920.

RAILROAD CAR FILLED WITH WHALE IN OUR TOWN

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

"Ooh, mom, lookee!"

And we weren't "mom," but we looked anyway—in fact, we had to look about six times, just as you do at a six-ring circus to see everything, and what we saw was a monstrous "fish" that stretched to the right and left of us for 63 feet and which, so we were told, weighs 70 tons.

This "fish," which really isn't a fish at all, but that giant sea mammal known as a whale, is parked in a railroad car down in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards, opposite the Fort Pitt Hotel. It is embalmed, it lies on its right side and its yawning jaws are wide open, disclosing a mouth that looks like the Mammoth Cave in nightmare form.

While we looked, Capt. David Barnett, veteran whaling master, talked and talked. He called attention to the thinness of the whale's skin, the smallness of its eyes and discoursed on other phases of deepsea life. He told about the "killer" whales, 15-feet fish, which travel in packs like wolves and attack the big whales. And he wondered how Jonah was swallowed by a whale, when the whale's throat opening won't accommodate objects larger than a small orange.

Quite a crowd was there getting an eyeful of whale and an earful of the seafarer's talk. And everyone seemed interested in meeting up with Jonah's reputed taxicab.

The exhibition is to be open a week or longer, depending entirely on how whale-minded Pittsburgh is.

Read the Classified Ads every day and you will readily understand how they can be of service and a convenience to you.

William Farnum Aspires To Keep Family Name In Theater Lights

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 27.

William Farnum has a romantic ambition. He has just completed a featured role in Norma Talmadge's new talky, "DuBarry, Flame of Flesh." Bill's big aim in life is to star the "Last of the Farnums" either on stage or screen in "The Little Rebel," or another story worthy of her debut. The "Last of the Farnums" is his five-year-old niece, Estelle, Daughter of his brother, Dustin, and Winifred Kinston Farnum.

Just these are left now. Bill's father and mother, G. D. Farnum and Adele Largos, died years ago. They were Shakesperian troupers.

His sister, Beatrice, passed away when she was only seven.

Last July 8, Dustin passed away. Upon his little daughter, Estelle, depends the hope of bearing onward the histrionic banner of the Farnums. And her uncle Bill aspires to launch her in that profession that has been dear to the family. William is 54 today, and looks much younger. They say he gives a splendid performance in Norma's picture. He should. He was born and bred a trouper.

William Farnum

MR. HAYS ELUCIDATES

Will Hays rises to elucidate:

"There are 22,000 motion picture theaters in America. More than 50,000 in the world. To these 22,000 theaters in the U. S. A., 115,000,000 come weekly. 250,000,000 weekly attend motion picture theaters in the world."

There, my friends, you have figgurs . . .

Cecil B. De Mille has received a photostatic copy of the will of his ancestor, Antonias De Mil, who died in Holland in 1633. C. B. says that Antonias provided for his family in almost parallel terms to the provisions in his own will. The chief difference is that the De Mille of 1633 had six children (and perhaps less to will) while the picture director has but four (and millions to will).

Cecil B. De Mille

Now they're whispering that Betty Compson and Hugh Trevor 'pear to be that way about each other.

A musical eve.: Erno Rapee, Otto Harbach and Oscar Strauss taking turns playing the piano after dinner at the Rapee Bev Hills' domicile.

Hum. Beatrice Lillie reports that she went to three different parties one night and as she entered each house, the SAME butler opened the door for her. And "Bee" hadn't been downing double-water contents either.

GOLDEN

PALE DRY

SEC (extra dry)

There are three types of ginger ale flavor . . . Golden, Pale Dry and Sec (extra dry). To know which one exactly suits you, we urge that you make the "Taste Test" described below

Clicquot Club GINGER ALES

Hear the famous Clicquot Club Eskimos every Friday night at 9 o'clock over WEAF and associated stations.

THERE are three types of ginger ale flavor sold today. And Clicquot Club makes all three. All are different, all are delightful.

But one of these ginger ales is sure to suit your taste better than either of the other two. And because it is not generally known that ginger ale comes in three different flavors, we are urging people everywhere to test their tastes and find which flavor suits them best.

As a result of making this simple test, thousands of people now get greater pleasure than ever before from drinking ginger ale. They have found the flavor that suits them perfectly.

The Test—To make this test you go to your dealer and get a bottle of Clicquot Club Golden, a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry and a bottle of Clicquot Sec. Sample them all, one by one. Note the mellowness that is characteristic of them all. And note the difference in their flavor.

Clicquot Club Golden has long been known as a delightful health beverage . . . Clicquot Club Pale Dry is famous for its flavor either in recipe drinks or alone . . . and Clicquot Sec for that luscious "drier" flavor. You are sure to find, in one of these ginger ales, exactly the flavor you have always been looking for.

Same Quality Ingredients—Pure table sugar, fine Jamaica ginger root, real fruit flavors and pure water from deep rock springs . . . these are the ingredients that go into all three Clicquot Club Ginger Ales. The difference in flavor comes from the difference in blend, for each of these three has its own exclusive formula.

As a further evidence of their goodness and purity, all Clicquot Club Ginger Ales are put up in clean, new bottles. The all too common practice of using second-hand bottles is not countenanced here.

Aged Six Months in the Making—The rare, distinctive mellowness for which Clicquot Club Ginger Ales have long been famous comes from ageing six months in the making. This process is a secret with the Clicquot Club Company—a carefully guarded secret known to the makers of no other ginger ale. That is why you can never expect to duplicate Clicquot Club flavor, never find it in any ordinary ginger ale.

Therefore we urge you to go to your dealer and make the "Taste Test" today. It will show you beyond all question which ginger ale best suits your taste.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XCVI

Jimmy's laugh echoed in her ears. Fixing a tray for Jennie, Chickie paused. She saw the tide of color sweep his face; felt his hand press hers. In a sudden weakness, she sat down—closed her eyes. Close out the world—youth—gladness. She must.

Her life was finished—more completely than Jennie's. There was no future—not for her. She looked down years blank monotonous desolate. Looked and forced her lips to smile.

She couldn't go back not into the happy world again. She didn't want to. She had enough.

Now—because of Jimmy she was frightened. She wanted to hide from him and the teasing, eager look of his eyes.

There was Jennie. She could cling to Jennie. She could say, "Jimmy darling, not today. No, not tomorrow—can I leave her all alone? Now would you want a selfish piece like that sitting in your sweet little car?"

Jimmy said with a new stubbornness and a grin, "All right, girl. I'll call again." He came close and caught both of Chickie's elbows and laughed down in her face. "You need me, Chickie. Do you know that?"

She lowered her eyes.

"Yes, you do! And you need care as much as Jennie does—"

"Jimmy—please—not yet—"

Other years he had turned away. Now he shrugged. "I'm patient."

Chickie was afraid of the moment when Jennie would no longer need her. One afternoon Jennie went into the kitchen, poked about the pantry, arranging dishes. Chickie flew at her, white faced. "What do you mean, mother? Go in and sit in the sun."

Visits Mary's Place

After a while Jennie asked: "Do you mind staying at home with me so much, Chickie?"

"No—it's a gorgeous rest."

"Do you think you'll go back to work with Mr. Mitchell?"

"I don't know."

"Of course."

Yet the whole world seemed to be beckoning, calling her back, demanding that she take a part. Mary was always running in now of an evening; always insisting that Chickie come for a walk—go on a shopping tour.

One evening before dinner they stopped at Mary's house. It was time for little Edward to be in bed. He was three now—an impish, magnetic little fellow, the dark eyes full of roguery.

He said to Chickie with a grin like Jimmy's: "You very pitty—hee, hee—very pitty." He climbed into Chickie's lap, insisted that she tell the old story of "The Three Bears."

Suddenly Mary, watching them, said: "There are finer things in store for you, Chickie. That's why it happened."

Chickie hid her face against the little fellow's head. She managed with a laugh: "Ho, is this a belated condolence, Mary? You mean that you know of his marriage and offer your kind sympathy?"

Janina Telephones

Mary went on resolutely: "tell—I believe it, Chickie—I always did feel that you were born for great things. I'd forget it—if I were you—forget it—"

Just then Edward snuggled his head against Chickie's neck. His nose was cold. He said imperiously: "Stop talking—talking—talking—tell me the story, Chickie—" He twisted against her.

She put him on the floor hastily. She laughed: "You tell it, Mary—I have to go—it's late—" But she went back, kneeling on the floor and suddenly pressed the little fellow's face against her throat. She kissed him.

It was the next day that Janina called her on the phone. Chickie was so startled, hearing the clear, fine voice — an icy politeness held her, Janina said:

"Well, one thing—what's the matter? I've just called your friend, Mary Blake McPike, to find out what foul play had happened. She told me you were back in the old place. What's the big idea? Why didn't you let me know?"

"Oh, I meant to—" Chickie stammered, wondering if Mary had told too much—if Mary had let Janina know that the old folks had never been away. "I meant to—but, you see, Jennie was so ill—they came back."

"Well—listen—come over to lunch tomorrow—I've got a bushel of news."

Harry in Town

Janina met her at the restaurant. Janina's smile was just open welcome. "Fine old thing, you are, Chickie, and you know I love you! Couldn't you spare a moment to answer? Here, I've just bombarded that hotel with mail. Why didn't you leave your forwarding address. No telling what valuable letters are lying up there in wait—"

"I left in such a hurry—"

"Thank heaven for Jennie and her illness if it brought you back—bury yourself on a ranch!"

"I like it, Janina."

Janina leaned across the table. "You're coming out with us this Saturday night, Chickie. I've got something choice—a real one—an honest-to-God man this time. No—I'm not joking, Chickie. He's a find! I've saved him for you. I'm not his type or you'd never get him—"

Chickie tilted her chin—"Men! Give him to Stella!"

Janina said in an awed, stricken tone: "Chickie—are you thinking of him—yet?"

"Don't be an idiot!"

"Well—life is long, ole dear—remember that. Youth is short. By the way, he's in town. I met him the other night. We had quite a talk."

Sends Money Back

"I hope you didn't tell him where I was, Janina?"

"Well—I said you were on a farm and having a mad time of it and breaking all the farmers' hearts. I didn't tell him anything more. What business is it of his?"

"Was she out here with him?"

"Not then—I believe he's here on business. Dear Papa Moore has given him a nice, soft job, I understand. Anyway, he's stopping at the Astor. I'm not sure whether he said he was going back and they were both coming out for a visit or that she was to join him—" Janina shrugged. Suddenly she said: "An odd thing, Chickie, but I'd like to bet a hat he's not happy—"

"Keep your consolation, Janina—"

"You'll come with us, Saturday?"

"I can't—I can't leave, Jennie."

Janina's lips curled: "Let the king go by, I suppose?"

"Yes—let him—all of them, Janina! I never bow the knee to a king again, old dear."

That night Chickie unpacked her trunk. She locked her door as she did this. She hid away all of the baby's clothes. She drew out the envelope with the $250 Barry Dunne had sent. Oh, he didn't want it to suffer because of him.

She wrote a note. It was this: "It may not rejoice because of you—neither shall it suffer."

She put the bills in this. She sent it to him.

ONE PROBLEM of love is how to win the man you like who seems more interested in another girl.

The most important step is to keep his friendship. He may turn to you for consolation when the other girl passes out of his life.

Many a good husband has been caught on the rebound. Much depends upon your attitude toward the other girl. Never knock her. You knock yourself with him when you do. Don't praise her too much either. Emphasize the fact of how wonderful he is and how much he deserves love and happiness.

He may begin to think he is too good for her and that she doesn't appreciate him enough. That is a good gain. Listen much. Say little!

Strategy Used to Keep Couple from Comparing Notes

For the fraction of a second after Katie uttered her surmise concerning "something foony goin' on at dot Larches," she kept her eyes fixed upon the kitchen stove she apparently had been addressing, and I frantically seized the opportunity to get her away from the kitchen before she should turn and see Mrs. Ticer's unconsciously betraying face.

Stepping between my neighbor and my offended little maid, I took Katie by the arm and turned her around toward the door, giving a swift glance at her molding board as I did so. With her usual celerity my little maid had been working as she talked and the results of her labors, six toothsome-looking apple dumplings, were ready for the oven.

"I almost forgot what I came in for, Katie," I said, speaking far more rapidly than is my wont. "Before I go out again, I simply must go over the house with you and plan where our guests are to sleep. Can't these wait, or—Mrs. Ticer—couldn't you put them in and watch them for Katie while we're gone?"

I felt like a two-gun woman as I noted the effect of my double volley. The look of telltale amazement on Mrs. Ticer's face was wiped off in an instant and was replaced by a quick, eager expression of response to my query.

"Why, sure thing," she said heartily. "Run along, Katie, I'll attend to the dumplings."

But my little maid loosened herself decisively from my clasp and turned jealously to her stove.

"I not sure of dees oven," she said in a pretense that a two-year-old baby could have discovered. "Soom times she trot all right, oder times she keeck oop her heels like vun leetle colt."

Scorning the temperature indicator, she opened the oven door and thrust her arm inside.

"I guess she haf to do," she said, picking up the pan of dumplings and putting it carefully in the oven. "Und you no need to bodder, Meesis Ticer, unless I gone more dan twenty meenits. You no vant me longer dan dot?" She turned to me, with anxious eyes emphasizing her desire to return to her kitchen before Mrs. Ticer should have the chance to inspect the baking dumplings.

"No, you'll be back before then," I assured her earnestly, so relieved because she had not discovered Mrs. Ticer's knowledge of events at The Larches that I would have promised her almost anything.

"Vell, den I coom," she said loftily, and untying her kitchen apron she opened the kitchen door for me with a flourish, and held it for me to pass through with a deference which gave me a mental chuckle, despite my irritation at her, as I contrasted her perfunctory meekness with her truculent independence of the minute before.

I knew how to deflate her, however, and I began the process as soon as we were out of earshot of Mrs. Ticer.

"Katie," I said quietly, "you surprised me very much just now when you talked of my father's finger print business. I did not understand your reference at all. What do you mean by it?"

Her hand flew up to her throat with a gesture she always uses when she is frightened or sorely embarrassed.

"You—you not know vot I mean?" she quavered.

"It does not matter whether I do or not," I told her severely. "That is not the question. But this thing is certain. There is no such thing as you mention in sight in my father's rooms. I never have seen it displayed among his belongings. If he has such a thing it must be shut away in a trunk or a locked drawer. How did you come to know about it?"

I put the last question with the swiftness of a lashing whip. As if it indeed had been a blow, Katie caught frantically at my arm and drew me into the library, the door of which we were passing.

"Don't let old vomans hear?" she urged tremulously, and I remembered an occasion when Mother Graham had made an issue of my little maid's snooping, and I had been compelled to uphold her and issue a mandate that if I ever caught Katie listening at doors again she would have to leave our service. For the moment I had forgotten that ultimatum, and I sent up a mental anathema upon my own lack of foresight. Was it possible that my rue to keep Katie's smoldering jealousy of Mrs. Ticer from breaking into flame was to have the disastrous result of banishing the trying, faulty little maid who nevertheless was as loving and faithful as she was efficient?

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, May 28

The lunar transits for this day make for stirring and important events, with the prospect of an advantageous change of travel, possibly in connection with promotion or honors in employment or in the office of those in power or authority. It is a propitious time for pushing toward desired ends, since those in authority are friendly disposed, and also personal popularity is enhanced under the dominant rulership. But be careful not to be the means of self-undoing by sharp words or impulsive, indulgent or clamorous conduct.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of advancement and growth, with a change or journey of benefit promised. It is a favorable time for dealing with superiors or the authorities, but the fortunate trend of events should not be negatived by rash, hasty or contentious conduct or speech. Personal affairs are fortunately aspected.

A child born on this day should have many talents and social graces fitting it for success in either employment or in public place, but it should be disciplined in self-control and amiability, as it may be restless, nervous and self-indulgent.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

These Modern Husbands

All a woman asks, in the Spring, is something to drape her sentiment and her illusions on; but, alas, that is almost as hard to find, these days, as a man who looks romantic in a bathing-suit.

When a man refers to his wife as "The Missus," it is a sign that he is either very fond of her or a little afraid of her—usually, both.

After it's all over, it's a mystery to a married pair, how the little disagreement over a silly card-trick ended in a life-battle and a division of the community property.

A woman may be either shallow or as deep as the sea; but she MUST not be as transparent as the Marine Gardens. It's the opaque type that keeps a man wondering, guessing—and coming back to explore.

* * *

No use trying to punish a husband. The man, who is "all broken up" over a domestic spat, will always find some sweet tender-hearted little woman right at hand to undertake the task of re-assembling him.

You can always tell how long a woman has been married, by whether she worries, weeps, rages or merely yawns and looks resigned, when a man is an hour overdue.

As long as a woman nags a man, he cheerfully and stubbornly goes his own sweet way. But, when she stops asking questions and begins to look "intuitive," he becomes as wary as the pet dog who has heard the word "bath" casually mentioned.

"There are so many things that a woman can do, that a man can't," says Mrs. Oldfield, Congresswoman. Yep. She can do lots more things with a hairpin; but she will never be able to fold a newspaper, get a cork out of a bottle or think up an alibi, with a man's natural dexterity.

Sometimes a wife is like a walking conscience—always right at a man's elbow when he starts to crook it, or to reach for a sweetie.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The 'Flirting Husband'

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please give me the benefit of the consensus of opinion of broad-minded, sophisticated people on the subject (people of the better class, of course)?

Does it not show disrespect for a man's wife for him to flirt covertly with strangers when in public places with his wife? I do not want to be narrow or unsophisticated, but it humiliates me. Is it done in the best circles abroad?

I am a good deal younger than my husband, just as good looking as he is, and we love each other dearly. I believe he does this to feed his vanity. If I were to pay him back in his own coin (which I disdain to do) he would be frightfully jealous and "lose confidence" in me, as he has often expressed his opinion of married women who flirt.

Does it not give the other woman the impression that he would prefer her company?

MRS. M. G.

My heart aches for you, dear friend, for having to bear this cross of your husband's bad taste and downright cruelty. Such conduct does not confine itself to any special class—it is cruelty no matter what the class, no matter whether the people are of a class that should know better, rich or poor, American or foreign. Your husband should be made to be ashamed of himself, just as anyone else who does a cruel thing should be ashamed of himself. For this sort of miserable low-minded conduct, I would vote for the return of the whipping post.

I will not advise that you "go and do likewise," for such stooping would, of course, lower you in your own estimation, to say nothing of your husband's. Nor do I want to have you harp or nag about this. But I do wish that you could find some way—gracious, if possible, and perhaps mingled with humor, but not with wit—to show your errant husband that he is casting a terrifying shadow on your love for him. And may the sun of both your loves dispel soon this ugly shadow.

Footwear for the Afternoon Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper to wear silver slippers to an afternoon wedding?

MRS. H. B.

No, not for a guest. A guest at an afternoon wedding wears afternoon clothes, with shoes that are appropriate for afternoon clothes.

Household Hints

If silver is never washed with soap it will retain its lustre. Hold under hot water faucet and use unsoaped water, then polish with chamois skin.

Now that fabric shoes are stepping into the fashion path, the problem of how to remove grass stains is a consideration. If they are white the stain can be taken off easily by mixing one teaspoonful of peroxide of hydrogen and a few drops of ammonia; then wash off with water.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Daily Care of Baby's Skin

DR. COPELAND

Most mothers go about it with the greatest confidence. Many another, particularly the young mother, starts in with fear and trembling. She is fearful lest she may let the tiny thing fall, or some other accident happen to it.

There is no care too great for the little helpless babies given us to protect. It is this protecting care that guarantees good health in future years.

The skin of a newly-born baby is extremely sensitive. The slightest heat or cold is felt by the tender skin. It is chilled by the slightest exposure.

At first, bathing of the infant should be done by the nurse. She takes the child on her lap, and after sponging and soaping the skin the baby is gently dipped into the tub for no more than a mere rinsing.

After a few days of this method the infant can be gradually accustomed to immersion to the neck. The period of bathing is extended gradually.

Cold baths should never be given an infant. The bath is best given midway between the morning feedings.

It is important that a pure, mild soap be used. If it is too strong the tender skin will be irritated. Pure white castile, or olive oil soap is best for the baby.

After bathing the skin should be thoroughly dried. There is danger of the skin chapping unless this is done. A baby powder is used, usually in order to make sure of making the skin perfectly dry. This keeps the skin from chafing.

It is extremely important that a child shall not be left in wet garments. If it is, there will be chafing and chapping of the skin and much discomfort. Wet clothing should be changed at once.

A healthy baby should have a daily bath during the first two years. The scalp should be washed daily only until the child is six months old. In hot weather, a baby may be sponged off in the early evening. This will be cooling and soothing.

Petroleum oil is often used for the skin of the body, but not for the face. It is soothing and protective at the same time.

If a rash should appear on the baby's skin, it may be due to the wearing of too much clothing. The baby will perspire freely and then the rash appears. Or a skin irritation may result from wrong feeding. The milk mixture may not be quite right. It may be well to make a change in the milk supply. Your doctor can pass judgment upon this question.

Every baby is better off if it has a room set apart from the rest of the family. It should sleep alone in a bed and in fact all through childhood it should sleep by itself.

The temperature of such a room should be between 68 degrees and 70 degrees F., and not over 72 degrees. At night it should not fall below 65 degrees during the baby's first year.

A clean, sweetly smiling baby is the most appealing thing in the world. This should be every child's heritage. A perfect skin usually denotes good health and a well baby is apt to be a happy baby.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Perspiration of the feet is a common trouble. It can be overcome by adding baking soda to the footbath, by dusting the feet with a mixture of one ounce of zinc dioxide and two ounces of talcum powder, by changing stockings frequently—fresh ones every day—and by pouring talcum into shoes. When the skin between the toes peels the cause is usually ringworm.

Scientific dentistry is one of the blessings of the age. No woman should spare any expense to have her little pearls kept in order; good teeth have more to do with her appearance than expensive fabrics wrapped about her body, or real pearls hanging from her neck. Broken teeth can be repaired, yellow ones bleached and false teeth can be pivoted in to fill vacancies. Nice teeth, well cared for, are necessary.

When wrinkles have broken down the youthful lines of the face, when necks have gone blooey, or double chins have appeared, it is particularly important that a woman should have a beautifully waved coiffure. Only the very young can get away with straight hair, sleeked back in severe fashion. The oldsters must have undulations and lovely head lines.

The old-fashioned girl used to boil quince seeds or flaxseed, making a gummy mess which she used doing her hair into crimps and beau-catchers. A grey deposit was left on the strands and the hair felt crisp, as if it had been dipped in sugar. Now Miss Beauty-seeker can buy bandoline at any beauty shop or drug store. It is inexpensive and satisfactory as a hair curling medium.

The Talking Picture Story of

Starring

MARIE DRESSLER
POLLY MORAN

Based on

A Cosmopolitan Production.

Mrs. Patty Smith, ex-boarding house mistress, has made so much money on the stock market, that she has decided to take a trip to Atlantic City with her son, William, and her friendly enemy, Mrs. Marie Jones, in whose boarding house she now lives, and Mrs. Jones' daughter, Jenny.

"Maybe we can get our mothers to kiss and make up for keeps in Atlantic City, Billy," Jenny says.

"We don't have to get our mothers to make up," William says, "but I don' think we could get 'em to kiss at the blarney stone under a full moon."

William and Jenny, not only fail to get their mothers to fall on each other's neck at Atlantic City, but they stop falling on their own necks.

"William wanted to marry me without your consent, Ma," Jenny says.

"Well, I want you to be happy, so go ahead and marry him," sighs Mrs. Jones.

"Well, marrying a Smith is the same thing," says Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones figured that, when a pretty girl is wearing them, clothes may make a man. So, she spent most of her savings on Jenny's wardrobe and the rest of it on a hotel suite in Atlantic City. That's the way she fished for William for Polly.

Meanwhile Mrs. Smith decided the best way for William to get Jenny, was to make her jealous.

"If Jenny should see you with that pretty little actress, Fanny Lee, she might change her mind—or get green or cross-eyed," Mrs. Smith says.

Polly used to get manicured every day so she could have someone to talk to who wouldn't run out on her.

"There's an ambitious old fortune-hunter here, who wants her daughter to marry my son," she says.

"Tellher your son is going to get married to someone else," says the manicurist, who has yellow hair and doesn't consider holding hands with Mrs. Smith, anything that's likely to lead to a breach of promise suit.

FRENCH MAY FACE CARDS

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Buc Lefties Trailing. Fail to Equal Foemen. Sherdel Breaks Streak.

Cards Playing Real Ball. Hard Blow to Giants. Jones and His Clubs.

SOUTHPAW DRIVE IS NOT GOING OVER

WHEN THE PRESENT baseball season opened it was doped out as one in which left-hand pitchers were going to rule. With a view to stopping the left-hand sluggers on opposing teams, almost every club in the two big leagues had loaded up with southpaw flingers, and the belief appeared to be general that the more fork-handers an outfit carried the better chance it would have in competition with its pennant rivals.

Jess Petty

However, the thing has worked out just the opposite way in the case of the Pirates. Though they have in Larry French, Jess Petty, Percy Jones and Ralph Erickson more southside slabmen than any other club except the Giants, the locals have not made nearly as good a record with this quartet as the left-handers on other team have made against Pittsburgh. Petty's defeat at the hands of the Cardinals yesterday was the tenth reverse suffered by the home southpaws, whereas against this total they have won only five games. That's losing an average of two out of every three games, while on the other side of the book enemy left-handers have managed to get an even break in 12 tilts with the Bucs.

IN 15 STARTS, the Pirate southpaws have lasted the distance only three times. Petty has failed to go the route once in six games. Jones has been lifted twice in as many starts, and French has been taken out four times in seven contests. French has won three and lost five. Petty has won one and lost four. Erickson has won one and lost none, and Jones has won none and lost one.

As far as lasting the distance is concerned, opposing southpaws also have failed to make a very impressive record against the Rovers, yet they have managed to get an even split, winning six and losing the same number. The Bucs have been beaten by Bill Walker twice, and by Carl Hubbell, Watson Clark, Jumbo Elliott and Bill Sherdel once each, while scoring two victories over Sherdel and one each over Eppa Rixey, Jakie May, Bill Hallahan and Arthur Teachout.

AT THAT, PITTSBURGH isn't the only club that has failed to get the anticipated big results with its left-handers. Manager Wilbert Robinson had counted upon Clark and Elliott to be his best bets in the National League pennant fight, but his right-handers have done a great deal more to keep the Dodgers going at their present fast clip. The two lefties have won only seven games against six defeats.

Wilbert Robinson

John McGraw has been able to get only an even break with his four southpaws, Walker, Hubbell, Herb Pruett and Clarence Mitchell have turned in only nine victories for the Giants against the same number of defeats.

AS A MATTER of fact, the southpaw boom has been a bust over almost the entire National League circuit. St. Louis is the only club except Brooklyn that have won more games than it has lost with left-handers on the hill. The Cards have won nine and lost six, the Reds have won four and lost six, the Braves and Phillies have each won two and lost four, and the Cubs have won none and lost one. The southpaw record for the whole league up to date is only 38 victories against 46 defeats. The lefties have failed to come through with the big sweep predicted for them.*

IN THE AMERICAN League the left-handers have been more successful, their record up to today being 39 wins against 30 defeats. But this is due largely to the work of Bob Grove and Rube Walberg for the Athletics, these two having won 12 games while losing only three. Grove has won six and lost none, and Walberg has won six and lost three.

The left-handers on the other clubs have merely broken even, winning and losing 27 games, as follows: Washington, won eight and lost five; St. Louis, won six and lost three; New York, won six and lost six; Detroit, won five and lost seven; Cleveland, won one and lost two, and Chicago, won one and lost four.

WHEN BILL SHERDEL was given credit for the Cards' victory over the Pirates yesterday, though forced to retire after five innings, it marked a rather unusual success for that particular left-hander. He had not beaten the locals in more than a year.

Sparky Adams

Sherdel's last previous decision over the Bucs was scored on September 1, 1928, when he defeated Carmen Hill, 4 to 1. From that time up to yesterday he started six times against the Picaroons but his closest approach to a victory was a 13-innings tie against Hill, Steve Swetonic and Ervin Brame on May 1, last year, in St. Louis.

THE CARDS DEMONSTRATED in their first victory of the season over the Pirates yesterday that the sensational drive in which they have won eight straight games and 17 of their last 18 contests has not been due to any series of flukes. They are playing top-notch baseball. Whether they can maintain a consistant winning gait on their present long trip is a question, but right now they are acting the part of league leaders, presenting a strong defense in addition to a powerful attack. Their chances depend largely upon the continued holding up of Spuarky Adams at third base. At present the work of the former Pirate leaves nothing to be desired. He is hitting only .270 for the season, but is gradually boosting his mark, and was a big factor in yesterday's victory.*

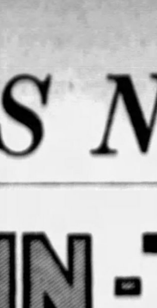
IMPURE WATER HANDICAP TO BUILDING

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Golfing folks of Allegheny County interested in the new courses at the North and South Parks have been having a tough time keeping a rein on their patience—they have been eager to know just how soon the new courses are to be thrown open for their benefit, why they have not been opened before this time, how they are progressing. The questions are easily asked, but tremendously hard to answer—hard because the necessary explanation calls for the inquirer to be more or less familiar with golf course construction.



Paul B. Riis

In a few well-chosen words, however, Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis today cleared the matter up, setting aside dark and gloomy rumors and offering real encouragement to all county free linksmen.

BOTH P..RKS O. K.

Maybe you haven't heard it, but the rumor was being mouthed that the North Park was to be abandoned, despite the fact it is almost completed. That was a loco rumor. The real dope is that water—the same stuff that runs under bridges—saved that layoff from being dropped from the lists, and you may depend on it, the course will be opened for play next year, according to schedule.

They were also gossiping the dope that the South Park would be shut tighter than a trap this season, and wouldn't likely be open until the middle of 1931—which also was all wet, because Director Riis could open the South Park course for play in July. But he won't open it in July—not until Labor Day, in September—for the very good reason that he does not intend to have the turf ruined before it has had its chance to get a necessary seasoning. And when it does open, it will be opened for play only on Saturdays and Sundays. This may seem too little of a fine thing to the average enthusiast, but it will be done only in order that the enthusiast is properly protected for his golf in the years to come.

The matter of water at the North Park caused more or less of discouragement to Director Riis in his construction of that golf course and the building of a swimming pool. Two creeks running through it were found by experts from Washington, D. C., to be contaminated. Director Riis said:

PLAN TEST WELL

"We found, to our dismay, that the nearest water we could get was about five miles distant, and that it would cost us $10,000 a mile for piping, and a high water rent. If we accepted the Shaler Township proposition it would cost us about $62,000 for installation, plus more than $8,000 a year for water rent. So we engaged the famous nationally-known geologist, J. T. Sanford, Jr., who investigated and informed us we have excellent chances of striking a sufficient water supply in the park itself. Sanford is about to drill a test well to determine that supply, and if that turns out satisfactory, our worries will be at an end, for it will cost us only $16,000 to install pumps and pump houses to supply water for the swimming pool as well as the golf course.

"The course is virtually completed, except for the greens, in the North Park. We seeded all 18 fairways this spring. Within six weeks of the time we have water, I promise you the course will be in playable condition. And I feel certain we will get that much-needed water.

"Just to show you how really in earnest we are about the North Park course, and how much faith we have in its going through as the general satisfaction of everyone concerned, John Jay Burke, city office manager of the county parks, made a survey of the course last Friday, and is now compiling a booklet describing each hole unto itself

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: JOHN HOWARD PAYNE, AUTHOR OF "HOME SWEET HOME," NEVER HAD A HOME—Payne's homeless wandering life lends great pathos to "Home Sweet Home." The song is part of the opera "Clari," or "The Maid of Milan," which first was performed on the English stage in May, 1823. The opera itself long has been forgotten, but Payne's great song lives on. The author of the song died in far-away Tunis, Africa. His body was disinterred some time after his death and brought to America for burial. THE PLANARIA—The planaria is, in a restricted sense, the genus of turbellarian worms of flat and primitive construction. They are unisexual, have great regenerative powers, and can multiply by fission (breaking into many pieces). THE ROCK OF THE SAIL—The Rock of the Sail is situated in the Wallis Archipelago, northeast of the Fiji Islands in the Pacific. From a distance, the Rock has the appearance of a sail of a bark running before the wind. It is a source of danger to mariners and is marked on maps and described in nautical books.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Pirate fans today were convinced that while their favorites were out of the first-place reckoning for the immediate future, the Cardinals had every right to grace the lofty position they now hold. Up to yesterday, the Redbirds had bowed four times to the Oaklanders, but in the interim between the last and present appearance of the Cards, they have been places and done things.

Gabb Street's entry gave the crippled Buccos a 10 to 4 beating yesterday. The second game is on for this afternoon. Skipper Ens has only one pitcher with sufficient rest to take on the invaders, but Heinie Meine has a sore arm so Ens may have to call upon Larry French, who worked a hard game against the Cubs Saturday. Southpaw Al Grabowskie is ready to twirl for the enemy.

P. WANER CRIPPLED

Paul Waner has been out of the last two battles and he may be unable to play this afternoon. It's just one thing after another with the Buccos.

Gabby Street, it would seem, has a better balanced ball nine than the Robins, who are only one-half a game from the top. All Gabby needed to get his club into the thick of the fight was some better than fair pitching; he has been getting good slab work and as a result his team has won 17 out of its last 18 games. Yesterday's was their eighth consecutive victory and they had a previous string of nine successes.

Street is getting great results from Sparky Adams, who is now stationed at the hot corner, where he is playing fine ball. Little Sparky was a pest to his former mates in the initial game of the series; he made three hits, including a pair of doubles, and he scored three runs. The St. Louis players say his fielding has been excellent. His baserunning always was good.

GELBERT STARRING

Another reason for the success of the Cardinals is the all-around play of Shortstop Charlie Gelbert. This up-and-coming shortstop was pointed out last year by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph as one of the best prospects in his posi-

OUIMET, VOIGT, VON ELM WIN

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 27.—(AP.)—Two members of the American Walker Cup team, Dr. O. F. Willing and Donald K. Moe, both of Portland, Ore., were eliminated in the second round of the British amateur golf championship this morning. The other two Walker Cup players, Francis Ouimet and George Von Elm, advanced to the third round after comparatively easy matches, while a third, Roland MacKenzie, advanced without playing, when his scheduled opponent scratched his entry.

George Voigt, New York, also a Walker Cup team member, won his way into the fourth round of the championship by defeating J. R. A. Stroyan, Sunningdale, 6 up and 4 to play.

Dr. Willing was removed from the competition early in the day by William Spark, a Scot, 2 up and 1 to play, and Moe fell before Rex Hartley, brilliant young English player, 4 up and 2 to play.

Ouimet won from a fellow Bostonian, Joshua Crane, 5 up and 4 to play, and Von Elm stopped Dr. Gardiner Hill, St. Andrews, 4 up and 2 to play.

OTHER AMERICANS WIN

Other Americans to advance were J. B. Gwaltney, New York, and Walter G. Povargue, Aberdeen, Wash., the latter by default.

Other Americans defeated included Howard C. Davis, Salem, Mass., and Eric M. Chambers, Portland, Ore.

Frank C. Stevens, Jr., Hollywood, Cal., won a third round match from F. P. McConnell, Portrush, 5 up and 4 to play.

Frank Sweeney, American business man, who has homes in London, Los Angeles and Spokane, defeated J. B. Beck, 4 and 3. Beck is a leading English golfer who defeated Chick Evans in the ama-

Sharkey Sees Title Bout Battle of Left Hands

By JACK SHARKEY,
American Heavyweight Champion.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., May 27.—Left hands will play a mighty role when Max Schmeling and I get tangled up in our 15-round bout for the heavyweight championship of the world at the Yankee Stadium, New York City, on June 12.

Jack Sharkey.

Unless one is able to punch short and true with a left hand, he never can hope to reach the fistic heights. From the time I started boxing I have given much attention to improving my left hand attack.

It is great to be able to bowl over the opposition with a fierce right hand sock, but, unless one also is able to shoot with his left, he finds few opportunities for the crushing right hand kayo.

When Schmeling knocked out Johnny Risko, he was heralded chiefly as a right hand puncher. Yet the night I saw him defeat Paulino it was his left hand which gained him the victory. The German stood off and popped the awkward Paulino with left jabs and hooks until the latter hardly could see.

Therefore, when I oppose Schmeling I shall be prepared to meet a boxer who is able to use both mitts equally well.

PRAISED BY CORBETT

Jim Corbett, former world heavyweight champion, told me recently that the more Schmeling relies upon his left hand the better it will be for me. Corbett always has felt that I have the best left hand of any fighter since he was at the peak of his career. Corbett, as everybody knows, had a marvelous left hand. This was the hand that enabled Jim to win the heavyweight championship of the world from John L. Sullivan at New Orleans, back in 1892.

It was a left hand attack that paved the way for my knockout victories over Jim Maloney, Tommy Loughran and Phil Scott.

I shall try to live up to the opinion Corbett has about my ability to use a left hand better than any other man in the boxing game today.

I always shall remember my first meeting with Corbett. It occurred in Boston, six years ago, when I was just beginning to attract attention as a boxer. Corbett was showing at a Hub theater and Johnny Buckley took me back stage to meet the former champion.

"FIGHTS LIKE IRISHMAN"

Corbett chatted with me for 10 minutes and gave me some valuable advice in regard to boxing.

DONOHUE, ALLEN GO TO GIANTS

CINCINNATI, May 27.—(AP.)—Sydney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, today announced he had traded Pete Donohue, pitcher, and Ethan Allen, outfielder, to the New York Giants for Pat Crawford, utility outfielder, and pinch-hitter.

The trade was the second within a week involving the Reds and Giants, as Hughey Critz, second baseman, was sent to New York several days ago in exchange for Larry Benton, pitcher.

Donohue came to the Reds about 10 years ago from Texas Christian University. He is 30 years old, a right-handed twirler and spent all his major league time with the Reds. He has not been a winning pitcher in recent seasons.

Allen, like Donohue, came to the Reds direct from college. He is a University of Cincinnati graduate, 26 years old and a .300 hitter. He joined the club late in 1926.

CARDS DROP HILL

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—(AP.)—Carmen Hill, veteran righthand pitcher, has been sent to the Minneapolis club, of the American Association, by the St. Louis Cardinals it was announced today. Hill is subject to recall on 24 hours' notice. Hill came to the Cardinals last fall from the Pittsburgh Pirates for the waiver price.

Christner Gets O. K. Of Dayton Comish

DAYTON, O., May 27.—(AP.)—The Dayton Boxing Commission last night lifted its suspension of K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, in order that Christner might go through with his scheduled bout against Primo Carnera in Detroit June 5.

Nick Altrock Says:

NEW YORK, May 27.—It is good to see old Babe Ruth slapping the agate as per usual. What a career the Babe has had. From rags to riches. No, its even better than that. He has gone from Red Sox to riches, and he looks worth all the dough they pay him even when he's striking out. You don't get hitters like the Babe any more. When they come up to the big league from the sandlots they bat like they still had the sand in their eyes and when Ruth slumps it doesn't mean anything because you can't be great all the time. Even Amos and Andy weren't so hot last night.

FANS FREEZE AS JONES BEATS FORGIONE

SMACKEY BOWS TO O'DELL IN SEMI-FINAL

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor

WITH ADMIRAL BYRD AT MEYERS BOWL, SOUTH POLE, May 27.—Gorilla Jones, Negro star, of Akron, O., defeated Vincent Forgione, some sort of an Eskimo or polar bear from Philadelphia, in a 10-round bout here last night. A chilled handful of spectators, arrived the long Antarctic winter night, no casualties being reported at the ringside or in the ring.

That's about the only way to write the story of last night's second fight show of the season at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, to provide the proper atmospheric. But, to go on with the yarn in a more prosaic style:

Chilly breezes put a real freeze on the bouts in the spacious arena, and, as a result, an even smaller crowd than that which saw Battling Battalino bob Vic Burrone in the same ring last Wednesday night turned out. The faithful who were there sat bundled in topcoats, hoping in vain for knockouts to speed the finish of the card, the while casting dirty looks at the concessionaire who insisted on yelling "Ice cold pop!"

JONES' CLASS WINS

The main bout wasn't so much. Jones had trouble getting warmed up and dropped the first two rounds by slight shades, as he permitted the rugged Forgione to do all of the leading with sweeping left hooks to the body and head. Then he opened up and, with a flicking left jab and a telling right to the head and body, took the play completely away from his opponent, winning every round until the tenth, when he again subsided and let Forgione cop the honors. In the fifth round he sent Forgione reeling back to the ropes with a left and followed with a series of rights to the head that had the Italian on the verge of a knockout, but the latter rallied and found his way out of danger and never was in such a spot again.

Forgione proved to be a tough, willing and game trial horse, but Jones had the speed and class and might have won by a wider margin if he had been so inclined and the weather had been more propitious. He seemed to use good judgment in saving his hands in the latter rounds after he learned that bouncing hard punches off his foe was like trying to knock over the Rock of Gibraltar and really tougher on the fists than on Forgione's jaw.

Jones weighed 156¼ pounds and Forgione 158¾. The decision for Jones was unanimous.

O'DELL BEATS SMACKEY

Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, met a fine boxer and puncher in Sammy O'Dell, Negro stablemate of Jones, in the eight-round semi-final, and, after being badly beaten in the first three rounds, was coming from behind with a splendid uphill battle and seemed headed for victory until O'Dell dropped him for the only knockdown of the fight with a right to the jaw for a count of six in the seventh round. Although Johnny again carried the fight to his opponent in the final round, he could not overcome O'Dell's lead. Smackey weighed 135½ pounds and O'Dell 137½.

Young Angelo, of Swissvale, 129¾, outboxed Billy Scholes, of the North Side, 133½, in the second six-rounder, a hard fight, and Al Iovino, of Swissvale, won from Don Frazier, Negro of the North Side, 128½, in the six-round opener. Frazier made a strong finish, but it came too late against his southpaw opponent, who put up one of the best battles of his professional career.

Al Grayber and Eddie Kennedy alternated as referees, with Joe Keally and Jock Simco sitting on ice cakes and blowing on their fingers to keep warm as judges. Tommy Grant and Chappy Couch were the timers. Ray Eberle the announcer and Dr. Coyle the commission physician.

SCOZZA WINS

LOSING FACTOR

This knockdown, in the seventh round, halted a great rally by Johnny Smackey against Sammy O'Dell, Akron Negro, in the semi-final at the Meyers Bowl last night and decided the issue in favor of O'Dell.

KNOCKDOWN

VINCENT FORGIONE GORILLA JONES

Close quarters action in the main bout at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, last night. A small crowd, due to the cold weather, sat chilled throughout the bouts. Jones handily won this one.

DALE BOASTS FINE RECORD

Jimmy Dale of Indianapolis, who meets Jackie Rodgers in the main bout at Hickey Park, Millvale, Thursday night, is unmarked after a career of some nine years in the ring during which he has boxed a number of the "big names" of his division.

Among the opponents of Dale have been Eddie Shea, Phil O'Dowd, Sailor Larsen, Hilly Levine, Frankie Tucker, Frankie Larabee, Lou Terry, Tait Langford and Pee Wee Kaiser.

Dale, who arrived here yesterday with his manager, Bert Shull, and worked out at the Homewood Progressive Club, began his career as an amateur at the age of 15. Then he joined the National Guard in Illinois and for six years held the featherweight championship of that organization. He has a fine record as a puncher, and also is a good boxer. This is his first trip East and he hopes to get past Rodgers and earn the right to box Archie Bell and other good ones. He is tall and rangy for a featherweight and bears a facial likeness to Howard Mayberry.

Rodgers is due back today from Willie Davies' training camp in the mountains near Everett, Pa., where he has been training for the Dale battle. His manager, Johnny Deutsch, replying to challenges on behalf of Peaches Gallagher and Battling Gizzy, said Rodgers will be glad to meet either of these opponents if promoters want to make the matches.

Davies is in the thick of training for his bout at the Meyers Bowl next Monday night with Black Bill. Johnny Warner, of Clairton, joined Willie's conditioning staff in camp Sunday.

Between Rounds

Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, is out with challenges directed at Battling Gizzy, Andy Andruzzi and Johnny Smackey.

F. H. Fowler, Jr., is in town to sign his Negro light-heavyweight star, Billy Jones, for a series of bouts at the Meyers Bowl this summer. Jones already is matched for bouts in New York, Buffalo and Wilkes-Barre during the hot months, but he is especially anxious to meet good opponents before his home folks.

Johnny Dunn, New Kensington feather weight, with his wife and baby daughter will spend Memorial Day with his parents in Wilkes-Barre. He has been training lightly to keep in trim for several matches he has in view, one of them with a top-notcher, likely Bud Taylor, at Erie.

Jackie Wilson, middleweight, and Jack DeNoyer, featherweight, stablemates of Dunn, both are back in training. Wilson was laid up with a bad hand, while DeNoyer has been ill.

Dave Shade hooks Ace Hudkins at Los Angeles tonight. Billy Angelo meets Nate Goldman in Philadelphia.

Jury Declares Billy Gibson Incompetent

SCOTT DEFENDS TITLE TODAY

The baseball championship of the W. P. I. A. L. will be at stake today as North Braddock, defending champion, meets McKees Rocks, in the finals of the annual league playoff series. The game will be played at Edgar Thomson Park, Braddock.

North Braddock, under the tutelage of Johnny Reed, won the title a year ago and marched through its sectional opposition and one playoff contest without suffering a defeat this season. McKees Rocks lost one game in its section, losing to Crafton.

The most interesting match of the full day of golf was waged between the rival captains. Miss Collett defeating Mlle. Thion de la Chaume two up, after a battle continuing to the home green.

The French captain, however, with Mme. A. M. Vagliano as her partner, defeated Miss Collett and Miss Bernice Wall in the foursomes, 2 up, the same score by which the singles match between the two champions later was decided.

Conditions were anything but satisfactory for the playing of sandlot baseball last evening, the thud of the pigskin would have been far more appropriate than the crack of the baseball. With a big schedule of good looking ball games confronting them a little consideration from the weather man would help the local sandlot teams no little.

The West Penn League, premier circuit of the district, hogs the limelight this evening. Three big games are up for disposal, and one of them, the Homewood at Dormont tilt, will break the deadlock at the top of the loop.

Neither club has been defeated as yet, but with Stauffer and Carroll ready for Dormont, and Steele with Semler ready for Homewood, the fans should see the game of the season. The game will be played at the Dormont High School grounds.

Wilmerding will meet North Bessemer at the Railroad town. This game should pack the fans in from around the tri-boro territory. Just over the hill, Universal will be in combat with Verona Community.

FINTEX FACES TEST

In the Central League, two games will be played. Allegheny Collegians, Tommy Carson's good looking club, will meet Fintex at Warrington Park. Fintex has struck a winning stride, copping five out of the last six games played. Snee or Leen will hurl for Carson. Beckman Motors will travel to Hartman Park to meet Lincoln Civics.

Three games will be played in the City League. Pop Geer will thaw his Stowe Civics at Jimmy Smiths to even up that Sunday defeat. St. Johns will travel to the Salt Works to meet the North Side Civics.

New players will appear in the Smilers' lineup against W. O. W. this evening at Wilson Field. Jacoby is back, and Bradley, a pitcher from Cumberland, will be seen with the club.

Wagner, from the Blue Ridge League, as outfielder, and Skinny Wright, a real veteran, will be in the infield. Joe Gruber will be catching. It will be a rejuvenated Smilers that will take the field.

The Commercial and Industrial circuit has one battle scheduled, the Dravo Contracting nine appearing at Burgwin Park to meet B. & O. The Railroaders, eager to keep in the race, will work hard to win the battle.

The Philadelphia Company League will stage one session. Equitable Gas will hook up with Duquesne Light at Mellon Field.

SHOEMEN WIN

Book Shoe maintained its lead in the City League last evening by defeating W. O. W., 11 to 10, in a slugfest. J. L. Thomas won over Pleasant Valley, 5 to 4, and the Jimmy Smiths defeated St. Johns, 5 to 4.

In the West Penn loop, Whitaker defeated the Homestead Aces, 7 to 5, and in the Greater Pittsburgh circuit Universal upset the Dan Heeps, 5 to 1.

He holds nine victories over them, two scored in 1927, four in 1928 and three last year . . . He held the slugging Negro outfit to one run in two of his three triumphs last year and in five of his nine victories he has finished with only a one-run margin on which to work . . . He has pitched 11 consecutive hitless innings against the Grays, finishing up the last five innings of one game by holding them at bay and going six innings of the next fray before they were able to break through for a safety . . . A little more than a week ago, he held the Universal club hitless in an eight-inning game . . . The Grays themselves are hot stuff this season . . . They started off with two victories on their training trip in the South and then played a tie in San Antonio, Tex. . . . Since then they have bowled along on a new winning streak that has totaled 32 games . . . Bill Corum, New York scribe, reports that the lively ball and dead ball both have taken a back seat for the new "gopher ball." You know, some go for doubles and some go for home runs.—HARRY KECK.

PARK COURSES NOT TO BE ABANDONED

COLD SPOILED SEEDING

"As for the South Park, it was mechanically completed last October 1. I believe you will find it one of the finest golf courses in the country. We seeded it in September, but, just when the grass was coming along fine—freezing weather, without snow, partially uprooted the turf, setting us back weeks. After the same thing occurred three times, the last coming after several weeks' rain, the roots of the grass were beyond rescue—but we got right to work this spring and reseeded the entire course, and it is coming along splendidly. The success or failure of the present seeding rests alone with the elements. If we get a break in the weather, our turf will be ready soon; if the weather goes bad, and we are delayed again, I can only say that I have no control over the weather.

We do not think anyone could have been more fair in explanation than Director Rus.

Yesterday's golf was topped by the professionals' day at the Shannopin Country Club. Charley Manning, home club pro, came through the chill and windy weather to post a 72, one over par to take the big money for the morning 18-hole medal play event.

In the afternoon pro-amateur competition, with Shannopin players competing with the pros as partners, the best ball of Nelson Zimmerman, of Wildwood, and J. M. Cutchlow, of the home club, took the bacon. It was a 71.

The Hotel, Club and Restaurant Men's Golf Association caverted the links at the Chartiers Heights Country Club, with some fairly decent scores being returned. In the evening, the players enjoyed a delightful dinner.

"YOU KNOW ME, PAL!"

PAL JACK—

Well I guess you seen by the papers that I got my first win yesterday. As I told you Ens has been saving me for the Cubs all along. Yesterday he called me in when the Cubs was leading 12 to 2. Riggs Stephenson was on first and one out in the seventh. As I was looking the situation over the boys begin to holler—So I made a quick throw to 1st but Riggs is standin' on 2nd laughing! I got a little excited and threw the next one into the stands. Stephenson scored and the Cubs is now leadin' us 13 to 2. As I says to Ens later it just took something like that to make me bear down on them. The next 2 go out—as I make them pop to Comerosky back by the flagpole and to Paul Waner in right who climbed up the concrete for the other! We finally won by scoring 15 runs in the last half of that inning. As we was ahead Ens let me off and I got credit for the game.

Your Pal,
ART.

MACKS DEFEAT SOX; ROBINS, REDS WIN

Associated Press.

While their highly-touted brethren falter and stumble the Washington Senators proceed blithely on their victorious way in the American League much as the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Robins dark horses both are doing in the National.

Picked in advance predictions to finish no higher than seventh the Senators under great leadership by Walter Johnson were leading the pack by four full games today and giving no signs of cracking under the amazing pace they have set.

Yesterday they scored their sixth successive victory and their fifteenth in 19 games, beating the New York Yankees 10 to 7. Stealing a leaf from the Yanks own book, the Senators won on home runs. Joe Judge and Goose Goslin hit successive home runs in the fourth and repeated the feat in the fifth, thus accounting for six runs.

Cleveland bounced back into third place with a double victory over the Chicago Whitesox, 7 to 3 and 5 to 2.

GROVE WINS SIXTH

The Detroit Tigers made good use of eight hits to beat St. Louis, 7 to 3, and moved into sixth place while the Browns fell back to seventh.

The Dodgers gave their metropolitan rivals the New York Giants their fifth straight defeat, 7 to 6, as Dazzy Vance turned in his best effort of the year. Vance gave the Giants only two hits one a scratch, and permitted only two men to get as far as second base.

CARDS BEAT BUCS

Despite Hack Wilson's thirteenth homer of the year with one on, Cincinnati beat the Cubs, 6 to 2. Jakie May gave the Cubs only six hits.

As I prepared to leave, Jim stood up, shook my hand warmly and said:

"Sharkey looks like an Irishman and fights like one," said the former champion. "Anyhow, he is a 100 per cent American and so will have my backing if he ever gets into a title scrap."

I have been moved often by some of the wishes for success I have received from members of the boxing fraternity.

LIKES PADDY MULLINS

I always shall remember my meeting with Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills, at the office of Humbert J. Fugazy the day after I had beaten the Black Panther. Mullins is one of the finest characters ever associated with the boxing game. For years he had trailed Dempsey with Wills in vain. As Fugazy prepared to give me my end of the purse for the Wills bout, Mullins came over to me.

"Boy," said Paddy with much feeling in his voice, "I liked the way you looked beating Wills. If Tunney will consent to meet you, I shall be back of your corner rooting for you to win the heavyweight championship. I don't think you can miss."

I always have felt very close to the boys in the boxing game. Perhaps it is because I would rather be a leader in the boxing game than anything else in the world. Their hopes have been my hopes, their sorrows my sorrows.

Since I was signed to meet Schmeling, I have been pleased at the advice and help I have received from members of the boxing fraternity.

Sweeney's nephew Charles was defeated 3 and 2 by H. M. Bray St. Andrews.

WILLING DEFEATED

Dr Willing found trouble on the greens. He missed several putts of from 5 to 10 feet, distances at which he usually is deadly. The wind and the sun had made the greens lightning fast and putts which were a little too strong rolled yards past the hole. Dr Willing played with his usual painstaking care and prep ration but couldn't pull the match out of the fire. The cards

Von Elm won his match by the consistency of his shots through the green. Both players found the stiff southwesterly breeze difficult and tee shots frequently found the gorse on the outgoing holes.

Hill halved the ninth by dropping a 15-foot putt for a birdie 3 and turned 2 down. Hill then won the tenth with another birdie 3 put Von Elm continued to play steady golf and settled the issue at the sixteenth. The cards

WIND BOTHERS MOE

Moe, like his fellow townsman, Dr Willing, was first puzzled and then dismayed by the wind sweeping across the St. Andrews fairways. He found trouble in controlling his iron shots and his putting was below his usual form. The cards

VOIGT IN FINE FORM

The non-participation of Bobby Jones, who plays C. Shankland, of England, tomorrow morning, took some of the punch out of the day's activities. But Voigt, after putting like a tyro, to be only 2 up on Stroyan at the turn, gave the British a thrill that Bobby's absence had denied them. Inexperienced as he was with English seaside gales, Voigt's mastery of the irons amazed his gallery and, once he got the feel of the greens, he quickly disposed of the Englishman by winning four of the last five holes. The cards:

tion in the sport. He was a disappointment at the plate a year ago, but he had the promise nevertheless.

Frisch and Bottomley, the remaining half of the infield, needs no introduction. The outfield is loaded with ball hawks who can sock the ball. Ernie Orsatti, who seemed to have the rightfield job clinched, suffered a broken leg some time ago and he still limps from the injury, but Street has a wealth of reserve strength in Fisher, Peel and Watkins.

WILSON FINE CATCHER

And one should not overlook the fact that Street has one of the greatest catchers in the game in Jimmy Wilson. Wilson this year appears to be in the form that made him stand out when he was with the Phillies and during the 1928 season with the Redbirds.

Jess Petty and Bill Sherdel were pitted against each other yesterday, but neither could go the route. Petty was shelled off the hill in the fourth while Sherdel departed after the fifth. Ralph Erickson and Percy Jones finished for the home team.

A former Pirate recruit hove on the scene to flag down the Buccos after they had chased Sherdel. Big Jim Lindsey, of the Texas League stepped to Fogarty Knoll in the sixth and from that point to the finish the home boys made no runs and just two hits.

CHAMP, PAYNE MATCHED

pers in these days of the lively ball, he does not hesitate to use the sacrifice and try for one run when his club is leading in the score.

This was shown yesterday, when the Redbirds piled up the unusual total of five sacrifice bunts. Sherdel made three of these, and Jim Lindsey, who supplanted him on the rubber, turned in another when the pitcher's fourth turn at bat came around. If Sherdel had remained in the game and made that fourth sacrifice bunt instead of Lindsey he would have equaled the major league record, which hasn't been done since the late Ray Chapman did it in 1919.

THE GIANTS LOST more than another ball game when Dazzy Vance shut them out with two hits yesterday for their fifth straight defeat and their eleventh in the last 13 games. Mel Ott pulled a tendon in his left leg and is out for an indefinite period.

The slump of the McGrawites during the last two weeks has been due largely to the loss of Travis Jackson, and with the services of Ott lost in addition the New Yorkers are in a plight that is apt to play havoc with their pennant chances.

THAT BOBBY JONES is making his fight for the British amateur championship, the only major golf title he has never won, with more clubs than any American amateur champion ever used, is disclosed in the Detroit News, by Harry Salsinger, who went to England with the Walker Cup team. Jones' golf bag contains 14 clubs—driver, brassies, big spoon, little spoon, driving mashie, No. 1 iron, No. 2 iron, No. 3 iron, mashie iron, No. 4 iron, mashie, spade, mashie niblick, niblick and putter.*

Bobby Jones

FROM 1907 TO 1915, Jerome Travers won the American amateur title four times and the open once with only eight clubs—a driver, brassie, driving iron, midiron, jigger, mashie, mashie nibleck and putter. Francis Ouimet added two sticks and carried 10 when he beat Harry Vardon and Ted Ray in the American open in 1913—three woods, a sammy iron (a well-lofted cleek), midiron, jigger, mushie, mashie niblick, niblick and putter.

Most of Jones' clubs have less loft than the so-called standard clubs bearing similar names and numbers. His driver has a straighter face than that used by any player of prominence except Bobby Cruickshank. His brassie has the same loft as a standard driver and his spoons, given to him by George Duncan, the British pro, several years ago, have only a shade more loft than the standard brassie. There, now, you know how Bobby does it. All you've got to do is step out and practice until you can use the clubs in the same way. It shouldn't take more than a hundred years or so.

McKeesport Tin Plate Shipments Show Gain In Four Months

The shipments of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company are reported to have shown a considerable improvement in the first four months of this year over those of 1929. In addition, the recent decline in tin prices is expected to increase the margin of profit, so that the 1929 showing of $8 a share should be substantially bettered, with estimates in responsible quarters ranging from $10 to $12 for the current year. Its present market valuation at $80 is only ten times its last year's results, and with the annual dividend return of $4 and extras for the common shares, there seems to be a sound basis for substantially high prices when the merit of the issue receives more attention in trading quarters.

It has been noticeable in recent days, that the so-called depression proof stocks have been acting better than the general run of issues. The prospects for higher price levels in the following members of the food group is regarded as above average. Gold Dust, General Foods, Proctor and Gamble, Hershey, Borden, National Dairy, Coca Cola, and National Biscuit.

Important utility interests in the Street are said to be eyeing the potential market possibilities for Pacific Gas and Electric. The stock has occupied a backward position in the general upturn of the utility group for a considerable time and the stability of its market price has suggested quiet accumulation. Based upon current market valuation of under $70, the ratio of market price to earnings is under the accepted average for this group, with present indications pointing to net approximating $4 per share. It has made consistent progress in the natural gas industry, from which important sources of income is expected to be realized within the next few years. The annual dividend of $2 per share, plus annual distribution of rights affords the investor with an attractive yield for a utility issue.

For some time past the management of Frank G. Shattuck has been following an extensive expansion program and it is understood that the aim is to make the chain one national in scope. Company now has numerous stores located in the more important eastern cities, which are all reported to be doing a satisfactory business. Marketwise, Shattuck is viewed with favor for the long pull by interests well informed on the plans of the company and the Street hears that a good sized block of the stock has recently been taken out of the market, further reducing the comparatively small floating supply.

No doubt a great amount of the uncertainty now prevalent in the financial centers of the country is due to the possible signing or vetoing of the tariff bill when it eventually reaches the hands of the President. It will be recalled that in the past when questions of this magnitude overhung the market, the uncertainty thus created was greater by far than the actual and final disposition of the question itself. When the tariff schedules are disposed of, business leaders will be in a much better position to make their plans for the future when they actually know what the regulations are to be.

Another new high on the move was established by General Motors in yesterday's trading. According to one of the lower Broadway brokerage houses, investment buying undoubtedly is being attracted to the issue by those looking for an outlet for investment funds in leading stocks offering a generous yield and where the dividend appears secure. General Motors is no longer a sole manufacturer of motor cars, having long ago diversified its lines and these new openings are proving substantial revenue producers.

North American Trust Growth Continues

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

INVESTMENT INTEREST in North American Trust Shares has been showing a steady increase since its organization early in 1929. Total sales of the certificates recently passed the $77,000,000 mark. It is the largest investment trust of the fixed type. Investment houses interested in its development expect sales of certificates to exceed $100,000,000 before the end of the present year.

The shares represent participating certificates in the ownership of common stocks in 28 outstanding railroads, oils, industrials and utilities. The stocks all have Moody's ratings of Aa or A with one exception which is rated Baa. The shares themselves have been given a rating of A.

Each share represents one two-thousandth participation in the ownership of a unit consisting of four shares of each of the 28 stocks. Additional units are assembled and deposited with a trustee as new certificates are sold. Each unit also has a cash reserve fund of $1.200 which is equivalent to 60 cents a share.

No Investment Substitutions

NORTH AMERICAN TRUST Shares should not be confused with the management type of investment trust. No changes can be made in the deposited stocks except in the case of a merger, reorganization or the sale of the property of one of the companies. To prevent the trust from being compelled to permanently hold an unsatisfactory investment, a stock may be sold and the proceeds distributed to the certificate holders if any of the companies has a lapse in dividend payments of 100 days.

The coupons bear certificates which entitle the holders to semi-annual disbursements of 30 cents a share on June 30 and December 31. In addition the holders receive an extra return on the same dates. The entire income of the units from cash dividends, split-ups, rights and stock dividends in each six months period is distributed in the regular an extra payment. The reserve fund has been provided to insure the continuance of the regular disbursements if the annual return should ever fall below the coupon rate.

Yield Attractive

LAST YEAR A TOTAL of $1.129 a share was distributed. Of this 33.86 cents was income from cash dividends and the balance represented profit from the sale of stock dividends, split-ups and rights. The investment in each company is kept at four shares per unit since all special distributions of this kind are sold. In the case of a split, all the shares in each unit except four are sold.

The holders of the certificates have the option of reinvesting in additional shares at the last bid price the proportion of their return not derived from cash dividends. The trust will be terminated on December 31, 1953, but the holders of the shares may liquidate their investment at any time. The owners of 500 shares may receive their equity directly in the underlying stocks. Smaller holdings may be converted into cash.

Price Based On Market

THE PRICE of the North American Trust Shares varies with the New York Stock Exchange quotations on the deposited stocks at odd lot prices and brokerage commissions plus a charge for issue and deposit of 18 cents a share and the proportionate amount of accumulated cash or other property held by the trustee. In addition 5 per cent is added for the cost of distribution and profit. Amortized over the period of the life of the trust this amounts to less than three-tenths of 1 per cent annually.

Why Certain Men Must Be Dropped for Good of All

By B. C. FORBES

MAKE GOOD—or make room.

That sounds harsh. But it is the law, the inexorable law of economics.

Is it, in reality, cruel or would any other law be unfair? Wouldn't any other law discriminate against merit? Wouldn't any other law entail favoritism? Wouldn't any other law tend to discourage effort?

And, finally, wouldn't any other law militate against progress, against the advancement of civilization?

THE MOST DISTASTEFUL duty that falls upon a large-hearted executive, one whose whole philosophy of life is good-will towards his fellow men, is to dismiss employes, especially employes having a long record of conscientious service but who have not proved able to keep abreast of the position.

How to handle men who have attained positions of responsibility but who have become misfits is a peculiarly delicate problem. Some men are themselves alive to the fact that they no longer measure up to changed conditions and are ready to give place to someone more capable, they themselves being content to be shifted to a less onerous job. More often, however, men who have advanced to moderately high or very high positions are so blind to their shortcomings that the slightest suggestion of demoting them sends them off the handle—and they stalk through the door and through the gate, their vanity outraged.

THE FUNDAMENTALS governing the removal of men who have ceased adequately to fill the bill were expressed tersely, yet comprehensively, to me by Andrew W. Robertson, who has made notable headway in building up Westinghouse Electric since his election as chairman, a year and a half ago. Thus:

"In a progressive organization, one constantly searching for new and better methods and for better results, it is inevitable that occasionally there is a man who absolutely fails to keep abreast of the procession. When this arises, action must be taken. Sentimentalism cannot be allowed to run wild. There is one guide, one unfailing test.

"It is profits.

"That may sound materialistic, but in reality it isn't. The only genuinely cheap things the world gets are those produced at a profit.

"Therefore, to do what appears to be a hard thing is sometimes inescapable. One must have the courage to do it in the interest of the whole community, in the general social interest. In the interest of the great public that uses your products. To do the right thing under such circumstances takes a happy combination of sympathy and coldbloodedness. Yet every executive must strive conscientiously to do the right thing by his stockholders, by the employes and by consumers. And you cannot do the right thing by maintaining drones in the beehive, by shielding round pegs in square holes."

UNDUE CONCEIT undermines the maximum usefulness of many an employe, especially in the higher ranks. Too many men become puffed up by an exaggerated sense of their own importance and by an exaggerated sense of the value of their services. Not a few reach that fatal stage of assuming cocksuredly that they have become indispensible.

Self-confidence is an invaluable asset. Conceit is a liability—carried far enough it becomes fatal. No man is so big that he can afford never to ask himself, coldly and candidly, how far he is falling short of the utmost possibilities of his position. Searching self-analysis can be extremely wholesome, particularly for the smug.

IF EVERY EMPLOYE were to keep prominently in mind the decree "make good—or make room," fewer occasions would arise for the wielding of the ax. Hesitate to convince yourself that you are a world-beater. And never—never—delude yourself that you are indispensible. No human is indispensible.

RETAIL TRADE IMPROVING

In the face of developments which indicate a generally slow state of business activity definite signs of approaching recovery are seen in the increasing level of retail trade, says the Union Trust Company, Cleveland.

Pointing to the reports of larger chain store and department store sales, the bank says this means that more people who are unemployed are getting back on the payroll. More dollars are finding their way to the store counters, and more stocks are being used up.

This resumption of public demand, according to bank, will inevitably sooner or later be reflected in increased manufacturing schedules and freight movements. Public purchasing power is the ultimate yardstick of business volume and current figures would seem to point to a steady return toward better business as the season advances.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 27.—A quiet demand for selected stocks, particularly a few utilities and oils, pushed the level of curb prices higher today. Trading was brisk during the early hours, but tapered off as the market turned into the afternoon.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Steel to Expand Pacific Coast Holdings

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—James A. Farrell, president of United States Steel Corporation, announced a Pacific coast expansion program including a general rounding out of holdings of Columbia Steel Company, acquired by United States Steel last November, and further development of other plants and properties in Utah.

Mr. Farrell said he was not prepared to state at this time to what extent the new developments will be carried out, but that a study is now being made.

WALL STREET HEARS

That several important investment trusts have been accumulating American Telephone since it has been traded ex-rights and that the company's earnings have shown normal expansion during the current quarter.

That United States Realty and Johns Manville have attracted better buying, as result of moderate improvement in building activity.

That price advances by Grigsby Grunow will not be followed immediately by other radio manufacturers.

That Worthington Pump will soon announce the closing of a large order for which it has been angling for some time.

That important traders are expecting the stock market to make gradual but uneven progress during the next few weeks, barring any unexpected bad news.

STOCKS, AFTER RISE, BECOME UNSETTLED

Market Unable to Ignore Unfavorable News From Roads, Implement Makers

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.) — Speculation for the rise was again pressed forward in today's stock market, undaunted by the moderate setback late yesterday, but the market was unable to ignore unfavorable news from the railways and the farm implement makers, and became unsettled as the session wore on.

Operators for the advance again concentrated their activity in the utility shares, capitalizing the favorable effects upon market sentiment of the announcement of another major natural gas project by Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line, and unconfirmable rumors that a new holding company will be formed to acquire substantial blocks of Niagara Hudson and Consolidated Gas, with a view to an eventual merger.

MAKE EARLY GAINS

Trading was accelerated somewhat during the early hours of the session, and a wide assortment of food shares, industrials and specialties joined the advance. Gains of 2 or 3 points were common. Unfavorable news developments, however, had a depressing influence on the rails and farm implements, and a bear drive in the later group unsettled speculative confidence.

The record made by the railways in April does not improve as the evidence continues to pour in. With 44 roads reporting, aggregate net operating income for the month shows a drop of 23 per cent from April of 1929. The first 14 reports indicated a decline of less than 27 per cent. Some of the more important trunk lines such as Pennsylvania, and Baltimore and Ohio, showed relatively better results than average. The decline in farm implement output is now reported as more drastic than normal for this period.

OIL OUTLOOK BETTER

Reports from the petroleum industry, however, were more favorable. Early estimates indicate a curtailment in crude production last week of more than 35,000 barrels daily, with California, where producers are now said to be hurrying to sign the new six-months curtailment agreement, accounting for about half of the drop. The management of Tidewater denied rumors of an impending merger with Continental, but the shares were strong.

Credit continued in increasing supply. Time money rates were shaded further, while call money held at 3 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates are now the lowest in more than five years. The condition statement of weekly reporting Federal Reserve member banks, however, showed a gain of $76,000,000 in loans on securities, while brokers' loans during the same period gained only $8,000,000. All other loans declined $76,000,000.

U. S. Steel and American Can showed moderate strength during the morning. Case and International Harvester were depressed substantially. Losses of a point or more were common in the rails. General Motors eased.

DAILY TRUE STORY

'A Swell Story'

"Sure," Riley agreed. nd then, "something will break. It always does."

As Abbott left to get on the job he was hoping that whatever broke would come throug' police headquarters. He was all set to turn in the needed "swell story."

But things at headquarters, Abbott found were as quiet as a checker game in a fire house. There was nothing on the blotter worth a paragraph, much less the front page.

Abbott left the reporters room to talk with Lieut. Kane about a recent bootlegger arrest. He knew well enough that there was no news value in the arrest of a bootlegger but he hoped there might be something back of it, hi-jacking and gun-fighting, perhaps.

"No," said Kane, "we wouldn't even have pinched him if it hadn't been for his slugging some innocent party he suspected of being a dry agent."

"Tough luck," Abbott growled.

One look at his face proclaimed that the man was in trouble.

Evidently he was because he grasped the edge of the desk and said:

"I'm giving myself up."

"Yes," said Kane, with a poker face. This sort of thing was common enough.

'Not Crazy Yet'

"You don't understand," and the man's voice became shrill with terror. "I'm giving myself up. I did it and—and—" he looked back of him, his pale face seemed more ashen with fear, "I'm afraid."

"Afraid of what? What have you done?"

Abbott was disappointed. He looked at Kane and tapped his head with his finger. Just a nut, he decided, nothing much there. But the man saw the movement. Perhaps he thought Abbott was a plain clothes man.

"I'm not crazy—I expect I will be, but I'm not crazy yet," he declared.

"No, of course not," said Kane in the customary soothing manner of handling nuts.

"All right, then lock me up, but not alone. I can't stand being alone—that smile—" The man shuddered.

"What have you done?" Kane asked, in the same tone he would have asked for a light.

"I killed my wife and a man."

"What's your name?"

"Philip Johnson. I shot both of them."

"Who was the man?"

"Harvey Stull."

Kane's eyebrows elevated just a trifle. It was the only sign of interest he gave, but Abbott was becoming excited at this.

"Stull, the actor?"

"Yes, actor, home-wrecker—I had to do it. I came home and found him with my wife."

"Where did you do it? Where's the gun?"

"I did it in my apartment, 68 — street, and when he smiled at me I dropped the gun and beat it. But I couldn't stand it, I had to give myself up—all I could see was his damned smile."

"When was this?"

"I don't know—I—let me see," and Johnson glanced up at the wall clock. "It couldn't have been much more than an hour ago. I suspected them—been suspecting them right along, so I quit my shop and went home."

Kane pressed a button.

"What shop?" he asked.

"Costume — theatrical costumes. Stull met Katie in my shop."

Scents Swell Story

An officer came in. "Send Bayne," he was ordered. The sergeant came in. "Get this," Kane said to him and told him briefly what Johnson had said.

Bayne prepared to take notes. Kane waited to send a couple of officers over to Johnson's apartment, as it was quite near.

"Yeah? Something?" Riley asked.

"Swell story—a guy bumped off his wife and her sweetie; on my way there for pictures. Party named Johnson."

Which proves that Abbott was somewhat new to the game, else he would have named Stull, the fairly well known actor, first.

Back of Kane's desk they had Johnson in a chair trying to get his story.

"Have I got to go back there?" Johnson asked, and then, "I couldn't stand it—I've been through too much shock—I got a weak heart."

"Weak heart, and you just murdered two people?" asked Kane.

"Yes—I had to—but it was Stull's smile—I shot him three times and he smiled before he closed his eyes—there was a smile on his face even then—and I beat it."

"Where did you get the gun?"

"I've had it for years—it's one of a lot I keep to go with some of my costumes—I kept it at home. Sometimes I take in quite a lot of money late at night—God, I guess I'm sorry now I kept it."

"Where was the gun?"

"I had it with me."

"I thought you said you kept it at home?"

Katie Shocked Him

"I used to, but when I suspected Katie and Stull, I started carrying it—I planned to just scare 'em and then soak Stull for big money—but I went sort of crazy when I found Katie in his arms and I let drive—I'm sorry now—I had no right—I was a damn sight worse than Katie—I always had plenty of little show Janes, but — when Katie—"

He shuddered again.

"Katie didn't smile, she dropped at the first shot, but Stull he smiled, like he was making fun of me, like he was trying to let me know he and Katie would be together in another world and I'd be alone—only I won't—I'll get the chair—glad of it."

"Anything else to say?"

"Don't lock me up alone—couldn't stand it—doc told me only a few days ago I had a bad pump."

"I'll keep a man with you for the present," Kane promised. Bayne, the sergeant-stenographer, was busy with his notes.

"I was a fool," Johnson muttered.

No one denied this.

"Katie was always good until I got silly over some of them worthless little Janes—then she seemed to get stuck on Stull. I thought I was wise—I thought she was just flirting to make me sore—then I found it was the real thing, she was crazy about him."

Someone slammed a heavy door. Johnson jumped.

Kane's lip curled a little. He was thinking that most murderers were like that—yellow. He wondered why he didn't get a report. His men would have the ambulance over—ought to be a phone call any minute.

Over at the Johnson apartment were a surprised lot of men.

There was no sign of murder. No one there. Nothing upset. Abbott was sore. He would have to report that it was just a nut gone a little more blooey than usual. Then he saw the gun on the floor, regulation army automatic.

"Wait!" he was ordered. An officer picked it up with his handkerchief and removed the clip. Four shots had been fired.

Note Found

"What the hell?" the officer muttered.

Then someone found the note—long enough to be a letter.

Riley of the city desk was fuming. Abbott should have reported. Photographers should have been sent on the jump soon as he had reached the place with the cops and got the address.

Finally Abbott came in.

"Heck," he said, "it wasn't a swell story at all. Sort of a joke a dame and her sweetie played on the poor sap husband. Read that."

He handed Riley a copy of the note. It read:

"Philip:—

"We are on the way to the coast, me and Harvey. I wouldn't have fell for him if you had been on the level with me.

"You sure handed us a laugh with your double murder stunt. What a sap you was to think I'd leave your gat around the place loaded.

"Harvey wised me up and got blanks for it. Once he played a little skit like this, so we planned for you to come and catch us. I was wise you had started carrying the gat.

"I let you hear me date Harvey for tonight. I knew you was listening when I 'phoned.

"Thought I'd die the way Harvey kept smiling at you and you shot him three times. I was watching you out of my eyelashes. How you looked—white and yellow.

"And you ruined my dress with powder burns, you darn idiot.

"Kitty."

A tip was phoned in just then. When they showed Johnson the letter he collapsed and died a few minutes later, weak heart.

Pending Tariff Bill Should Be Devoid of Grundyism

By their decisive defeat of his candidacy for nomination as their Senator in Congress the people of Pennsylvania have eliminated Grundy from their own and the public service of the nation.

They have repudiated the man and his methods with a rebuke so emphatic that there is no mistaking its meaning.

Let us hope that Grundyism will now be eliminated from both Houses of Congress and that the unsavory tariff bill—the Grundy tariff for extortion—will be purged by the Congress of its most flagrant features.

Let us hope that the Congress will heed the warning from Pennsylvania, an industrial state, and so revise the tariff that it will conform with the declared purposes and campaign pledges of President Hoover and his party.

Their pledge was a limited revision of the tariff, an honest and scientific revision of the tariff for the purpose of giving to agriculture the same measure of fair protection enjoyed by industry under the existing tariff.

The Grundy tariff bill grossly violates the spirit and letter of that pledge, threatens to halt the return of prosperity at home, and is already demoralizing the foreign commerce of this country the world around.

The Grundy tariff bill would increase the cost of the essentials of life for every family in the land.

It is estimated that the increased duty on sugar alone for which this indefensible bill provides would cost American families nearly $300,000,000 a year.

There are 845 rate increases in the Grundy bill and every one of them would increase the cost of living for the mass of the people.

The Grundy bill has been denounced in every part of the country because of its threat to returning prosperity.

The Grundy bill has been denounced in every part of the world because of its threat to trade between America and the world.

Thirty-three foreign nations trading with the United States are already preparing to retaliate against the excessively high schedules of the Grundy bill.

This robber tariff defies every sound principle of tariff making, it constitutes an embargo by our country against the products of foreign countries, and invites embargoes by foreign countries against our own products.

Our own trade and our own production and employment throughout this country will be diminished should the Grundy bill become a law.

The Hearst newspapers opposed the senatorial candidacy of Mr. Grundy, who was defeated, and supported the senatorial candidacy of Mr. Davis and the gubernatorial candidacy of Mr. Pinchot, BOTH OF WHOM WERE NOMINATED.

The Hearst newspapers supported both of these gentlemen because their policies were in accord with the policies of the Hearst newspapers, as the following telegrams show:

Philadelphia, May 23, 1930.

William Randolph Hearst,
Care Los Angeles Examiner, Los Angeles, Calif.

The help given in this campaign by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph had a very important influence upon the result for which I am deeply grateful. It is fair to say the people of the state have never been so much awake to the public utility issue as now. I think we are going to be able to do something.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22, 1930.

Hon. William Randolph Hearst,
Los Angeles Examiner, Los Angeles, Calif.

My sincere appreciation for the support given me by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. It was of great value to me in my campaign. I have already conveyed my thanks to Mr. Bitner, your able representative in Pittsburgh. Warmest personal regards.

JAMES J. DAVIS.

The Hearst newspapers are flattered to think that the majority of the citizens of Pennsylvania, and, in fact of the voters everywhere, seem to be in accord with the policies of the Hearst newspapers, or rather THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS SEEM TO BE INTELLIGENT INTERPRETERS OF PUBLIC OPINION.

And that is a situation which United States Senators who have not yet been defeated would do well to bear in mind.

Anti-Blue Law Ballots Pointer for Legislators

The Sun-Telegraph post-card vote, cast only by registered voters of the city, continues to show heavily for repeal of the Blue Law as against enforcement or modification. The number voting for repeal is far in excess of the voters who support modification and enforcement combined. Repeal and modification voters combined, compared to the number voting for the law, show sentiment for support of it, as written in 1794, is negligible. The percentages of strength vary fractionally from day to day, but as the total vote has passed 25,000, it is fairly certain that the present ratio will be maintained.

Similar results have been obtained in a poll of voters conducted by the Philadelphia Record in that city. There seems to be no doubt that, while enforcement sentiment might be slightly stronger in the state at large than it is in the two larger cities, an impressive majority of the people of the state favor doing away with the old law. It is reasonable to assume that in all cities of the state the sentiment would be about the same as in the two larger cities, one in the eastern part and the other in the western.

It is admitted that the rural districts are more strongly in support of the Blue Law than the cities, but even there we know there are many who are opposed to the law. If all there were for enforcement, which, of course is not possible, the effect could not counterbalance the urban sentiment, estimated on the completed Philadelphia vote and the half completed Pittsburgh vote. Population of the state in 1920 was 64.3 per cent urban; 35.7 per cent rural. The local ballot, by the way, is to be extended to include all of Allegheny County.

The result, even now, appears to us to be sufficiently significant to warrant anti-Blue Law supporters reminding legislators for whom they intend to vote that they want the law done away with or amended to permit unobjectionable recreation and amusement.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

New Shoes for Old

We have become accustomed to eating pre-digested breakfast foods, voting in fixed elections and allowing intricate machinery to perform our simple jobs.

"Bugs" Baer

We travel along routes that have been dished up in advance by steamship agencies and we tag every base like Babe Ruth smacking a homer.

Everything we do is blueprinted in advance. So it's no surprise to learn that a factory has taken over the job of breaking in our new shoes.

The usual way to bust in a set of new dogs was to put them on and crawl around in low gear.

The shoes squeaked, you groaned and your bunions gradually adjusted themselves to the new stream-line arrangement.

If you were fortunate and had a brother-in-law who wasn't working you could farm out the job to him.

You would ask him to break in the sparkling patent leathers for the first week.

The shoes walk up and down for a month in one spot. This eases up your Oxford graduates and makes them ready for the corn department.

It's a good idea if it works. But it looks as if you have bought a pair of No. 10 used cars.

The next thing will be a penny slot machine that will chew your gum, collars with oversize button holes and toe-proof sox.

The only trouble with the business is how do the machines know which way you walk? They're liable to trot you up the wrong street.

Suppose that the first pair we haggle for have been busted in by a knock-kneed machine? The world knows that we are as bow-legged as a croquet wicket.

Until the warm weather arrives we'll stick to our winter galoshes.

THE REIGN OF SCIENCE

By Archibald Henderson

The problem of science is to determine the cause of the behavior of phenomena. The discovery of the cause usually results in the formulation of a law. This may be a mechanical, physical, chemical or mathematical law, as the case may be. But once the law has been correctly determined we can accurately predict the behavior of the phenomena in question. This is exceedingly important in the domain of astronomy. The laws which have been discovered dictate and rigidly control the behavior of celestial bodies, their volume, masses, densities, radiations and orbits.

For instance, there is a relation between the sizes and densities of stars, which is a physical law of great significance. The relationship is an inverse one—the greater the size the lower the density, and conversely.

Consider, for example, our sun, which has a diameter somewhat less than 900,000 miles. Its mean density is high, being 1.4 times that of water. Consider, on the other hand, a huge star like Antares, the brightest star in the constellation of the Scorpion. The diameter of this giant star is about 250,000,000 miles. But its mean density is less than one-millionth of water.

The heaviest elements we have on the earth, such as platinum, are only about 22 times as heavy as water. But there are stars no larger than the planets in our solar system which have densities ranging up to many thousand times that of water. This is vastly beyond the density of anything yet discovered upon our own earth.

The explanation for these very high densities in the stars is given by the new theories of Einstein and Bohr. As the outer electrons have been stripped away from the atoms in the interior of a star, which is at an excessively high temperature, the atoms can be packed much more closely together and the material of the star, in consequence, becomes correspondingly dense.

Consider the example of the companion of Sirius. Its mass is nearly equal to that of the sun and about two-fifths that of Sirius itself. For long it was thought that the companion of Sirius was at a very low temperature, because it has such a low luminosity in proportion to its mass. But the principles of generalized relativity formulated by Einstein have entirely upset this notion.

The spectral displacement is now known to depend upon the mass of a star and to vary inversely as its radius. The investigations conducted by Adams at Mount Wilson, indicate for the companion of Sirius a radius of about one-thirtieth that of the sun, but a density 36,000 times as great. This would make the density of the companion of Sirius about 50,000 times the density of water.

The extraordinary results of the above-mentioned laws clearly show that things are as they are because the laws require them to be so. They could not be otherwise. Eddington has given the results according to these new physical laws, of the possible existence of a globe the size of Betelgeuse and mean density 1.4 times that of water. The actual diameter of Betelgeuse is 200,000,000 miles, but its density is only about one-millionth that of water. Here are Eddington's conclusions:

First, owing to the great intensity of its gravitation, light would be unable to escape, and any rays shot out would fall back again to the star by their own weight.

Second, the relativistic displacement would be so great that the spectrum would be shifted out of existence.

Third, mass produces a curvature of space, and in this curve the curvature would be so great that space would close up round the star, leaving us outside—that is to say, nowhere.

By Elsie Robinson

One upon a time we all had Best Dresses. Maybe the dress didn't cost very much. Perhaps it was only a flowered muslin with a cheap lace frill at the neck. Nevertheless it was a Best Dress and we had special feeling about it and kept it for very particular wear—like Last Day at school, or the Sunday School picnic, or the party at Jean Stewart's.

Great occasions like these didn't happen very often. Life was a quiet affair. Though it's only a handful of yesterdays ago, there were no movies, no automobiles, no silk underwear, no Confession Magazines—no roaring, glittering parade of Power and Splendor whirling constantly before your eyes. Only the quiet, village streets, with the cows plodding out to pasture through the gleaming dust at dawn—and the leaf fires twinkling at dusk—and all of us youngsters playing "hide 'n' seek" through the sharp, sweet smoke.

Quiet—like that. So, naturally parties and picnics were great events indeed. Everything seemed dizzy and shiny for days when a party was going to happen. And there was no make-believe about our excitement. We didn't have to work up pep or get a tricky "line." Our whoopee was real whoopee which crashed clear through us, from cowlick to toenails.

Looking back at those days I feel sorry for Twentieth century youngsters. It's pitifully plain that they don't get the bang out of life that we did and the reason's obvious enough—THEY HAVE NO 'BEST DRESSES. Nothing's BEST in their overcrowded, overcolored, overstimulated lives. There's no CONTRAST.

You can't have real adventure, or real delight, or real curiosity, or real excitement without contrast. Reactions dull and lessen with repetition. Our cheap Best Dresses—our simple parties which meant only an evening of charades and a dish of ice cream—held all the thrill of Broadway because they were SPECIAL. But there's nothing special now. Everything has a deadly, monotonous spectacularity. Thirteen-year-old girls wallow in every human passion nightly, via the movies. Wear modernistic jewelry and chiffon dresses to grammar school. Make-up like the demimonde before they're sixteen. And are burnt out before they're twenty.

I am convinced that life is fuller than it has ever been before in human history—and DULLER. It is duller because our overstimulated nerve-centers soon refuse to react.

Our batteries are used up before we're fairly started. If you don't believe it, look at the Dim Bulbs with whom you circulate.

I know a very wealthy couple who have a little girl of 15. Somebody should hang medals on that father and mother. In spite of all our modern Razzaboo, they have maintained the simplest program for their daughter. Plain clothes, white cotton underwear, no jewelry, no perfumes, no late hours, no makeup, no boy Friends, few parties and those few at home. The youngster, of course, has staged many lively rebellions against this regime. But some day she will thank her father and mother. For, at 20, life will still wear a Best Dress for her—and the shine won't be gone from the earth or her soul.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There was a young fellow that got a job in charge of a small power station in California. He was just out of engineering school, and he didn't want nothing to interfere with his career. So he asked the district superintendent what had caused the last guy at that station to lose his job.

"Why, a man was killed by the high tension line there," says the superintendent. "I reckon it really wasn't the fault of the guy in charge of the station, but he lost his job anyhow. Be sure you warn people away from them cables."

So the new guy in charge put up a sign that said:

Danger! These wires kill instantly!
If you touch one you're dead!
And Besides
You will be Jailed for Trespass
And I, John Hardy,
Will Beat You Up Terrible!

Symbols

In the garden I find symbols
Of the powers men possess:
There the oak-tree stands for vigor,
And the vine for tenderness.
Roses glow with pride of beauty,
Violets are love alone,
And in radiance of lilies

There is yet another garden,
And the lives that flourish there
Are the flowers gladly blooming
In the Gardener's gentle care;
Are bright flowers, faintly showing
Something of the Gardener's grace,
Something of His strength and goodness
In this world vast garden-place.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

When the size of parent and offspring is markedly unequal we speak of budding. This is rare in single-celled types, but is the commonest form of sexless reproduction in many-celled plants and animals.

Its adoption confers the advantage of leaving the original individual fully formed and active all the time, dispensing with any need for reorganization, by putting all the excess material of growth direct into rapidly developing buds, which can be thrown off when they are fit to look after themselves.

H. G. Wells

Budding is widespread among sea-anemones, jelly-fish, sea-squirts and a number of other invertebrate.

Even when sexless reproduction has been abandoned by the adult, as in all the higher animals, it may persist unsuspected in early stages of life.

Generally, every fertilized egg means a new individual, and if two or more individuals appear at a birth, then two or more eggs were fertilized.

The triplets, quartets, quintets and so forth of cats or rabbits, arise from groups of separate eggs, three, four, five or so on in number. But there are exceptions. In the Texas armadillo, whose bony carapaces are so often made into baskets to tempt the tourist, four young are always born at a birth, and they are peculiar in sharing a common set of embryonic membranes.

These quadruplets are produced by the early division into four parts of a single fertilized egg. Similarly all the cases of human identical twins, or twins which are so closely alike as to cause confusion, are due to the splitting of a single embryo at a very early stage.

This splitting is, in a perfectly legitimate sense, sexless reproduction. In some parasitic insects this budding of the ovum occurs on a grander scale. Only one egg is laid in the destined victim of the parasite.

This divides not into two or four, but into hundreds of cell-masses, from each one of which a whole insect eventually grows.

A very peculiar form of sexless reproduction is found in many sponges. Sponges possess large numbers of wandering cells, not unlike our own white blood corpuscles.

A number of these collect together in one spot, much as our white corpuscles collect where there is inflammation. However, their function is not defense against intruders, but reproduction, and they have previously accumulated food-stores within themselves.

They pack themselves close, and are then sealed up by other cells in a protective case. In a single sponge there may be a multitude of these agglomerations.

When the parent sponge dies down under stress of bad weather or other discouraging conditions these gemmules, as they are called, fall to the bottom; when conditions are favorable again they burst their case and develop into new sponges.

The interesting fact about these gemmules is that they do not originate at a single center of development, but are built out of scattered cells which come together from different parts of the body.

Plants, from the lowest to the highest, possess the most varied methods of sexless reproduction. Ferns and fungi, mosses and seaweeds detach myriads of single cells or spores, each capable of growing directly into a new plant.

The thread-algae and most fungi, through the major part of their life history, consist of a feltwork of filaments, any bit of which may become detached and continue the race.

So with many flowering plants which have creeping underground stems: they send up shoots at intervals, and any one of these, if detached from the rest, can lay claim to be a newly reproduced plant.

The strawberry grows new plants at the end of its runners; poplars and many other trees send out suckers from their roots, each of which can grow into a whole new tree.

The banyan tree lets fall new shoots from its branches, each of which, on touching the ground, takes root and becomes a new stem, so that a many-trunked tree, a grove in itself, is produced.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 27.—Broadway's metamorphism into a lane of racketeering ballyhoo shops continues. A dozen jewelry auction sales, running day and night, are always crowded, and few leave without purchases. Wise ones buy the "bait" used to stimulate the sales of the shoddy stuff.

Any number of shops from one year's end to the other hold fire, bankrupt and must-close-building-is-coming-down sales. Some have outside men—pullers-in—who, if you hesitate before windows tag your heels and try to jockey you inside. Big movie palaces have megaphonists shouting for customers.

In Times Square a huge window displays an assortment of ore and minerals and inside a gentleman with a wistful wisp of beard and a boutonniered frock coat talks engagingly of "the opportunities for sudden and amazing wealth" for those who invest in $2 shares of his literature.

A few blocks northward another banner screams: "The Bible is a Fake!" Inside a watery-eyed gentleman sells tracts in effort to prove his assertion. The Matrimonial News has its biggest sale at a stand a few steps from Forty-second street and Broadway—a stand th. sells copies of the Venus de Milo as "dirty postcards."

On one of the prominent Seventh avenue corners in the 40's a large room is given over to "Lectures—For Men Only." Every hour a gentleman with a forensic flair for sex topics discusses what everybody knows in mysterious whispers. His spiel is free, but $2 medical volumes are peddled.

There is an upstairs salon near the Palace Theater "For Women Only." A starry-eyed enchantress, robed and sandaled, gives afternoon talks on how to attract and hold men. Her circular letter declares: "You can keep your husband from the other woman. Don't be a cast-off wife!"

Thus do profits from polite racketeering reach an enormous total daily—the same rackets that are no longer permitted at county fairs in the tall grass. Diamond Jim Brady long ago said: "Broadway is at once the wisest and most gullible street in the world."

A gentleman who left his coupe near a hotel to attend a rather wet banquet arrived home at 4 a. m., driving a coast-to-coast bus. The authenticity for the yarn, incidentally, comes from the gentleman's wife, a truthful lady.

* * *

Somebody telegraphs to know where they can find an old-fashioned lanthorn, such as used to illuminate Broadway long ago. And I'm so girlish and inexperienced I had to look up lanthorn—an obsolete word for lantern.

* * *

Broadway's clear white dazzle is doubtless a great contrast from the lanthorn—I'll ride that one raggedy—lit muddy thoroughfares with croaking frogs of yesterday. Yet to my notion its glare is overexploited. The most romantically beautiful streets are those with the soft blue gas glow found only in Paris.

* * *

Ten days after Broadway became gas lit the town was again bedazzled by news of the opening of the Astor House—the present site of the Woolworth Tower. The New York Gazette righteously squawked: "The new inn proposes to charge a dollar a day for one person's room and three meals. It may be patronized for a time by the rich seeking a sensation, but it must lower its tariff to endure."

A Brooklyn columnist is to quit coldmning to operate a garbage plant—thereby reversing the usual process.

I have counted 10 men who lost important jobs recently and were whispered as "through" but have gone to far bigger and more important jobs. And that tickles me a rosy pink.

A speakeasy proprietor inspired by the New Yorker's "Mr. Noolas" has painted on his window "Reeb and Rab—Importations." Reeb and Rab backwards is the giveaway.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Why are you willing to be a floater all your life? Don't you want some standing in your community? Don't you want to impress people with the fact that you have come to stay and want to take up your duties as one with the community in which you live?

You want to be a good householder and a loyal citizen.

Then own your own home, if possible, and see what a difference it will make with you and your family if you have one. It need not be a large home. But establish yourself on a plot of earth in the community where you think you can make a living and see if it won't help you to become a respected and responsible citizen.

A tiny house, clean and neat, grounds mowed and free from weeds, a few vines, flowers, fruit trees or perhaps a small garden makes a householder.

As such you will have a standing in your section.

To earn a living in a town and never assume any responsibility of ownership does not gain for you the respect you would like to have.
